MEANS TELLS OF G. O. P. PLAN TO PAY OFF DEBT IN LIQUOR PERMITS

Testifies Jesse Smith Gave Him Documents Showing Alleged Agreement With Mellon to Erase Deficit.

TREASURER UPHAM ALSO MENTIONED

Says Daugherty Hoped to Force Transfer of Whisky Business Into His Own Department.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Gaston B. Means told the Senate Daugherty committee today that he received from Jesse W. Smith in 1922 certain documents purporting to show that Secretary Mellon agreed to issue a batch of whisky withdrawal permits in return for money, which was to go toward payment of the deficit of the Republican National Committee.

The alleged arrangement, the witness said, was with a man named Rex Sheldon, who was to receive the permits and pay over the money. He added that according to the story, Senator Bursum of New Mexico and Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the Republican National Committee, went to Mellon's office in regard to the matter.

Later, he said, Senator Bursum denied that he had any part in such a plan, and said he had sent Sheldon to the Treasury secretary "just as he would send any other caller" and without knowing his purpose.

Tells of Alleged Confession.

Secretary Mellon, Means asserted, himself told H. L. Scaife, a former Justice Department man, about the arrangement in September, 1922. Afterward, the witness went on, he got a confession from a man named Stevens, a bookkeeper for the La Montagnes in New York, "involving Mr. Upham and the whole whisky ring."

Had the La Montagne brothers stood trial when they were caught in New York, instead of pleading guilty, the witness declared, the whole story would have come out, involving both the Republican and Democratic administrations.

"How did Stevens involve Upham?" persisted Wheeler.

"He tells the whole thing," Means said. "How they supplied wines and whiskies—the transactions, and the exact method. The La Montagnes were very sore—they thought they were working under proper protection, that the case would not be pushed. But when I got this confession from Stevens, I slipped a copy to a World reporter, so that it would force the District Attorney to prosecute. I was instructed to do that."

"You were working then for Jess Smith?" Wheeler suggested. "Yes."

Says Sheldon Fled to Europe.

"Was Rex Sheldon indicted?"

"I understand he has been since this investigation started and that he jumped to Europe. Somebody told me he'd come back."

"Do you know Sheldon was working for the Republican National Committee?"

"I don't—he was to handle the money, sell the permits. Sheldon was to get the permits and charge people who wanted to withdraw whisky $28 or $30 a case—exactly how much, I don5t know. He was to pay this to the Republican National Committee. Fred Upham was down there with him. That is the statement Secretary Mellon made to Capt. Scaife, and afterward denied."

Smith Furnished Money.

The money for this investigation, Means said, was furnished him by Jess Smith, who in turn was making the inquiry at the request of President Harding. Smith's immediate objective, however, the witness declared, was to discredit Mellon and get control of the whisky permit system himself.

"Our constant drive was to attack the Treasury Department to force the whisky business into the Department of Justice," said Means. "Jesse Smith told me that when Mellon first came to the Cabinet he had no influence with Harding, but that as time went on, he had grown up to an equal footing with Attorney-General Daugherty. That was the root of the jealousy and the antagonism."

The Guckenheim case, Means said, led him "to the big bootleggers in New York.' He declared the "real bootleggers" were the big

TITLED BOOTLEGGER ASSERTS HE IS NOT A DISGRACEFUL BLOT

Sir Broderick Hartwell Alleges a Demand for Spirits Actually Exists in America.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 29.—Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Brodrick Hartwell is aggrieved at Prime Minister MacDonald's reference in the House of Commons yesterday to his activities as "a disgraceful blot," according to the Evening Standard, which quotes him in an interview today as saying "I feel hurt at being referred to as if I were a bootlegger or a smuggler."

"I issue an invitation to the public," Sir Brodrick said, 'to contribute capital for the purchase of wines and spirits for export to a rendezvous 20 miles off the United States coast. If the citizens of the United States have such methods as will enable them to get the stuff in wherever they can with impunity, it has nothing to do with me."

The interviewer found the baronet a keen-featured matter of fact person, stylishly dressed and in tastefully furnished offices.

Sir Brodrick declared that the American demand for spirits actually existed and that many countries were competing for the trade.

"What I am doing is a flea bite," he declared. "Why should I be referred to as a disgraceful blot for trying to meet this demand by a straight trading proposition?"

Discussion on the rum-running question was resumed today in the House of Commons, several members urging measures against continuance of the rum traffic. Lady Astor asked:

"Is it not an international scandal of a grave character?"

MACDONALD HINTS AT APPEAL TO COUNTRY IF BEATEN IN TEST

Indicates General Election Would Follow Commons Defeat on Unemployment Policy.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 29.—Prime Minister MacDonald, in a speech in the House of Commons today, indicated that, if his Government should be defeated tonight on a test vote, it would go before the country in a general election.

A motion to reduce the salary of Minister of Labor Shaw has been made a test vote of approval of the Government's policy toward relieving unemployment.

Former Premier Asquith, the Liberal leader, announced tonight that the Liberals would not vote against the Government. This stand indicates that the labor Government will not be defeated tonight.

CURB MARKET SHUNS BETTING

Members Are Urged Not to Handle Election Wagers.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The New York Curb Market has joined with the Stock Exchange in "discouraging election betting. The curb members indorsed a resolution which said members accepting election bets or acting as betting commissioners were to be considered as acting in detriment to the curb market.

The Stock Exchange prohibited its members from holding bets about three weeks ago. One of the two firms that have made most of the bets will cease, according to its officers, thus leaving but one house not connected with either the Stock Exchange or Curb Market to handle wagers on elections.

MEN SOUGHT AS ACCOMPLICES OF GIRL BANK ROBBER

Norma Anderson Said to Have Implicated Relatives in Daring Holdup at Farmington, Ill.

WERE TO HAVE MET HER AT HANNA CITY

Plans Failed When She Was Closely Pursued, Captured and $1163 of Loot Recovered.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

FARMINGTON, Ill., May 29.—While Norma Anderson, 16-year-old bobbed-hair bandit, remains in jail at Lewistown, unconcerned about bail, search is being made for two men, relatives, who are believed from admissions she has made, to have been implicated in the girl's holdup of the bank of A. C. Steenburg & Co. Tuesday afternoon.

These men, and possibly a third, it is understood, were to have picked her up at Hanna City, 10 miles from here, but either because she was too closely pursued or through other disarrangement of plans, they failed to do so, and she was promptly captured and all but $5 of the $1168 loot recovered.

The boldness of the robbery and the first stage of the get-away were matched only by the girl's rashness and foolishness in employing for the occasion David Settles, a taxi driver who knew her well and through whom, even if she had escaped, her capture would have been certain. As it was, she was in custody within 15 minutes after she left his car.

Father Miner and Farmer.

The girl, full-figured and strong and looking much older than the years her father, Levi Anderson, credits her with, lives with the family on the small fruit farm two miles south of here which her father works when the mines are idle.

The family, except for her and her 2-year-old child, Betty, went to Norris Tuesday to see relatives. Norma was to mix the bread while her mother was away. But when they had gone she called up Settles, who is the son of Chief of Police Wesley Settles, and told him she wanted to be brought into town and then taken to Hanna City.

Settles was painting his father's house but he dropped that and went after her. She brought the baby and a bundle along and carried a revolver and an automatic pistol, the former in a holster under her coat and the latter in her oat pocket.

Took Baby With Her.

On the way in she tied a handkerchief around her neck which, with the boy's cap that she wore, made her look like a "bad girl" of the movies. There was a certain incongruity, in view of her makeup, in her instruction to Settles to stop at the beauty shop around the corner from the Steenburg bank, but he stopped there and she climbed out and asked him to look after the baby for a few minutes, but Settles had heard of babies being abandoned that way and he demurred.

The girl said, "Oh, all right," and took the baby along. Betty was fretful and as her mother paused at the bank entrance to slip the handkerchief up over her face the child began to cry.

It was the crying child who attracted the attention of A. C. Steenburg, president of the bank, as he worked at his desk behind a railing near the door. He glanced up and saw the girl pushing the child through the door. The revolver she held in her hand was pointed over the child's head at Steenburg. Only her eyes showed above her handkerchief mask.

"Give me the money," she commanded.

Nervous During the Holdup.

Steenburg was all affability. Certainly she should have the money and the bank staff was at her service and would wait on her as soon as possible, but would she please not get excited and not be careless with that revolver, for he saw that her hand trembled and feared that she would do some inadvertent shooting.

His hands were up, as were those of his nephew, Clyde Steenburg, C. W. Bolten and Miss Agnes Robb, bank employes. She thrust a bag through the cashier's window and ordered Clyde Steenburg to fill it and be quick about it.

It happened that he had a good many $1 bills on the counter in front of him. He dumped these into the bag and they bulked big. It was a well-filled bag that he

SUES, AS ADOPTED DAUGHTER, TO SET ASIDE RUF'S WILL

Mrs. Willard B. Shelp Jr., Seeks Share in $2,000,000 Estate of Medicine Manufacturer.

OMISSION LAID TO HER MARRIAGE

Plaintiff's Lawyer Says Millionaire Wanted Wife's Niece to Wed Man Other Than Shelp.

Objections of Frank A. Ruf, millionaire chemical manufacturer, to the marriage of his wife's niece, Miss Alpha Hatch, to Willard B. Shelp Jr., caused him to omit Mrs. Shelp from his will, according to a statement made today by L. Frank Ottofy, one of the attorneys representing Mrs. Shelp in her suit to break Ruf's will. Ruf died a year ago, leaving an estate inventoried at $2,193,436.

The marriage, which took place Feb. 3, 1920, was opposed by Ruf, Ottofy said today, not because of any personal objection to Shelp, but because Ruf wished the young woman to marry another man.

W. Frank Carter, attorney for Mrs. Ruf, said today that Miss Hatch's marriage took place at a time and place unknown to Mr. and Mrs. Ruf, or to her mother, Mrs. Albert H. Adams, who is Mrs. Ruf's sister. Published notices of the marriage stated that it took place at the home of Mrs. F. C. Riddle, 5878 Cabanne avenue. The Ruf home was at 5863 Cabanne.

Says Mother Signed Paper.

Carter said that Mrs. Adams, on learning recently that her daughter intended to file a claim against the Ruf estate, signed a paper stating that the daughter was never adopted by the Rufs, and that she never heard any such suggestion or intimation until after Ruf's death. Charles H. Hatch, Mrs. Shelp's brother, attested the mother's signed statement, Carter said. The lawyer said that Alpha Hatch lived at different times in the Ruf home but was never known by the name of Ruf.

Mrs. Shelp, in her suit, does not allege that there was any legal act of adoption, but says she lived in the Ruf home for 11 years, having gone there at an early age, "with the consent of her only surviving natural parent," and that she was "treated and held out by them as their daughter, and encouraged to believe and given to understand that she was taken into their home as a daughter"; also that she "performed the services and gave the companionship and atttention of a daughter, whereby she became invested with the status of, and is, the adopted daughter of Frank A. Ruf."

No mention of Mrs. Shelp appears in Ruf's will, which provides that Mrs. Ruf shall receive the income from the estate during her life, and that after her death the estate shall be divided among 10 charitable institutions, the largest beneficiary being the St. Louis Children's Hospital. It is to receive the residue of the estate, after $10,000 each has been paid to the nine other institutions.

Bequests to Relatives.

Bequests of $25,000 each were made by Ruf to a sister and a brother, and bequests of $5000 each to three nephews, Edward J., Clifford J. and Frank A. Ruf.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelp now live at 6633 Kingsbury avenue. Mrs. Shelp today declined to talk of her claim, referring inquiries to her attorneys.

The petition states that the plaintiff, Mrs. Shelp, and Mrs. Ruf are the sole heirs at law. As defendants, all the individuals and institutions named in the will are designated. Archbishop John J. Glennon is one of the defendants named, as Ruf bequeathed to him, for the New Cathedral, two paintings which were described as Murillos, on sacred subjects. These were "The Stigmata of St. Francis" and "The Vision of St. Anthony."

Mrs. Shelp also alleges that Ruf was "not of sound and disposing mind" when he made his will. "For a long time prior thereto," the petition says, "his mind had been affected by use of alcoholic stimulants, sedatives and narcotics to the extent that he did not know the property he owned, the persons who were the natural objects of his bounty or the nature of the claims of such persons. He was mentally incapable of making his will."

Trust Company Named.

She alleged also that officers of the Mercantile Trust Co., with their agents, attorneys and representatives, exercised undue influence over Ruf "to the end that it might become the practical owner of his

PEACE SETTLES OVER BRITISH COAL FIELDS

Miners' Delegates Accept New Terms by Vote of 473 to 311.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 29.—The prolonged dispute over the question of the coal miners' wages was definitely settled today when a full conference of the miners' delegates voted, 473 to 311, to accept the terms of the agreement reached by the miners' federation representatives with the owners on May 15.

The agreement which was reached subject to approval of the full delegate conference of the miners, with a recommendation from the federation officials for such approval, provides that the standard of profits in the industry shall consist of a sum equal to 15 per cent of standard wages. The surplus remaining after deduction from the proceeds the cost of standard wages, costs other than wages, and standard profits, is to be divided between wages and profits in the proportion of 88 per cent to wages and 12 per cent to profits.

In the arrangement which the new agreement supplants the standard of profits was reckoned at 17 per cent of wages and the profits divided in the ratio of 83 and 17 per cent.

The agreement embodies other provisions of a complicated sort.

The vote recorded today, in which each delegate voted for a block of miners, represented a total vote of 473,000, against 311,000. The Executive Committee authorized a complete agreement with the employers for one year, subject thereafter to one month's notice of dissolution by either side.

SAYS HE ALTERED RECORD IN ABBY ROCKEFELLER CASE

Policeman Testifies That Magistrate Wanted Notations Changed as Previous Charge Had Been Dismissed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—When the case of Miss Abby Rockefeller, accused of speeding, was called in traffic court on May 14, the record indicated that it was her first offense, though the policeman's summons had specified that it was the second, Edward R. Fleming, a member of the police motor cycle squad, testified today at Commissioner Hirschfield's investigation of the suspended sentence given Miss Rockefeller on that date.

Fleming said that before the hearing, which was held in Magistrate Marsh's chambers, Frank Doran, a court attache, told him that the Magistrate wanted Fleming to change the police record in the same manner, since the first case was dismissed. On instructions from Lieut. Collins he then changed the complaint and marked the case one of the first offense, Fleming said.

Miss Rockefeller, who is a daughter of John D. Rockefeller Jr., did not appear at the court hearing, according to Fleming. An attorney pleaded guilty for her, but Magistrate Marsh, Fleming said, suspended sentence because she had "caused no trouble and had not been abusive" when summoned.

Leonard J. Preston, another policeman, told of summoning Miss Rockefeller on Jan. 8, with similar results.

DEFENSE WOULD QUESTION 100 CLERGYMEN IN TRIAL OF BISHOP BROWN FOR HERESY

HOFFMAN FOUND GUILTY AS SLAYER OF MRS. BAUER

ASSAILS PROSECUTOR, COLLAPSES IN CELL.

Convicted of Killing Woman on Lonely Staten Island Road After Giving Her "Lift" in His Car.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Harry L. Hoffman, charged with slaying Mrs. Maude A. Bauer on a lonely Staten Island road, was found guilty today of murder in the second degree.

County Judge Tiernan imposed sentence of 20 years to life imprisonment in Sing Sing.

Hoffman's attorney said it had not been decided whether an appeal would be filed.

"We have excellent grounds for an appeal," he said, "but I shall leave the decision in this matter entirely with Hoffman, who will be taken to Sing Sing late today."

Hoffman, on his way to a prison van after sentence had been imposed, passed within a few feet of District Attorney Fach and shrieked:

"Now you and your lying witnesses can divide up your reward. I am innocent and you know it."

Collapses in Cell and Weeps.

Later Hoffman collapsed in his cell and wept.

Hoffman, a motion picture operator, is married and the father of two children.

On the afternoon of March 25 the body of pretty Mrs. Maude Bauer, young mother of two daughters, was found by the side of a road. She had been shot, beaten and strangled and there was evidence that she had successfully fought off an assault.

Witnesses told of having seen Mrs. Bauer, driving her mother and daughters, in her small car, stalling the motor in the mud when she swerved to avoid collision with a truck. Her mother told of a passing motorist, who stopped and tendered his services to Mrs. Bauer as she was walking toward a distant house to seek assistance.

Witness Repudiated Alibi.

Hoffman maintained his innocence and a fellow motion picture operator, Racey Parker, told the police Hoffman had been with him in the projection room of a theater at the time Mrs. Bauer was murdered. But the police learned that Hoffman, three days after the murder, had sent to his brother a gun of the caliber of the automatic pistol with which Mrs. Bauer had been shot. They also found a bullet hole in the upholstery of his motor car, a coupe identical to that described by those who had seen the mystery motorist.

Parker, a few days later, repudiated the alibi he had offered for Hoffman, declaring his fellow operator had asked him to "frame" it, as he feared the police would arrest him for the Bauer murder.

At the trial Barbara Fahs, a 13-year-old school girl, identified Hoffman as the man who had offered Mrs. Bauer a ride, and a firearms expert declared that only bullets from Hoffman's gun could have caused the death of Mrs. Bauer.

NOLTE OBJECTS TO PLATED SILVERWARE FOR SCHOOL

A requisition by Director of Public Welfare Cunliff, for $1975.44 worth of plated tableware for the St. Louis Training School for the Feeble Minded, was cut down to $791.76 by Comptroller Nolte because the Comptroller thought Cunliff's ideas of table appointments too extravagant. One of the items called for 48 dozen table knives at $11.50 a dozen.

"A dollar a piece for knives is too much," the Comptroller said. "Why, I don't have knives that good at my house." He directed the Supply Commissioner to buy knives for $3.96 a dozen and similar cuts were made in all other items.

SUSPECTS IN FRANKS KIDNAPING CASE FOUND ILL IN LOUISVILLE

Police Report as to Alleged Confession Found to Have Been Erroneous.

By the Associated Press.

LOUISVILLE, May 29.—C. F. Heath, a Chicago druggist, was found in an unconscious condition at a rooming house here today and taken to a hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

The police announced the man was suspected of being implicated in the case of the kidnaping and slaying of Robert Franks in Chicago, basing the statement on information from the hospital that Heath had confessed. Inquiry at the hospital revealed that Heath had made no statement concerning the case, the authorities apparently having misunderstood the message.

In Heath's room was a Chicago paper of May 27, folded at the headlines, "Franks' Slayer Escapes in Chase."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Charles F. Heath, former druggist, watched in a Louisville hospital as a suspect in connection with the kidnaping and murder of Robert Franks, 13-year-old son of a Chicago millionaire, disappeared from a hospital here last Monday, after he had apparently attempted suicide.

Heath had swallowed a sleep-producing drug on Sunday, but when hospital attaches sought him the next day he had disappeared.

There was no basis for suspicion against Heath in connection with the Franks case, but his act, following receipt of a letter by Chief of Police Morgan A. Collins, Saturday, supposedly sent by the kidnaper and slayer, and threatening suicide, caused detectives to go to the hospital here to examine the patient. He was gone when the officers arrived.

PAPAL BULL PROCLAIMS 1925 TO BE A HOLY YEAR

Document Is Read in St. Peter's and in Several Other Churches in Rome.

By the Associated Press.

ROME, May 29.—Pope Pius today issued a bull proclaiming 1925 a holy year.

On the opening of Ascension day this morning, the pontiff consigned to Monsignor Joseph Wilpert, dean of the Apostolic Prothonotaries, the bull embodying the papal pronouncement. The ceremony took place in the throne room, where his holiness was surrounded by the prelates of the apostolic chamber, Monsignor Hughes Boncampagni-Ludovisi, vice chamberlain, Monsignor Evandre Moretti, auditor general, and Monsignor Leopold Capitani, regent of the chancery.

Monsignor Wilpert then descended to the portico of St. Peter's Church, where he read the bull in the presence of the public, the chapter of the church and the masters of ceremonies, afterward giving it to Monsignor Louis Capotosti, master of ceremonies, who later read the bull in the churches of St. Paul, Santa Maria Maggiore and St. John Lateran in the presence of the chapters of those churches.

COUNSEL MAKING AUDACIOUS FIGHT FOR DEFENDANT

Hearing in Case of Venerable Bishop Characterized as Most Arresting of Kind in Modern Times.

CHARGES ARE MET WITH ADMISSIONS

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., May 29.—Beneath the tall and somber spires of old Trinity Cathedral, the most arresting church trial of modern times is proceeding. William Montgomery Brown, venerable retired Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church, is on trial before a court of his peers, charged with heresy.

Proposal by Defense.

A proposal to place virtually all the Bishops as well as many clergymen of the church on the witness stand and examine them upon the literalness with which they believe the Scriptures, was made today by his counsel. More than 100 Bishops and clergymen were named in the list of witnesses which the defense proposed to call and 408 interrogatories have been framed, many of them designed to show that a large section of the clergy interpret parts of the Bible symbolically. Another obvious purpose is to show that there is no agreement on precisely what constitutes the church doctrine which Bishop Brown is charged with violating.

The prosecution opposed the defense's request for a continuance pending taking the depositions of the witnesses named and arguments on the subject consumed one session today. Algernon S. Crapsey, formerly rector of an Episcopal church at Rochester, N. Y., who was deposed from the ministry in 1906 after a celebrated heresy trial, sat by Bishop Brown's side in court today. He is now 79 years old.

His Belief as a Bishop.

The Bishop meets the solemn accusation against him with the admission that he is both atheist and communist, and declares that neither of these beliefs is incompatible with his position as a Bishop of the church.

He declares, moreover, that his own heterodoxy differs from that of his fellow churchmen only in degree, and charges that the effort to depose him from the ministry is a result, not of his religious dissent, but of his radical political and economic belief. He has challenged his judges to submit to an examination of their respective faiths, asserting that no two of them could agree upon a definition of the doctrine which he is accused of denying.

"In God's name, what kind of justice are you giving a man when you try him for doctrinal errors upon which you yourselves cannot agree?" cried Joseph Sharts, Bishop Brown's counsel, in one dramatic moment.

Going to the Heart of It.

Nevertheless, the end of the second day of the trial found the defense defeated at every point along the line. A succession of technical motions, variously calculated to disqualify the court and to nullify the proceedings, were overruled with a grim terseness and uniformity which seemed to indicate that the eight Bishops comprising the court were determined to go to the heart of the issue and settle it at once.

To argue that a man can be at once an atheist and a bishop of the church, may seem a perfect paradox, but that is the position upon which the defense in this case has taken its stand, and upon which it is waging a resourceful and pertinacious fight. The condition in which the church would find itself should this position be upheld, is a possibility to ponder upon.

Not the Pale Pink Variety.

SON BREAKS PEPER WILL BY RISKING HIS LIFE INCOME

PLAINTIFF FACED ALTERNATIVE OF $1

Now Will Receive His Share of Fortune Outright, With Right to Bequeath to Family.

Christian Peper Bushman of 5573A Vernon avenue risked the life income from a one-third interest in his mother's $500,000 estate against $1, in the belief that a jury would set aside her will.

A jury did set aside the will after 45 minutes' deliberation in Circuit Judge Grimm's court yesterday. As a natural heir Bushman now will receive one-third of the estate outright. Had he lost his suit he would have been cut off with $1 by a codicil to the document. Had he not filed suit at all he would have been unable to bequeath his interest to his wife and daughter, because Mrs. Caroline Peper Bushman had stipulated against them in establishing a trust fund.

Bushman's Allegations.

Bushman had alleged that his sister, Mrs. Estelle Bushman Barlow, had unduly influenced their mother against him and his family; and that Mrs. Caroline Peper Bushman, who preferred to be known as Mrs. Caroline J. Peper, after her divorce, was of unsound mind when she made her will.

The jury, on instruction from Judge Grimm, discarded the allegation of insanity and reached its verdict on the grounds of undue influence.

Counsel for the contestant based their case on the assertion that the provisions of the will itself were prima facie evidence of prejudice in the sister's favor against the brother. Mrs. Peper had bequeathed Mrs. Barlow one-third of her estate outright and had made her trustee of the remainder. The income of the trust was to have been divided equally between Bushman and a grandson of Mrs. Peper, Christian Peper Bushman Jr., the child of a deceased son. A codicil stipulated that if any heir contested he or she was to be cut off with $1.

Testimony Adduced.

Mrs. Peper died in 1920. For several years prior to her death, Bushman, his wife and daughter, lived with her and Mrs. Barlow, who was then Miss Estelle Bushman, at the Peper residence, 4448 Washington boulevard. It had been agreed that Mrs. Anna Bushman was to supervise the cooking. The Bushmans ate downstairs and Mrs. Peper and her daughter took their meals upstairs.

Much testimony was introduced by Bushman to show that his sister complained to Mrs. Peper about the meals; that she quarreled with Bushman's daughter, Ruth; and that she described Bushman's motives to Mrs. Peper in an uncomplimentary manner.

Mrs. Barlow came to St. Louis from her home in Columbo, Island of Ceylon, to testify for the defense. She placed the blame for the estrangement between Mrs. Peper and her brother on Bushman and his family. Ruth Bushman was "sassy" to her grandmother, Mrs. Bushman and Mrs. Peper could never get along, she testified, and Mrs. Peper had no confidence in Bushman.

Her testimony evoked a bitter attack by N. Murry Edwards, counsel for Bushman, when he argued the case. He called Mrs. Barlow "the smoothest woman witness I have ever cross-examined," and said, "you can see Mrs. Barlow written all through that will."

With the will set aside Bushman will receive one-third of the estate outright, as has been told; Mrs. Barlow will retain the third bequeathed to her and Christian Peper Bushman Jr., the other heir, will inherit his third at once instead of through a trust fund. They are the three natural heirs.

Harry Haeussler, of counsel for the estate, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Mrs. Barlow has in her possession another will written prior to the testament set aside, which she may file for probate. Attorney Edwards, when apprised of this statement, said that the second will would come under the same construction as the one broken yesterday, and would also be set aside as having been influenced by Mrs. Barlow.

Attorney Haeussler said the will contest will be taken to the State Supreme Court, if Judge Grimm declines to set aside the verdict.

THE CASE OF THE CHURCH AGAINST BISHOP BROWN AS BASED ON HIS BOOK

From "Communism and Christianism" Are Taken 23 Quotations in Discussion of Gods of Gold and "Gods of the Skies."

By PAUL Y. ANDERSON,
A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CLEVELAND, O., May 29.—The case against Bishop William Montgomery Brown, now on trial for heresy before an ecclesiastical court here, is based entirely upon twenty-three separate questions from his book, "Communism and Christianism," published in 1920. These quotations are set forth in the "presentment," which corresponds precisely to an indictment in the civil courts, and are as follows:

"1. Within the social realm, humanity in my new divinity and your (meaning thereby members of said Protestant Episcopal Church) divinity (my old one) is a symbol of it, or else, as I think, He is at best a fiction and at worst a superstition."

"2. Neither capitalism nor Christianism is anything except in so far as it is a system of parasitism and as parasitic systems they have striking resemblances, nearly as many and as close as indistinguishable twins.

"Both have gods, churches and priesthoods, and these are in each case nothing but symbols.

"However, the god of capitalism, though only a symbol, is nevertheless real gold, below a real vault, and nearly all the world sincerely worships it.

"But the God of Christianism, though none the less symbolic, but rather more so, is an unreal imaginary spirit, a magnified man without a body, above an imaginary vault, and only a very small part of the world sincerely worships him."

"I Doubt That He Lived."

"3. Orthodox Christians say that Jesus founded their sectarian churches, though each sect insists that He had to die with only one church, theirs. I doubt that he lived."

"4. Do you not now see with me that the Christ of the world is not a conscious, impersonal machine" It is to the machine of man, not a lamb of God, to which we may hopefully look for the taking away of the sins of the world.

"5. The world's savior-god is knowledge. There is no other Christ on earth or in any heaven above it, and this one lives, moves and has his being in the fear of ignorance.

6. Omar, the poetic astronomer, might have added a quatrain which would have closed 'I myself am God.' This is, in effect, what Jesus did say: 'I and my Father are one.' This is as true of you and me and of every man, woman and child as it was of Jesus.

"7. Gods in the skies (Jesus, Jehovah, Allah, Buddha) are all right as subjective symbols of human potentialities and attributes and of natural laws, even as the Stars and Stripes on a pole, Uncle Sam in the capital and Santa Claus in a sleigh are all right as such symbols; but such gods are all wrong if regarded as objective realities existing independently of those who created them as divinities and placed them in celestial habitations.

No Renunciation Proposed.

"8. So far I have not found it necessary to renounce the Christian God or any of the things which go with him and I have no idea of doing this any more than I have of renouncing the American Uncle Sam and the things which go with him, but I place the brother Jesus of the Christian religion and the Uncle Sam of American politics on the same footing with each other and with others of their kind as subjective realities. I could be a Jew and an Englishman as conscientiously as a Christian and an American.

"9. As an objectivity there is no such divinity (meaning thereby the triune god, Father, Son and Holy Spirit). He is a subjectivity existing in the imagination of orthodox Christians.

"10. The one God of the Jews and the triune God of the Christians, if taken seriously, are superstitions.

"11. 'The Lamb of God that taketh away the sins of the world' is the sign of the zodiac, Aries (sheep, ram), through which the sun passes toward the end of March when all the savior-gods annually died and rose again.

The Owning, the Master Class.

"12. Jehovah is the sun myth rewritten to fit in with the ideals and hopes of the owning, master class of the Jews. Jesus is the sun-myth rewritten to fit in with the ideals and hopes of the owning, master class of the Christians.

"13. The Holy Ghost sees to it that the slave class is kept in ignorance.

"14. The birth, death, descension, resurrection and ascension of all the savior-gods, not excepting Jesus, are versions of the sun-myth.

"15. There is no reason for believing that any one among the gods of the four old supernaturalistic interpretations of religion (Jehovah, Jesus, Allah, Buddha) or that either of the gods of the two new interpretations by the renowned physicist, Sir Oliver Lodge, and the distinguished sociologist, Mr. H. G. Wells, has had more to do in creating, sustaining and governing the world than another; that is to say, there is no ground for believing that the personal, conscious gods in the skies, either individually or collectively, have had anything at all to do with it.

"16. There is no rational doubt about the fictitious character of the divine Jesus.

"Creations of Owning Class."

"17. The gods of all the supernaturalistic interpretations of religions are so many creations of the dominant or master class and their revelations were put into their mouths by their makers for the purpose of keeping the slave class ignorant and contented.

"18. My god, nature, is a triune divinity—matter being the father, force the son and law the spirit.

"19. My god, nature (the triune divinity, matter-force-motion), the doings of which god are so many words of the only gospel upon which the salvation of the world is to any degree dependent, is an impersonal, unconscious, nonmoral being.

"20. I ceased to believe in the existence of a conscious, personal divinity, and, of course, my faith in the existence of a spiritual world and hope for a future life in it went with the god.

"21. If you ask whether I am still a professing Christian, I shall answer: 'Yes; yet the brother Jesus of the New Testament, Catholic creed and Protestant confessions, is not for me an historical personage, but only a symbol of all that is for the good of the world, even as the Uncle Sam of American literature is not an historical personage, but only a symbol of all which is for the good of the United States.

"22. From the viewpoint of the self-styled 100 per cent Christians, I am a betrayer of Brother Jesus, because I do not believe that he ever had an existence as a god and that, if He was at any time a man, the world does not now, and never can, know of one thing that he did or of any word that he said."

By Myself or by Men.

"23. However, though I love my brother Jesus and Uncle Sam all the time as a child does Santa Claus at Christmas time, I am no longer childish enough at any time to look to either of them to do anything for me, because I know that what is done for me must be done either by myself or by men, women and children, and that as objective, conscious personalities, my brother Jesus and Uncle Sam have had no more to do with my life than the man-in-the-moon."

The presentment, after reciting the quotations, concludes with the following charge, signed by those who brought the case:

"All of said doctrine as contained in each passage above set out being contrary to that held by said Protestant Episcopal Church, as contained in the Book of Common Prayer and especially in the Apostles' and Nicene creeds.

"ARTHUR C. A. HALL,
"Bishop of Vermont.
"JOSEPH M. FRANCIS,
"Bishop of Indianapolis.
"WILLIAM GREVATT,
"Bishop of West Virginia.
"CHARLES LEMUEL DRIBBLE,
"Church Advocate."

CALLS HIS EMPLOYES BEFORE HIM AND ENDS LIFE WITH SHOT

Stocking Manufacturer Says "Good-by, I'm Going Away," Then Fires at Head.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

READING, Pa., May 29.—Martin H. Fritz, one of the biggest stocking manufacturers in the East, called his employes together at noon yesterday at his mill at Shillington and then shot himself to death.

The employes, with whom Fritz was popular because of his philanthropy, had gathered about him as he stood on the factory steps just after the noon whistle blew, expecting him to announce plans for the annual spring picnic for them.

"I want to bid you good-by," Fritz said. "I am going away."

Then he pulled out a revolver and fired at his head.

TRIAL FUNDS FOR DE VALERA

New York Court Rules for Allowance of Disputed $2,500,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Supreme Court Justice McCook today decided that Eamon de Valera and Stephen M. O'Mara were entitled to a reasonable part of the $2,500,000 of the Irish republican funds on deposit here for use in prosecution of their defense of the suit brought by the Irish Free State to obtain the money.

The Free State brought the suit on the ground that it was the legitimate successor of the Irish Republic and hence was entitled to the fund, of which De Valera and O'Mara were named trustees.

Justice McCook held that as De Valera and O'Mara were without funds they should not be inconvenienced in their defense. Nathaniel A. Elsberg was named to determine what constituted a "proper allowance." Meanwhile the money will remain with the three local banks where it is on deposit.

D'OISY FLIES 650 MILES IN A CHINESE PLANE

Frenchman Makes 12-Hour Flight to Peking—Americans Next Hop Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

PEKIN, May 29.—Capt. Georges Pelletier D'Oisy reached here at 5:45 p. m. today, completing a long-distance stage of his flight from Paris to Tokio. The dashing French airman left Shanghai at 5 o'clock this morning and arrived at the capital after making a brief stop at Tsinan-Fu early in the afternoon. There he repaired a defective strut in his plane.

The total distance is more than 650 miles. He used a Chinese airplane lent him by the Military Governor of Shanghai.

Americans Plan to Make Two Days' Hop in One on Saturday.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 29.—Lieut. Lowell H. Smith, acting commander of the American army around-the-world flight, announced today that the aviators plan to leave Kasumigaura Saturday morning on the next leg of their journey, weather permitting. They will endeavor to make the flight to Kagoshima at the southern end of the Island of Kyushu in one day, stopping at Kushimote only for fuel.

By making the flight in one day the fliers hope to regain some of the time they lost, owing to bad weather in Alaska.

The original plan was to fly from Kasumigaura, 50 miles north of Tokio, to Kusimote, a port at the southern end of the main island of Japan, a distance of 350 miles, and after a rest there, continue on another day to Kagoshima. From Kagoshima the aviators make their hop of 500 miles across the Yellow Sea, to Shanghai, their first landing place on the Asiatic Continent.

British Flyer Salutes Sportsmanship of Americans.

By the Associated Press.

TOKIO, May 29.—Maj. Stuart MacLaren, the British aviator, who crashed at Akyab, Burma, just after restarting on his around-the-world flight, has cabled Lieutenant-Commander Garnet Hulings, American Naval Attache here: "Hats off to the Stars and Stripes for real sportsmanship."

Maj. MacLaren had reference to the offer of the American Navy to transport his spare airplane from Hakodate, Japan, to India to enable him to continue his flight.

By the Associated Press.

HAKODATE, Japan, May 29.—The American destroyer John Paul Jones, arriving late today, immediately took aboard the spare airplane belonging to Stuart MacLaren, British aviator flying around the world, and departed for Hongkong with all speed.

The destroyer's officers expected to arrive at Hongkong, where another American destroyer will take the plane aboard for conveyance to India Monday. This means that the distance of approximately 1500 miles will have to be covered at an average of speed of about 20 knots an hour. The plane is to replace a damaged one and its prompt arrival will permit the British to continue a flight which it was feared might have to be abandoned.

Eight Employes of Insurance Company Locked in Basement by Robbers.

Three young men, with revolvers, held up the East St. Louis office of the John Hancock Life Insurance Co., Tenth street and St. Louis avenue, at 10 a. m. today, locked eight employes in the basement of the building and escaped with $800 in cash from the cashier's desk.

The three robbers entered, two through the front door and one through a side door, each with a revolver. They ordered the employes to "stick 'em up." While two of the men covered seven of the employes, including Louis P. Flauaus, agency superintendent, and Miss Ethel Coleman, a stenographer, the third walked to the cashier's cage and inquired of Elmer W. Kistner, cashier, as to the location of the money.

While one robber removed $800 from the cashier's desk, his companions marched the employes to an inside stairway. Locking the door, the robbers ran to an automobile, where a fourth man waited and drove rapidly south.

A woman living across the street saw the holdup and telephoned the police, who released the prisoners. The machine, a Ford touring car, bore an Illinois license, the witness said.

KENYON CONTRADICTS MELLON

Former Iowa Senator Denies Appearing Before Treasury.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Inclusion in a report from the Treasury of the name of former Senator Kenyon of Iowa among those who had appeared before the Treasury Department within two years of leaving office to prosecute claims against the Government, was "absolutely unwarranted" the Senate was told yesterday by Senator Brookhart of the same State. He read a telegram from Judge Kenyon denying he had been connected in any way with a case before the Treasury or that he had been associated with "any law firm in the past eight years." The report was submitted yesterday by Secretary Mellon in response to a Senate resolution.

Defense Motions Swept Aside in Trial of Bishop

ney Grant variety. It is the downright, thorough-going agnosticism that Bradlaugh, Huxley and Ingersoll preached more than a generation ago, and has almost no kinship with the milder and vaguer schisms which have attracted so much public attention recently. He pronounces Jehovah a myth at one with Allah. He doubts that Jesus Christ ever existed except in legend. He regards the Bible as a collection of folklore. He renounces the cosmogeny of Genesis for that of modern geology. He turns from Adam and Eve to Darwin and Pithecanthropus Erectus. Marx, not Moses, is his prophet.

Why does one holding such beliefs have any desire to remain in the church, having arrived at his present convictions, as he says, by a long process of intellectual evolution? Why did not Bishop Brown, finding himself in such hopeless disagreement with the church, leave it without more ado? And why, above all, wage such a determined and necessarily painful struggle to resist eviction from the ministry, especially when he long ago ceased to practice it? In genuine curiosity, the writer put these questions to the aged defendant.

Calmly, gently, smilingly, he replied: "I have been in the church for more than 40 years, and I love it. Not only do I belong to it, but it belongs to me, because I helped make it what it is by giving my life to it. And, because of that, I feel a personal responsibility for its mistakes. Because I have been part of it so long, I feel that I have a duty to see that it does not go wrong. I want to help it recognize the truth and proclaim the truth."

Getting down to more immediate and practical objects, he continued with utmost frankness: "Another reason why I am making this fight is to focus attention upon what I regard as the evils of the church. If I had not made it, you, for instance, would not be here today, and your great newspaper would not be reminding thousands of readers that a great conflict is being waged between supernatural traditionalism and modern science. I want to make people think. I do not believe that any educated man or woman can subscribe to the superstition which passes among the masses of the people today for religion. If they are called to think upon it they will renounce it."

"Then," I rejoined, "you do not want the church destroyed. You would regard it as a useful social institution under such a society as you would have established?"

Religion of Humanity.

"Certainly," was the quick reply. "And I believe in religion, too, but a religion of humanity, not of superstition and tradition. That religion should find its expression through the church.

"Finally, I do not believe that I can be expelled from the church. I could if the church were a club. But it is a family, and one is born into it spiritually. A father may put his son out of the house, but he can't put him out of the family."

The trial as it proceeds is a solemn and impressive ceremony befitting the character of the personages and the historical vastness of the subject. The blood and passion of Centuries has rendered "heresy" an awful word, and in this setting it loses none of the dramatic attributes vested in it by the ages.

The long narrow hall is vaulted and beamed, and the light falls softly through stained windows upon hoary heads and grave faces. One end is elevated in the manner of a low stage and upon this carpeted platform the 8 Bishops comprising the court sit in an imposing semicircle, gowned in the vestments of their exalted office. Behind is a regal background, consisting of a heavy red curtain extending from wall to wall, and above it rises a great window, the central figure of which is a figure of the Christ.

Medieval and Modern.

Yet the medieval and the modern mingle strangely there, for the heavy atmosphere of antiquity is pierced by sharp arguments upon points of law, and the swift irony of Sharts rings as incongruously against the scene as does the suave pleading of the dapper, red-haired church advocate, Dibble, who is the prosecutor in the case. More bizarre and foreign still, perhaps, is the long table crowded with furiously scribbling correspondents, more than one of them fresh from the angry clashes of Senate committee rooms.

But the figure that dominates the scene—and about this there will be no dispute—is the central figure in it, Bishop Brown. He is not taller than the average man, but he seems so as he sits quietly, erectly, sternly, at the counsel table in front of the platform. Gaunt, bald save for a patriarchal fringe of white hair, uncompromising in profile, holding upon the court a pair of gray eyes utterly undimmed by age, he commands the room by the sheer dignity of his person. You cannot escape it. His physical feebleness is not apparent until he arises to leave. As he sits there austere and almost motionless in the garments of his rank, seldom speaking to his counsel, he is the personification of intellectual force, resolve and a fierce courage. His speech greatly softens the impression. It is very gentle. In many ways he makes one think of Eugene Debs. He wears the red carnation of revolution in his buttonhole.

The Audacious Sharts.

One more incongruous note is furnished by Sharts. Like all the counsel, he is an Episcopalian. For that reason, if no other, his attitude toward the court is breathtaking. While his manner is composed, the audacity of his utterances toward the court made spectators gasp. He calmly taunted the Bishops with their doctrinal disagreements. He inveighed against what he called the injustice of their decisions with a deliberate scorn which few Justices of the Peace would endure coolly. He pleaded in vain, he implied, for "the justice for Bishop Brown which the courts of the land extend to a common criminal."

In one passage of his argument he said "some of the proceedings here make me think I hear the hissing of the flames of Smithfield and see the writhing limbs of martyrs dying for beliefs no more honest than those held by this aged man by my side." Almost immediately he added: "The reason he does not fear the faggot here today is because outside, beyond these walls, there are men, agnostics, unbelievers and half-believers, who make the laws of the land, and who have learned what a tragic thing it is to take religion too seriously."

The court, for the most part, listened impassively to these and similar declarations, although seeming somewhat more sensitive to the occasional expressions of sympathy which came from the audience in the form of laughter. At no time, however, did Bishop Murray of Maryland, the presiding judge, call for order.

Overruled and Overruled.

Yesterday's proceedings consisted entirely of a succession of unsuccessful efforts by Sharts to end or halt the trial, in which he did most of the arguing. When the session opened, Bishop Murray announced that the point raised by Sharts on the preceding day, questioning the jurisdiction of the court, had been overruled. Sharts then proceeded with a series of kindred motions, and in the course of his arguments for them, made several startling declarations.

He charged that "at least one or more members of the court had formed or expressed opinions on the case," and were, therefore, disqualified from sitting in it. He was overruled. He moved that the "presentment" containing the charges against Bishop Brown, and corresponding to an indictment in the civil courts, be quashed, on the ground that it was too vague and indefinite. This was overruled. His demand for a bill of particulars was overruled. His demurrer to the presentment was overruled. His demand for the privilege of examining the judges upon their eligibility as a lawyer would examine a jury panel was denied.

Not One Has Responded.

Finally, prior to adjournment, he declared that of all the witnesses summoned by the defense, none had responded, and he asked for a continuance until their depositions could be taken, for which purpose he asked the appointment of Commissioners. He argued so forcefully and ingeniously upon this point that the court and its lay advisers were obviously impressed. It was finally decided that the defense must present affidavits setting forth the names of the witnesses summoned and the testimony expected of them upon which the court will decide whether to grant the motion.

Sharts informed the writer that those summoned include the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant and the Rev. Mr. Guthrie, noted modernist clergymen of New York.

The defense made no effort to conceal the plan which it intends to pursue. "We contend," Sharts said in his opening statement, "that there is no such thing as a rigidly defined doctrine of the church. No two of you could agree upon a definition of the church doctrine if you were questioned under oath out of hearing of each other, and you know it. We propose to compel the prosecution to verify from the Scripture any claim they make as to doctrine. We will show that the interpretation placed upon the Scripture by clergymen today differs widely from that placed upon it at the time the Apostles and Nicene creeds and the Book of Common Prayer were framed.

"Certain passages are accepted as symbolical, we propose to show that members of this court have so interpreted them. Bishop Brown has simply followed the same path a little further, or a good deal further, as the case may be. Unless the prosecution can show some authorized limit that has been set on how far a clergyman can go in his interpretation, we declare that Bishop Brown has not transgressed the limit.

Political and Economic.

"Moreover, we intend to show that a certain faction of the church is endeavoring to expel from it those who disagree with them on political and economic subjects, and that this, and not doctrinal errors, is the motive of the present prosecution."

Sharts brought a laugh from the congregation when, in characteristic vein, he criticised the indefiniteness of the presentment, and said "It would be perfectly analogous if I, as criminal prosecutor, should bring an indictment against Mr. Dibble, charging him with having, at some time, between 1920 and the present, poisoned an unnamed man, somewhere in Galion, O., or Chicago, in 23 different ways."

Sharts argued with great eloquence his motion for a bill of particulars. He said it was impossible to prepare a defense unless he knew what doctrines his client was charged with violating. He added, with some significance: "If this demand is granted, it will greatly shorten these proceedings. If it is denied, it will not only prolong them, but I venture to say that none of us will live to hear the last of it. All we want is the justice which the courts accord a common criminal. Remember that there is something more to this than what you may think of your conduct. There is a public that will judge you for the way in which you judge this man." The motion, however, was quickly denied, as all the others had been.

Prior to his retirement from active ministry, about 10 years ago, Bishop Brown presided over the diocese of Arkansas. He lives at present in Galion, O., where his book, "Communism and Christianism," was published. He is independently wealthy, being a member of a well-known Ohio family. During the noon recess yesterday he suffered a heart attack, and was unable to leave his hotel for two hours. He is 69 years old.

In case he is found guilty in the present trial, the extreme penalty which the court can inflict on him is deposition from the ministry. Even in that event, in the opinion of ecclesiastical authorities, he would still be permitted to wear his vestments, and use the prefix Bishop to his name. In other words, the judgment would be a moral one.

Sharts intimated in a veiled manner yesterday that in the case of an unfavorable verdict, the civil courts might be petitioned to intervene, probably by injunction. One thing is certain, unless prevented by rulings; the defense proposes to ventilate the whole question of the differences between modernism and fundamentalism in their varying degrees on the theory that Bishop Brown's nonconformity differs from that of other churchmen only in its extent.

Affidavit in Support of Contrivance Motion Filed.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, May 29.—An affidavit setting forth expected answers to a few of the 400-odd queries in the defense questionnaire was filed at the start of today's proceedings in the trial of the Rt. Rev. William M. Brown, former Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Arkansas. It was in support of the motion for continuance, filed yesterday, which sought depositions from practically all Bishops of the church, domestic and foreign.

Charles Dibble, Church Advocate, urged the refusal of the motion for depositions. He maintained that the American Church was independent and self-governing and that the trial court of Bishops, like the civil courts of the nation, could not be advised by witnesses as to what constitutes the doctrine or law of the church. He drew a parallel between differences as to doctrine and differences as to State rights before the Civil War and added the Court of Bishops was not concerned with the history of dogma, but only with its state of present existence.

Joseph Sharts, chief attorney for the defendant, rejoined that, if the court took judicial notice that the Bible was not part of the doctrine of the church, the decision would be momentous. He disputed Dibble's assertion that doctrine was established by legislative action and said: "Throughout this trial we have not been able to get an authoritative statement of what constitutes the doctrine of this church. We propose, therefore, to show it by witnesses, men qualified by study and experience to pass upon it and who have spoken officially about it.

"The doctrines of the church are not contained in one little book. They come from every convention of the church, every convocation of the clergy, every official letter or sermon. The Bible, I still believe, is one of these sources."

In rejoinder, Dibble cited a ruling in the 1906 trial of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, convicted of heresy in New York and a spectato at this trial. This ruling excluded the evidence of experts, he said, and was upheld later in the court of review.

CLEVELAND, May 29.—An af- davit setting forth expected an- wers to a few of the 400-odd ueries in the defense question- aire was filed at the start of to- ay's proceedings in the trial of he Rt. Rev. William M. Brown, rmer Protestant Episcopal Bish- p of Arkansas. It was in support of the motion for continuance, filed esterday, which sought deposi- ions from practically all Bishops f the church, domestic and for- ign.

Charles Dibble, Church Advocate, urged the refusal of the motion or depositions. He maintained that he American Church was inde- pendent and self-governing and hat the trial court of Bishops, like he civil courts of the nation, could ot be advised by witnesses as to what constitutes the doctrine or aw of the church. He drew a parallel between differences as to doctrine and differences as to State rights before the Civil War and added the Court of Bishops was not concerned with the his- tory of dogma, but only with its state of present existence.

Joseph Sharts, chief attorney for the defendant, rejoined that, if the court took judicial notice that the Bible was not part of the doctrine of the church, the decision would be momentous. He disputed Dibble's assertion that doctrine was established by legislative action and said: "Throughout this trial we have not been able to get an authoritative statement of what constitutes the doctrine of this church. We propose, therefore, to show it by witnesses, men qualified by study and experience to pass upon it and who have spoken officially about it.

"The doctrines of the church are not contained in one little book. They come from every convention of the church, every convocation of the clergy, every official letter or sermon. The Bible, I still believe, is one of these sources."

In rejoinder, Dibble cited a ruling in the 1906 trial of Rev. Algernon S. Crapsey, convicted of heresy in New York and a spectato at this trial. This ruling excluded the evidence of experts, he said, and was upheld later in the court of review.

POEPPING TO TELL IN COURT WHAT HE DID WITH BABY

Judge Reopens Case After Former Municipal Opera Chorus Man Promises to Appear Saturday.

LAWYER ASKS THAT GIRL BE PRESENT

Also Requests That Miss Lockwood's Mother and Physician Be Subpenaed to Hear Statement.

Thomas J. Poepping, the one person known to have definite knowledge of what became of his and Fannie Lockwood's baby, after he took it from her home, 4246 Delmar boulevard, the night of Dec. 27, is going to testify in court about what he did with the infant.

With his lawyer, Edward W. Foristel, he appeared before Judge Ossing, in the Court of Domestic Relations today, and the attorney induced the Judge to reopen Fannie Lockwood's fight to obtain from the Board of Children's Guardians the baby which she claims is the son born to her Dec. 19.

This development furnished another climax in the case, in which legal surprise came on top of legal surprise during four days of testimony and confusion grew apace. Through his lawyer, Poepping, a former Municipal Opera chorus man, promised to be in court next Saturday at 9 a. m. Foristel asked to have Miss Lockwood, her mother and the physician who attended her subpenaed to be present, too, so that they could hear the father's statement. Foristel said he had not realized until called as a witness himself that Poepping's word as to what he did with the child was important in the case.

"Damn the Consequences."

Foristel told reporters he had advised Poepping of "possible consequences" of his testimony, to which Poepping replied: "Damn the consequences."

The question which Judge Ossing will have to decide, after hearing Poepping and closing the case once more, is whether a foundling discovered at St. Joseph's Orphan Asylum the morning of Dec. 28 is 18-year-old Miss Lockwood's baby. This foundling was taken from St. Joseph's to St. Ann's Foundling Asylum and then to City Hospital, where Board of Children's Guar- where the Board of Children's Guardians took charge of it. Poepping told the police he abandoned his son at St. Joseph's, but evidence conflicted as to whether the removal and abandonment were on Dec 27 or Jan. 3.

Judge Ossing had taken the case under advisement yesterday, after hearing arguments. Counsel for the Board of Children's Guardians, ending his argument, said: "I hope God will lend your honor guidance to decide this case on points of justice and of morals, and for the good of this baby."

Attorney Hall's Argument.

Fred S. Hall, Miss Lockwood's lawyer, made the first argument. He simply declared that he had made a prima facie case, at least presenting some evidence that the Lockwood baby and the foundling were the same, while the respondent in the habeas corpus proceeding, the board, offered no evidence to show it was not the same. The board opposed Miss Lockwood's claim because it wanted definite proof of identity.

Assistant City Counselor Daniel Bartlett, representing the board, then began the argument which he ended with the quoted appeal for divine guidance of the Judge. State law gives the Board of Children's Guardians the right to waifs whose parents are unknown, he declared. Nothing definite was shown to prove the Lockwood baby was taken to St. Joseph's, he went on. Even Attorney Foristel, who testified a "client" told him the Lockwood baby was abandoned, was not sure whether his information was that the place of abandonment was St. Joseph's, St. Ann's or Bethesda Home.

Uncertainty About Date.

Then there was the uncertainty about the date Poepping took his child away, Bartlett continued. Clothing of the Lockwood baby and the foundling, which at first was relied on as circumstantial evidence of identity, was no longer material to the case, because of confusion concerning it, he said.

Fannie Lockwood testified her baby had light blue eyes, but the baby she claims has dark blue eyes, she admitted, after looking at it in court and failing to identify it by sight. Her baby had a receding chin, but the one in court had a firm, outstanding chin.

Continuing to tear apart the petioner's evidence, Bartlett asserted there was no mention of the "mysterious shawl and bottles" accompanying the Lockwood child when it was removed, during the investigation, until it was learned such articles accompanied the foundling.

The blister Miss Lockwood testified her baby had on its instep was not mentioned till her counsel read a hospital record that the foundling had a small ulcer on its foot. Creditability of witnesses, and motives, must be considered, Bartlett went on. Referring to Detective-Lieutenant Aylward, who investigated and concluded the foundling was Miss Lockwood's, as "the master mind," counsel declared the detective was "trying to make a case against Poepping and chalk up another one for himself." The natural disposition of the Lockwoods, Bartlett declared, would be to get revenge on Poepping or force his marriage.

Refers to Poepping's Confession.

Poepping's confession of paternity to the police was made because he was desperate and needed counsel and bond, the lawyer averred.

"I'm sure," asserted Bartlett, "if this foundling is remanded to the custody of Fannie Lockwood, it will soon become Exhibit A in a criminal prosecution. But if the baby is given to the Lockwoods it will be stigmatized for life. I don't think Poepping would marry Fannie, but if he did, that wouldn't be conducive of happiness for the child."

Miss Lockwood, who sat in a front bench of the spectators' section, and who had retained her composure in court previously, even smiling bravely, was overcome by this remark, and burst into tears of short duration.

Unheeding, Bartlett continued: "What if doubt should creep later into Fannie Lockwood's mind? She's now uncertain this foundling is her baby. What—if she turned out her baby on a cold December night—would she do if later convinced this was not her child? The baby's interest should be the sole concern of the court. I want to send this baby out of here nameless. I want to draw a curtain behind him to efface the past."

Attorney Hall's Contention.

Attorney Hall contented himself in a reply, with declaring that the only question before the Court is whether the foundling is Fannie Lockwood's, and adding that no evidence had been presented to show the couple which has been given its care are fit guardians or more suitable than the Lockwoods. "The fact," he said, "that the foster father earns $10,000 a year, while Fannie Lockwood earns $19 a week has no bearing on what kind of a home it is."

Whatever the evidence has shown, Miss Lockwood on the stand yesterday made it plain to the judge that she was moved only by maternal instinct. Judge Ossing asked her if she would still want the foundling if the court felt it was not hers.

"I want only my baby, Judge," she said.

Miss Lockwood, and her mother, were on the stand for cross-examination about the date of her child's removal. They explained that the holidays of Christmas and New Years, preceding the two dates given for this had confused them, but felt sure now Dec. 27 was the right day. A newspaper reporter testified Poepping was surprised when told Jan. 3 was the supposed date, having thought it was earlier, but Lieut. Aylward said Poepping signed a statement that it was on or about Jan. 3.

The preliminary hearing of Poepping, on a charge of criminal assault preferred by Miss Lockwood, was continued today until June 12 in Justice Werremeyer's court at Clayton. The continuance was requested by Prosecuting Attorney Jones, who wishes to see what disposition Judge Ossing makes of the foundling.

estate in a perpetual trust, subjecting his will to theirs and causing him to execute the purported will in accordance with their wishes."

The will fixed a trust period of 21 years after Mrs. Ruf's death, during which the income of their bequests should be paid to the various institutions, and after which they should receive the principal.

Because of their interest, Mrs. Shelp alleges, representatives of the Mercantile Trust Co. who witnessed the will were not legally qualified to act as witnesses. The will was witnessed by George F. Torrey, M. G. Alpiser and P. H. Zepp, all of whom are named in the city directory as employes of the Mercantile Trust Co.

Samuel A. Mitchell of the legal department of the Mercantile Trust Co., said today that in the absence of a legal adoption, Mrs. Shelp had, in his opinion, no claim upon any part of the Ruf estate. "If she were a legally adopted daughter," he said, "she would not need to sue to break the will—the mere filing of her claim would set aside the will." He said the young woman lived at the Ruf home for considerable periods, but not constantly, and that her mother, Mrs. Ruf's sister, had also lived there at times.

MELSHEIMER CLOSES DOWNTOWN CAFE

Famous Rendezvous in Business Section Will Lock Doors Tonight.

The Melsheimer Restaurant, at Ninth street and Washington avenue, almost the last of the downtown preprohibition rendezvous to succumb to the drouth, will close tonight as the direct effect of prohibition.

Tomorrow will be the first day in 63 years with no Melsheimer restaurant downtown. The first one was opened in 1861 at 109 Market street by Charles Melsheimer, and was a meeting place for members of the Merchants' Exchange and others of the lower business section. It was moved to Third and Pine streets and remained in existence until two years ago, when it closed.

Soon after prohibition went into effect there was a rumor that the Ninth street place was going to close, but it stood, while the glory that was St. Louis' so-called night life slowly but inexorably departed. This place was opened in 1912. After Tony Faust's place was closed it became a mecca for after-theater parties and theatrical people on their visits here. It introduced the cabaret in St. Louis.

There were two ways for a place of food and drink to survive after those age-old companions were divorced by act of Congress. Edward C. Melsheimer, head of the establishment, took the other way. He took advantage of the growing demand for sweets and the movement of amusement places toward the West End, opening a bakery and restaurant at Pershing and De Baliviere avenues.

A second bake-shop was opened recently at Delmar boulevard and Westgate avenue. The Melsheimer Baking Co. will continue to operate its bakery in the Ninth and Washington property until completion of an up-to-date bakery somewhere in the West End.

U. S. VICE-CONSUL CHARGED WITH ACCEPTING BRIBES

David C. Kerr, Formerly Stationed at Vancouver, B. C., Surrenders in Washington.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—David C. Kerr, United States Vice Consul at Vancouver, was arrested here today on a charge of having accepted bribes to influence his decision on questions relating to the passage of aliens across the Canadian border.

Kerr, who is on detached duty here, pleaded not guilty before a United States Commissioner and was released on bond.

The charge was made by the District Attorney's office on behalf of Edward J. Norton, Consul General-at-Large. John S. Vurbrick and J. Fred Sanders of the United States immigration staff at Vancouver were named as witnesses. Kerr surrendered voluntarily when he learned that the authorities were seeking him. The charges are said to involve the passage of Chinese coolies across the border.

$100,000 RAISED SO FAR FOR BISHOP TUTTLE MEMORIAL FUND

Campaign Workers Meet and Lay Plans to Get $400,000 in St. Louis by June 20.

Contributions totaling $100,000 have already been made to the Bishop Tuttle Memorial and Endowment Fund, it was announced last night at a meeting of campaign committees in Hotel Statler. It is hoped to raise $400,000 in St. Louis by June 20, after which a national campaign will be started.

More than 50 Bishops have consented to act as honorary chairmen of the national committees, and others will co-operate with laymen in the active work. Children, as well as men and women, will participate in the campaign, as Bishop Tuttle was known as "The Children's Bishop."

Unidentified Man Found Shot.

A Mexican about 40 years old, whose name has not been learned by the police, was found at noon today with a bullet wound in his right jaw in a hallway adjoining 4216 North Second street. The bullet had passed through his face and his left ear had been lacerated by another bullet. He was taken to city hospital in a serious condition and unable to speak. No one could be found who saw the shooting. Another Mexican, who lives near by, was questioned, but declared he knew nothing of the affair.

EX-SOLDIER, FOUND ON STREET WITH THROAT CUT, DIES

Relatives Believe Patrick H. Walker Was Murdered—Police Theory Is He Slashed Self.

Patrick H. Walker, 32 years old, a World War veteran who was gassed in France, was found on the sidewalk in front of 2523 North Sarah street last night with his throat cut, apparently with a razor. He died without regaining consciousness.

Because no weapon was found, his family believe he was murdered. The police believe he slashed himself in the garage behind his plumbing shop at 2421 North Sarah street, the floor of which was stained.

The garage is also directly behind Walker's home at 4100A St. Ferdinand avenue, where he lived with his mother and sister. He left the house at 7 p. m., announcing he would go alone to a Grand boulevard theater. At 10 p. m. Patrolman William Wolff found him on the sidewalk, recognized him and aided by volunteers carried him home. A physician sent Walker to Missouri Baptist Sanitarium, where he died at 1:50 a. m.

Denmark Signs Liquor Treaty.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Denmark was added today to the countries which have entered into treaties with the United States similar to that made with Great Britain for the purpose of curbing liquor smuggling into the United States. The treaty with Denmark was signed at the State Department and now goes to the Senate for ratification.

pushed out to her. She asked him if that was all he had and he looked around and found a dollar that he had overlooked, but did not say anything about the $1500 in $5 bills in the drawer.

Police Soon in Pursuit.

She walked out and around the corner, letting her mask fall as she went, but had only reached Settles' car when the police siren sounded. Settles noticed the holster and raised the flap.

"It ain't there, it's here," Norma said, as she flashed the weapon from under her coat and pushed it against him and ordered him to drive hard to Hanna City.

There were detours to be made, because of road construction, and optional routes to be taken. Norma directed him which roads to take. Probably 14 miles were covered, with several machines, in one of which was Settles' father, in pursuit.

Norma directed Settles to the home of Richard Manuel, a friend. He helped her to the door with the baby and bundle and she paid him with $5 from her loot and dismissed him.

Driver Soon Meets His Father.

He headed back the way he had come and soon met his father and Deputy Sheriff Bert Lane and the other pursuers and guided them to the Manuel home, where Norma was found and, after a struggle, arrested. The bag of money and revolver were lying on a bed. When the money was counted, however, only $998 was found. Later, when Norma was searched by a woman, $165 was found in her clothing.

Neither when Norma was arrested not later did she break down, maintaining a hardened front throughout. After she had waived preliminary hearing and had been bound over to the grand jury she said she did not want to be bailed out, but her father is making arrangements to do so.

Levi Anderson, respected by his neighbors, is at a loss to account for his daughter's escapade. He says her reading has been confined to library books and has not differed from that of other members of the family, and that her interest in the movies has not been inordinate and has not centered noticeably in "western stuff."

Silent as to Father of Child.

After her arrest Norma, in giving data to officials, said she was married two and a half years ago in Iowa and deserted by her husband, but refused to give his name. She has never revealed the name of the father of her child.

When she was arrested she had only the one weapon, but said that she carried two when she robbed the bank. The automatic, she said, she threw away in her flight because it "worked too easy" and she was afraid to handle it.

All things considered, Dave Settles, at whose back the girl held the revolver during the 14-mile flight, is glad that she did not have the automatic in her hand.

Sheriff Kennedy expects, with the arrest of Norma's supposed accomplices, to clear up other crimes in the county, but there is nothing to show that the girl has been connected with any of them.

ST. LOUIS YOUTH GETS LIFE TERM FOR MURDER

Martin Woehler Convicted in Michigan in Third Trial for Killing Theater Manager.

Martin Woehler, 20 years old, of 5117 McKissock avenue, St. Louis, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the Michigan penitentiary at Jackson, following his conviction by a jury which tried him in Lansing, the State capital, for the murder of Peter Hall, a theater manager of that city.

The trial, ending yesterday, was the third which Woehler has had on the charge. Two women were on the jury. The first and second juries, which disagreed, were composed wholly of men.

Woehler and his cousin, William Baumgardner, a former convict, went to Michigan in an automobile shortly before last Christmas, and on the night of Dec. 23, Baumgardner, in an attempted robbery in the theater lobby at Lansing, shot and killed the manager. Baumgardner fled a short distance into the country and killed himself. Woehler denied having had part in the robbery, and aroused sufficient doubt to affect some members of the first two juries.

Mellon Supported Blair.

"They wanted to go right into the prohibition unit and get Blair out, but Secretary Mellon stood back of him," he said. "Smith said that if they could show Blair and Haynes incompetent they could be forced out and that they could name new men. Then, he said, they could control the whisky situation."

There were carloads of whisky permit forms stolen at a time," Means went on. "Oscar Cummins said that Sexsmith got them," he said.

"Who's that?" asked Wheeler.

"Sexsmith is Mr. Mellon's right-hand man."

Means said that in September, 1922, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney-General in charge of prohibition, had information that $41,500,000 worth of whisky had been illegally taken from the Guckenheim distillery at Freeport, Pa.

Officials In on Graft.

"I met Fargus and Brown," Means said, "who owned the distillery. I was offered $25,000. I brought the forged permits which released the whisky from the distillery to Mrs. Willebrandt. Government officials were in on the graft. The lead went up to the highest officials of this Government, because the Mellon line of banks held the paper on the whisky and nobody knows the value of whisky so well as Secretary Mellon.

"That's the real thing in this bootlegging business; there's nothing in prosecuting the lower elements, strike at the top."

"Where are your reports on this?" Wheeler asked.

"They are in those papers that disappeared while Mr. Todd, the special assistant Attorney-General, had six men following me."

Investigated Oil Matter.

Senator Wheeler then asked Means if he had anything to do with oil.

"I did. The Department of Justice assigned me to investigate some oil matters in February, 1922," said Means.

He went on to say that Richard Cole, an oil man, came to Washington and entertained a number of Senators. Asked if Cole was attorney for Estaban Cantu, who was planning a revolution in Lower California, Mexico, he replied:

"He was more a promoter. He had a lot of correspondence with the Association for Protection of American Rights in Mexico. That body had no other purpose than to create agitation, and if necessary, revolution, in Mexico."

Means named E. L. Doheny and "Martin Egan, J. Pierpont Morgan's confidential man," as officers of the association.

"You worked for Morgan, too?" Senator Wheeler put in.

Had "Run-In" With Morgan.

"I had a run in with him," Means replied.

The association, he said, "employs ministers, teachers, anybody in order to help lead the masses astray."

Means said he was suspended from the Department of Justice staff just at the time he was investigating the association.

"Regardelss of that suspension, I never left the Department of Justice," he went on. "I was right there, the same as ever."

"That means you were making reports to them right along?" asked George E. Chamberlain, counsel for Daugherty.

"Yes, lots of them," Means said, "made them on the bread price investigation."

Congressmen Under Surveillance.

"During the impeachment proceedings in the House against Mr. Daugherty, weren't you working for W. J. Burns?" Wheeler asked.

"I was," Means said. "The night the charges were drawn up by that crowd in the House, I had them under surveillance. I walked into a room of the Department of Justice where Paul Howland, Daugherty's attorney, was, and handed him a copy of the charge they drew up. I also had five bootleggers in the car—bootleggers I was roping in—which took me to the Department of Justice. That was the first time I ever saw Mr. Howland."

Howland, who was sitting at the committee table, asked permission to read an extract from the Senate hearings March 13, in which, he said, Means testified he "never saw Mr. Howland before."

Means examined the record, and Senator Ashurst (Dem.), Arizona, suggested that there was "an obscurity and an ambiguity" in it. Means said he was referring to Jess Smith.

"What do you swear to now?" Ashurst asked.

"I handed Howland the charges," said Means. "I'd seen Mr. Howland many times."

Labor Crowd Helped Kellar.

W. J. Burns, W. F. Martin, secretary to the Attorney-General, and four or five others, were in the room with Howland when Means presented the House charges, the witness asserted.

"I reported on the House impeachment proceedings many times prior to the hearings," he said, "to keep in touch with what the labor crowd was doing. They were helping Congressman Kellar, who brought the charges. I went up to Attorney-General Daugherty's apartment and gave reports to Jess Smith."

Moses' Conferences Reported.

Means joked with Senator Moses (Rep.), New Hampshire, about the latter's interest in seeking to get war fraud investigations.

"Oh, I know about it," Moses told him. "Every time I had a conference in my office you reported it down there."

"Certainly I did," Means returned.

"That's why Senator Moses didn't get any appointments at the Department of Justice," said Wheeler.

"Well, Jess Smith thought Senator Moses was quite a progressive," said Means.

The committee prosecutor asked Means what he knew about the Dempsey-Carpentier fight films.

"I talked to John W. H. Crim, Assistant Attorney-General, about that," the witness said. "Crim said it was an outrage that these people could get away with that. I asked him why he didn't get an injunction, and he said he didn't want to tackle too much."

Means described Alfred Urion, attorney for the fight film distributors, as an old-time associate of Daugherty, and "a light-stepping bird around the courts."

FRANK TINNEY KNOCKED HER COLD, GIRL SAYS

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Frank Tinney, probably the best-known black-face comedian in this country, was taken from his home at Baldwin, L. I., early today at the request of the police of this city and lodged in the quarters of Sheriff Phillips in the Nassau County jail at Mineola. Today Tinney was brought to New York.

Tinney was taken following an allnight search for his in this city by detectives after Imogene Wilson Ziegfeld "Follies" chorus girl, had refused a warrant for the comedian's arrest by Magistrate McAndrews in West Side Court yesterday afternoon.

It was Miss Wilson—known as "Bubbles"—who, in a "suicide" note, wrote that she loved a comedian so fervently she could stand life no longer. But instead of poison tablets she took only sugar-coated pills in her West Seventy-second street apartment Sunday night, and did not die.

Miss Wilson told the Magistrate that Tinney had beaten her in her apartment. She said she was being interviewed by a newspaper reporter who was to write the stereotyped story of the little butterfly who came to Broadway. Tinney, she said, accused her of having mentioned him to the newspaper man as "one of her lovers." When the newspaper man left, Tinney beat her, she said, until she ran out of the house. When she appeared before the Magistrate, Miss Wilson's curls were hidden in bandages.

Advised to Get Detective.

She said she wanted to make a charge of felonious assault. The Court advised her to get a detective to arrest Tinney. She went to the West Sixty-eighth street police station and there made her complaint to Detective Tierney. With him she went about Broadway for hours, looking for Tinney.

Tinney, since the close of the Music Box Revue, where he was a headliner, had been fishing at his home at Baldwin, L. I. He is married and has a 6-year-old son.

During a hilarious party in her apartment, Miss Wilson told her friends she was going to kill herself because she loved a black-face comedian. She went into her room. Her shrieks brought in her friends, somewhat sobered. She said she had taken poison tablets. They called the police and an ambulance. The ambulance surgeon said the "poison" was nothing more harmful than sugar pills. Then the gay friends staged a mock funeral service. On her table Miss Wilson left her good-by note.

She told the police Tinney struck her first when she ran to kiss him.

"He knocked me cold," she said.

Negro Maid Chastised.

Miss Wilson said Tinney had chastised her negro maid also. The negress appeared in court with bandages.

"Frank has been insanely jealous of me,' Miss Wilson said. "He has had detectives follow me. Of course I love him. I'm crazy about him, but now I'm through. I'll never speak to him again."

Tinney was arraigned in West Side Court today on a short affidavit charging suspicion of assault and held in $2500 bail. Magistrate Goodman asked the comedian if he was married.

"Very much, your Honor," Tinney replied.

He will be given a hearing Saturday, the day he contemplated sailing for Europe.

TWO BROTHERS ARRESTED AFTER KROGER STORE HOLDUP

Manager Identifies Prisoners as Robbers Who Obtained About $100 at 12:45 P. m.

Fifteen minutes after two men held up the manager of a Kroger grocery at 1733 South Ninth street, at 12:45 p. m. today, taking about $100 from the cash register, the alleged robbers were arrested at Tenth street and Park avenue.

Policemen led byl Capt. Kirk, who responded to the call of the manager, Robert R. Greene, began to circle the neighborhood in an automobile. As Capt. Kirk ran after the pair made prisoners one reached for a hip pocket, as though for a weapon. The Captain drew his revolver and the man said: "Don't shoot, mister; it's only whisky," which proved true.

Greene identified the men, who said they were brothers, as the robbers, Capt. Kirk announced. They had in their pockets about $190 Which Greene said was in about the same denominations as that stolen. The men said they were Ralph Hendrix, 2 years old, and Melvin Hendrix, 20, of 2609A Slattery street. Ralph had in his coat pocket a pair of pliers which evidently formed a bulge which Greene had mistaken for a revolver.

Melvin Hendrix, on Dec. 28, 1922, shot and killed Vincent T. Richardson, 17, in a quarrel outside a moving picture theater, which arose over a remark by the latter concerning a girl accompanying Hendrix. It was shown Richardson was the aggressor an dthe grand jury returned a "not true" bill.

PRESBYTERIANS SEEK TO END FOSDICK CASE

General Assembly Calls on Him to Accept Doctrines and Join Church.

By the Associated Press.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 29. —Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick, a Baptist clergyman, who has been accused of preaching doctrines contrary to the Presbyterian faith from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church, New York, has been invited by the Presbyterian General Assembly to join the Presbyterian Church.

The general assembly, sitting as a high court, yesterday directed the New York Presbytery to ask Dr. Fosdick, for five years a "special" pastor at the First Church, New York, to unite with the Presbyterians, accept the prescribed doctrines of faith and thus terminate a situation which, the assembly voted, has been the source of "serious disturbance."

The existing situation, the assembly said, in adopting the report of its judicial commission, "cannot continue longer." Dr. Fosdick should be asked to establish a "regular relationship" with the denomination, the report said, or his connection with the First Church should be terminated.

The assembly's action was regarded as a victory for the group which sought harmony above a victory for either Fundamentalists or Modernists.

Dr. Kyle Defeated for Moderator of United Presbyterians.

By the Associated Press.

RICHMOND, Ind., May 29.—Dr. Charles H. Robinson, pastor of First Church, Wheeling, W. Va., was elected moderator of the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church of North America at the opening session here last night. He succeeds Dr. W. M. Sawhill of Seattle, Wash. This is the third time in the history of the church that a son has followed in the footsteps of his father in being elected to the post. Dr. Robinson defeated Dr. M. G. Kyle, president of Xenia Theological Seminary, St. Louis.

BLIND NEGRO CONVICT TO BE FREED; HAS SERVED 17 YEARS

Is Third Oldest Prisoner in Time Served, Having Been Sentenced to 50 Years.

By the Associated Press.

JEFFERSON CITY, May 29.—Henry Porter, blind negro convict, the third oldest prisoner in the Missouri penitentiary in point of time served, will be released tomorrow under a commutation of sentence issued late yesterday from the Governor's office. He has served a few days more than 16 years and 11 months of a 50-year sentence for murder.

Porter was convicted of murder in Kansas City and began serving his sentence on June 19, 1907. He lost his sight about a year ago, due to the effects of a disease, and in recent months has been led about the prison by fellow convicts.

Constipation is ruinous to children—keep yours healthy with Kellogg's Bran

Constipation undermines a child's health. It saps his energy and makes him listless. It can lead to more than 40 other serious diseases. Mothers should take immediate steps to remove, safely and surely, the dangerous poisons from his system.

Kellogg's Bran—because it is ALL bran—brings permanent relief. Nothing but ALL bran can be 100 per cent effective. That is why Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is universally recommended by doctors. They know it brings results.

If eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to give permanent relief in the most chronic cases of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Kellogg's Bran acts on the intestines exactly as nature acts. It sweeps and cleans and purifies them. It makes them function naturally and regularly. It allows you to discontinue forever the use of harmful, habit-forming drugs and pills.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is a delightful surprise to the taste—particularly if one has tried ordinary unpalatable brans. Kellogg's Bran has a delicious, crisp, nut-like flavor—an exclusive flavor. It is most enjoyable with milk or cream, sprinkled over other cereals or cooked with hot cereals. Try it in bread, muffins, griddle cakes and other recipes given on every package.

Have your children eat it regularly—two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Kellogg's Bran is made at Battle Creek and sold at all grocers. It is served in individual packages by the leading hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant.

Your itching skin is but a symptom

Below the surface is the irritation this simple treatment reaches

FIFTEEN minutes, perhaps less, and that maddening itch will be relieved. Yet this startling fact—in itself one of the most remarkable qualities of Resinol—is but an indication of its real healing properties.

Deep down beneath the irritation, where many salves and remedies fail even to reach, lies the real cause of that rash, eczema or other skin disorder. The most strenuous treatment, if only surface treatment, is often ineffective.

To reach these deep-seated causes of irritation—to cleanse the pores, kill germs, and start the skin again acting normally—physicians have for twenty-eight years been prescribing Resinol Ointment.

If you have today any spot, rash or irritation on your skin, apply Resinol. Spread a coating on the affected surface and smooth it in very gently with the fingers. One application will, in many cases, stop the itching completely. Resinol is absolutely harmless. It will not irritate the delicate texture of an infant's skin, or even raw exposed flesh. It does not deteriorate or lose its effectiveness with time.

Get a jar of this soothing, healing ointment at your druggist's today, or send for a free trial sample to Dept. 27, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

CITY URGED TO BUILD ITS OWN POWER PLANT

David Larkin's Proposal Includes Lighting Streets and Heating and Lighting Municipal Buildings.

A report recommending the city build and operate a power plant to light the streets and heat and light the downtown group of municipal buildings, has been prepared by David Larkin, consulting engineer, of 424 North Third street, and submitted to the Aldermanic Public Utilities Committee.

Larkin was employed to make the report by the joint Board of Engineers' Association, and based his calculations on the design for a power plant and service building for which $1,000,000 was voted in the $87,000,000 bond issue.

He reports that for an initial investment of $700,000 the city can build a power plant producing 14,000,000 kilowatt hours of electrical energy annually, which would be sufficient to light all streets and furnish heat and power for municipal buildings downtown. He adds that the annual operating cost, including fixed charges on investment, would amount to only $276,750.

Two Other Engineers Opposed.

Larkin's report opposes recommendations of Kurt Toensfeldt, mechanical engineer of the Department of Public Utilities, and John J. Lichter, consulting engineer of the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee, who reported it would be cheaper to purchase power for lighting purposes than to generate current at a municipal plant. Their reports did not embrace street lighting, as the bond issue proposed to light only the municipal group of buildings downtown.

The reports of Lichter and Toensfeldt recommend that the City Hospital be heated from the new power plant by the laying of a 10-inch steam pipe line from the proposed site of the power plant at Twelfth street and Clark avenue to the City Hospital. Lichter estimated the cost of the line at $150,000. Larkin reports that the cost of a steam line of this type would be $170,000.

Lichter estimated the annual cost of operating the City Hospital plant, if the steam line is laid, at $64,170 annually, which would be a reduction of $8690 in the annual charge of operating the plant, based on costs for the fiscal year 1922-23.

Findings in Hospital Plant.

Larkin recommends that the city hospital plant be continued as an isolated plant. He states that the Comptroller's records show that only $37,000 was expended for coal for the city hospital plant last year, while the figures upon which Toensfeldt's calculation of cost are based was on an expenditure of $51,000 for coal. Larkin reports that an actual test of the boiler plant at the city hospital showed it to be 67 per cent efficient, whereas only 50 per cent is allowed in Toensfeldt's report in estimating the comparative cost of supplying the heat for the hospital from the new plant by a steam line or by generating the steam in the hospital plant.

Larkin's report estimates the cost of the operation of the city hospital plant, as recommended by Toensfeldt and Lichter, would amount to $87,851 annually and that the present plant can be operated without being remodeled for $66,922, and if $30,000 be expended for improvements the present plant efficiency can be increased to the point that it can be operated for $63,611 annually, a saving of $24,240 over the plan proposed by the other engineers.

In addition to his contention that to shut down the city hospital plant would cause an economic loss, Larkin's report points out that the steam line from the proposed plant to the city hospital, a distance of about a mile, must run under city streets and over a bridge crossing the railroad yards. He states that breaks in such a line are bound to occur, as they occur in the water and sewage lines, which would shut off the heat until the break is repaired. As an institution like the city hospital cannot be left without heat for long it would become necessary to start the boilers at the hospital plant, which would take two to four hours, even with an experienced crew, the report states.

View of Street Lighting.

In conclusion, Larkin states: "The city can and should generate power for its street lights. By doing this the load factor of the station could be raised to at least 60 per cent and the saving would become increasingly greater as the heating and power load of the plaza group increased. The amount of lighting load could be balanced from year to year, according to the day load increase, until ultimately when the entire plaza group is built, the whole lighting load is carried on the city station."

Another point Larkin's report raises against the plan of purchasing power is that the rates quoted are not permanent and may be changed at any time upon application to the Public Service Commission.

The rates as at present constituted are not fixed, but vary according to the price of coal and labor.

Oriental Love Dreams—Fox Trot with vocal refrain My Daddy's Dreamtime Lullaby—Fox Trot with vocal refrain	Coon-Sanders Original Night Hawk Orchestra	19325	.75

Lively fox trots. The first number though snappy in style, has some subdued saxophone melodies. The second syncopates remotely on Schumann's "Traumerei" and "In the Gloaming." The records clearly show why this organization has made such a hit with the dance fans.

		DOUBLE-FACED Number	List Price
Wait'll You See My Gal—Fox Trot Eileen—Fox Trot	The Benson Orchestra of Chicago Jean Goldkette and His Orchestra	19327	.75

What Is Neuritis?

Neuritis is an inflammation of the nerves that produces sharp, darting pain very similar to that of rheumatism. In fact, the disease is often mistaken for rheumatism and treated as such, with the result that the sufferer gets no lasting benefit.

Neuritis is usually brought on by colds, injuries, bruises, nervous exhaustion, malarial poisoning or infectious diseases. The pain may be confined to one spot or it may move from place to place. Sometimes it is accompanied by soreness in the muscles, numbness in the hands or feet, lame back, stiff joints, eye strain or severe headaches.

The only way to obtain permanent, lasting relief is to heal the affected nerves—get rid of the inflammation. Espa Neuritis Tablets are compounded for that very purpose. Harmless, pleasant and effective. A trial package will convince you. Price $1.00.

Tobin Hits and Scores; Voigt's Wildness Gives Tigers Pair

By J. Roy Stockton,
Of the Post-Dispatch Sport Staff.

DETROIT, May 29.—Olin Voigt pitched against Detroit this afternoon in the final game of the Browns' long road campaign. Whitehill, a left-hander, hurled for the Tigers, and Ellerbe played third base for St. Louis.

Coach Jimmy Austin left the squad last night to attend the funeral of Carl Wellman at Hamilton, O.

Pat Collins is suffering from a boil on his right hand and was not in uniform today. The day was cold, holding the attendance to 5000.

The game:

FIRST INNING.

BROWNS—Tobin singled to left. Ellerbe bunted and Tobin beat Bassler's throw to second. Ellerbe was credited with a sacrifice. Sisler sacrificed, Haney to Pratt. Tobin scored on Williams' sacrifice foul to Blue near the right field pavilion. When Bassler fumbled Blue's throw-in, Ellerbe tried to score, but was out, Whitehill to Bassler. ONE RUN.

DETROIT—Ellerbe tossed out Haney. Ellerbe went back for a good catch of Cobb's foul. Fothergill smashed a single off Voigt's leg. Fothergill went to second on a wild pitch. Heilmann walked. Pratt singled to right, scoring Fothergill, Heilmann stopping at second. Voigt deflected Rigney's smash out of Gerber's reach and it went for a single, scoring Heilmann. Pratt tried to go to third and was out, Williams to Ellerbe. TWO RUNS.

SECOND INNING.

BROWNS—Jacobson singled to left. McMillan bunted safely. After twice bunting foul, Severeid hit to left for two bases, scoring Jacobson and McMillan. Gerber bunted safely, Severeid taking third. Whitehill tossed out Voigt. Tobin hit to Pratt and Severeid was out at the plate, Pratt to Bassler. Tobin drew a throw from Whitehill and Gerber stole home. Tobin stole second. Ellerbee beat out a grounder to Rigney, Tobin taking third. On an attempted double steal, Tobin was out at the plate. Whitehill to Bassler. THREE RUNS.

Epinard Beaten In Handicap Race

French Four-Year-Old Finishes Length Behind Premontre.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 29.—Epinard, crack French four-year-old, was beaten at the Lonchamps race track this afternoon on his first appearance since his defeat by Sir Galahad III last week.

Count De La Cinera's Premontre won the race, with Epinard second and Optimist third. A half length separated first and second horses and Optimist was two lengths behind Epinard.

Epinard, with Everett Haynes, who rode him against Capt. J. D. Cohn's Sir Galahad III in the match race at St. Cloud, May 19, again up, and carrying 135 pounds was a joint favorite with Optimist, carrying 115 pounds, one of the most popular choices for the French Grand Prix, who belongs to J. L. Replogle of New York.

The race was the fourth on the program, a handicap of one mile and a furlong. Pierre Wertheimer's horse was pitted against a number of older entries such as five-year-olds Almaviva and Spanish Flu, carrying 135 and 122 pounds, respectively.

Gonzales Is Injured.

Mike Gonzales, who has been catching great ball for the Cardinals, as well as hitting in timely fashion, probably will be lost for a few days. Gonzales pulled up with a "charley horse" in scoring in the seventh round of the opener and was forced to retire. Niebergall, Vick and Holm will do the receiving while he is out.

U. S. Soccer Team Is Defeated by Uruguay, 3 to 0

South Americans Score All Their Goals in First Half in Olympic Match.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 29.—The American Olympic soccer football team today was defeated, 3 to 0, by the Uruguayan team and thereby eliminated from further competition for the Olympic title.

All the scoring took place in the first half, the first Uruguayan tally crossing the American goal after 9 minutes of play and the second 5 minutes later.

The Bergeyre Stadium was filled by a crowd of 20,000 persons, a record thus far for the 1924 games. The Americans' entrance was greeted by mild applause compared with the deafening cheering which greeted the South Americans.

Beautiful Passing Game.

Despite the heroic defensive work of the United States team, two goals were scored early. The Uruguayans played a beautiful passing game but were somewhat weak in translating their work into successful goals. The third goal was scored just one minute before half time.

Previously the Uruguayans had missed many opportunities directly in front of the United States goal.

The Uruguayans attacked immediately after the Americans kicked off, and a moment later had the ball in front of the United States' goal, but Davis saved it and the Americans took it up the field. The Uruguayans, however, broke the attack and then for 10 consecutive minutes peppered shot after shot at Douglas who stopped everything coming his way, playing a whale of a game.

The United States players ran a few spasmodic attacks down toward the Uruguayan goal but the Uruguayans were playing a cool steady game and were never really threatened.

Rules Announced For Gibbons and Carpentier Bout

Referee Dickerson Says He Will Count When Foul Is Claimed.

By the Associated Press.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., May 29.—Their heavy training programs ended, Georges Carpentier and Tom Gibbons planned to take only light workouts, perhaps final, today in preparation for their ten-round bout here Saturday afternoon.

Gibbons finished his boxing yesterday and will not pull the gloves on again until he faces his French opponent.

The workout of the St. Paul light-heavyweight was the stiffest of his training grind. He stepped ten full rounds and finished fast, breathing no harder than usual. Gibbons stayed on his toes the entire time and did not let his heels sag during the minute intervals between sessions. He boxed two rounds with each of his five sparring partners. Slipping punches, allowing them to fall harmlessly on his shoulders and arms, Gibbons looked like he would be a hard target for the Frenchman to hit. The trainers of the St. Paul boxer says he has shown flashes of temper, and that he becomes irritated quickly, indicating to them he is on edge.

Carpentier Drawn Fine.

Critics believe that Gibbons is not drawn as fine as the Frenchman, however. They say both are at the danger point but that Gibbons' condition could be a bit finer and that Carpentier may be too finely conditioned.

Gibbons has convinced his admirers that he intends to meet Carpentier at close range for the first four or five rounds, always watching for the Frenchman's dangerous right hand. If he succeeds in evading it, Gibbons intends, his admirers say, to make a long range contest of it and pick the Frenchman to pieces after he has tired him.

Emerson W. Dickerson of Grand Rapids, Mich., referee of the contest, meets Carpentier and Gibbons and their managers today for a conference over rules. Straight rules will prevail, Dickerson said, and both boxers must protect themselves until ordered to break. The rabbit, kidney and the pivot blows will not be permitted. Neither will the boxers be allowed to hit in the breakaway. In the event of a knockdown, the boxer scoring it must retire to a neutral corner before the count will be started.

Arena Covers Six Acres.

Referee Dickerson said that should a foul be claimed he would count ten over the fallen boxer and then call a physician into the ring to make an examination. If the examination reveals injury the contest would be awarded to the fouled boxer, but if the physician ruled otherwise he would award the contest on a knockout.

A force of 100 carpenters today were putting the finishing touches on the arena which will have a seating capacity of 40,000. The big bowl, painted a circus blue from rim to rim, is in an amphitheater scooped out of a huge sand dune. It covers six acres and is a mile from the center of the town. The diameter of the arena is 346 feet and the rim is 32 feet, six inches higher than the center. It is regarded as one of the finest and most picturesque in America.

Cardinals Since May 9 Have Outplayed All Teams In Heydler Organization

Club Won 12 Games and Dropped but Six for Winning Mark of .667—Aggregation, Now in Sixth Place, Is Only Five Games Out of Lead.

By Herman Wecke,

When the Cardinals started their at-home stand against the New York Giants, May 9, the club was in last place, eight and one-half games behind the Giants. However, as a result of 12 victories against six defeats, a winning percentage of .667, the Rickeymen now are sixth, but five full games removed from the lead.

In gaining 12 decisions in 18 starts, the Knot Holers tacked 194 points to their percentage of May 9, and showed the greatest gain made by any team in the Heydler circuit in that time. During the stand at Sportsman's Park, the locals had a better average than any club in the league, as the Cubs with 10—6 were next in line. In the same time the Giants won eight and dropped nine. The Braves with 8—6 were the only other club besides the Cardinals and Cubs over the .500 mark for the stretch since May 9.

Battling on the home lot, the Cardinals captured four out of five series. They stopped McGraw's men four straight; won two in a row from the Braves; two out of three from the Phillies and three out of five from the Reds. Only in the clashes with he Dodgers did Rickey's clan falter, dropping three decisions in four starts.

Team Stars on Defense.

One of the real features of the team's at-home stand was the improved defensive play. In the 18 battles, the Rickeymen made but 19 errors, just a bit more than one a game, and finished with a fielding percentage of .975. In seven of the battles, the Rickeymen went through without a single bobble.

There was nothing wrong with the hitting, as an average of .303 attests. The Athletes made 194 hits in 639 trips to the plate and scored 87 runs.

That the Rickeymen have outplayed all rivals in the National League is evinced by the figures. While the Cardinal standing since May 9 shows a gain of 194 percentage points, the figures on the other teams are as follows: Gains, Chicago 34 points, Boston 72, Phillies 43, Pittsburg 2. Lost—Giants 126, Brooklyn 26 and Reds 170.

There was some good work from the hurlers during the home stand of the Rickeyites. Jess Haines and Eddie Dyer were the leaders, with three victories out of four; Pfeffer and Doak each won one; Stuart copped two out of three; Sothoron won and lost, while Sherdel, although he permitted but five runs in 22 frames, lost two out of three.

Sothoron Hurls Shutout.

Rickey's men closed the home stand yesterday by breaking even with the Reds. Allan Sothoron blanked Hendricks' men with five safeties in the opener, 6 to 0, but Bill Doak, starting his first game of the year, and Eddie Dyer were hit at opportune times in the second and the Reds made off with a 5—3 conquest for Tom Sheehan, the big right-hander.

Sothoron's shutout victory was the first gained by a Cardinal flinger this year. Until the seventh frame the Reds did not make a single hit. Sothoron also helped win his own game when he singled with the bases full to score the first runs of the game battle in the big seventh round.

Pat Duncan's pinch double in the ninth with two runners on the paths beat the Rickeyites in the nightcap.

Today is an open date for the Cardinals. Tomorrow they open a series with the Pirates in Pittsburg.

Two More Reds Are Added to Hospital List by Injuries

Two more Red regulars were added to the club's already large hospital list yesterday. The latest athletes to go out were Jake Daubert and Eddie Roush. Daubert was hit in the head by one of Sothoron's pitched efforts and his injury was diagnosed as a slight concussion of the brain. Roush suffered a leg injury in making a running catch.

As a result, the Reds presented a patched-up lineup. Bressler and Wingo played at first and in the second game Assistant Manager "Greasy" Neale went to left. When he was taken out for a pinch hitter, Pitcher Luque took his place.

Counting Wingo, there were but three real regulars in the Red battle front in the second game. The others were Pinelli and Burns.

though he permitted but five runs in 22 frames, lost two out of three.

Sothoron Hurls Shutout.

Rickey's men closed the home stand yesterday by breaking even with the Reds. Allan Sothoron blanked Hendricks' men with five safeties in the opener, 6 to 0, but Bill Doak, starting his first game of the year, and Eddie Dyer were hit at opportune times in the second and the Reds made off with a 5—3 conquest for Tom Sheehan, the big right-hander.

Sothoron's shutout victory was the first gained by a Cardinal flinger this year. Until the seventh frame the Reds did not make a single hit. Sothoron also helped win his own game when he singled with the bases full to score the first runs of the game battle in the big seventh round.

Pat Duncan's pinch double in the ninth with two runners on the paths beat the Rickeyites in the nightcap.

Today is an open date for the Cardinals. Tomorrow they open a series with the Pirates in Pittsburg.

FOUR AMATEURS QUALIFY FOR NATIONAL OPEN GOLF TOURNAMENT

Eastern Players Lead Westerners In Eliminations

Farrell, With 144, Made at Worcester, Is Low Medalist for Two Groups.

MEHLHORN TOTALS 155

St. Louisan Will Be One of 84 Competing in Final at Detroit Next Week.

By the Associated Press.

WORCESTER, Mass., May 29.—Two young home bred stars—Johnny Farrell of Tuckahoe, N. Y., and Joe Turnesa of Elmsford, N. Y.—have stepped to the front as formidable contenders for the national open golf championship at Detroit next Thursday and Friday.

Farrell yesterday led the Eastern section of the preliminary qualifying field with a brilliant 144 over the Worcester Country Club for the two-day 36-hole contest, a mark that was three strokes ahead of his nearest Eastern rival, Freddy McLeod of Washington, D. C., and four in front of MacDonald Smith of San Francisco, leader of the Western qualifiers at Chicago.

Turnesa flashed into prominence when he turned in the most spectacular bit of play recorded in either tournament with a 69, two under par, for his final round.

These youngsters showed their heels to a star array of Eastern veterans, including many former champions, and the impressiveness with which they did it strengthened the belief that both will be factors at Detroit. Farrell's best work was over the outward nine of his final round, which he shot in 33, two under par, while Turnesa, with the same figure for the last nine holes of his round, was three below par over that stretch.

Guilford Is Only Amateur.

Western and Eastern qualifying fields each produced 42 finalists for the 72-hole championship test. In both instances, also, 158 was the high qualifying tally, but comparison of the two fields showed that the East, with conditions fairly equal, turned in the most brilliant work.

Nine Eastern qualifiers broke 150, while only two, Smith and Emmet French of Youngstown, O., did so at Chicago. Contrary to expectations, however, it was not the East's most colorful stars, such as Joe Kirkwood, Walter Hagen and Gene Sarazen, that set the pace. These cracks were well within the fold, but the chief honors went to others.

McLeod, 1908 champion, came back after having failed to qualify in the open for the past two years, while W. H. Cox, Brooklyn public links "pro" at 148, shared third place with Leo Diegel of Washington, and Jesse Guilford, former amateur champion, and the only amateur to qualify in the East. Turnesa, at 149, was tied with Dave Spittal of Savannah, Ga., the Southeast's hope.

Other notable Eastern qualifiers in the list included Bobby Cruickshank, of Westfield, N. J., in 1923 runner-up to Bobby Jones, Mike Brady of New York, Peter O'Hara of Haworth, N. J., Clarence Hackney of Atlantic City and Jack Forrester of Deal, N. J.

Black Fails to Qualify.

Heading the list at Chicago, MacDonald Smith of San Francisco, California open champion, had 72-76—148, one stroke better than Emmett French of Youngstown, O. Only three amateurs, Chick Evans, Dave Herron and A. B. Sweet of Chicago, got into the championship and all barely squeezed in among the 158 scorers.

There were few upsets, probably the most notable being the failure of Jack Burke of St. Paul to do better than 160. Among those who lacked only one stroke of qualifying were Alex Ross of Detroit, open champion in 1906; Ira Couch, Chicago, Western junior champion, and John Black of Wichita, Kas., who, with Bobby Jones, came within a stroke of tying Gene Sarazen for the open title at Skokie two years ago.

Melhorn Qualifies With 155.

William Melhorn, the North Hills Club professional, the only St. Louisan competing, qualified in Chicago with a 155 total for the two rounds. He played consistently, getting 78 for the first 18 holes and cutting one stroke off this total for his second round.

John Rogers of Dayton, O., not only qualified well up in the list with 153, but established himself as the longest driver in the Middle West. On the 580-yard sixteenth hole, Rogers on Tuesday reached the edge of the green in two terrific wallops and holed a long putt for an "eagle" three. Yesterday he again fetched the green in two shots but required two putts for a birdie four.

The survivors were distributed geographically as follows: Illinois, 13 (10 from Chicago); Ohio, 10; Michigan, 6; California, 5; Tennessee, 2; Canada, 2; and one each from Missouri, Wisconsin, Kansas and Minnesota.

Girl Athletes Mourn Loss of Trip to Kansas

Pacific (Mo.) High School Team Was Ready to Board Train.

Six young girls, students attending the Pacific, Mo., and University City High schools, are mourning today a mischance which deprived the girls of a trip to Lawrence, Kan., where they were to have competed in what they were told was the Western tryouts for the Olympic games, both for men and women.

Their entries were in, their transportation arranged and the squad, in charge of Principal Leevy of the Pacific, Mo., High School, was to have departed for Kansas University, Lawrence, Kan.

An then the fun began.

At 8 o'clock last night Coach "Fog" Allen, Director of Athletes at Kansas University and in charge of the Olympic tryouts (for men only) scheduled at Lawrence, Kan., called the sports editor of the Post-Dispatch by long distance. In substance he said: "See if you can head off a squad of young girls who are coming here to compete in the Western Olympic tryout for women.

"There are no sectional tryouts for women. A mistake has been made and we want to save the girls a trip and some expense. We have been unable to reach any A. A. U. official in authority." Lacy was out of the city yesterday.

The names of the girls entered were given by Coach Allen as follows: Irene McGuire, Anna McGuire, Katherine McGuire, Gladys Maher, Margaret Buemer and Violet Browning.

These girls have all achieved reputations in local athletic meets and most of them were readily identified as belonging to the Pacific High School girls team which has been winning many local track and field championships. Miss Browning is from University City High School.

Principal Leevy of the Pacific High School was notified and he at once called off the trip.

President Lacy said this morning that the tryouts had been scheduled for the Lawrence Stadium but that because of a small entry the event had been cancelled. He said that it is now planned to dispense with the sectional trials and hold a national meet at Boston next month. Professor Leevy said that he would send the Pacific High team to the national meet.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Everything Goes.

IF Georges Carpentier defeats Tom Gibbons by a knockout or by a convincing margin at Michigan City, Saturday, those gentlemen who risk the family plate on past performance may as well slip themselves a little hydrocyanic acid in lieu of a morning's morning.

If the Frenchman wins, there IS no FORM!

Everything in the record book points to a defeat for the Frenchman. Gibbons has never been knocked out—or even knocked down, so his manager harps; while Carpentier has been flattened several times.

Tom lasted fifteen rounds against the redoubtable Jack Dempsey, where Carpentier failed to survive four. Georges lacks most of the requisites of boxing defense, where Gibbons is a master. Carpentier's only offense is a right-hand lead—one of the most dangerous of all forms of attack—to the attacker. Gibbons, on the contrary, is a left-hander, but can use both hands well.

If Gibbons is beaten the boys who swear by the book and who like to think that science conquers sheer power, are doomed to everlasting despair. Gibbons is a master of craft; Carpentier is master of one punch.

Carpentier a Puzzle.

A CORRESPONDENT inquires how many times Carpentier has been knocked out. That is rather difficult to answer because of the circumstances attending some of his defeats. Two impending knockouts were converted into mere defeats by Manager Descamps to save his man the K. O. in his record. These were bouts with Billy Papke and Frank Klaus, American middleweights, who badly punished Georges.

Another bout, described as "lost," was really a kayo by an American negro, Dixie Kid. The Carpentier knockouts actually recognized by the boxing guide are the following:

1909, by "Gloria," in six rounds.

1921, by Jack Dempsey, in four rounds.

1922, by Battling Siki, in six rounds.

In this country Carpentier would, in all probability be on record as having been knocked out six times, three complete and three technical.

Great, Even in Defeat.

IT is not the record of a world-beater. Yet, with it all, there is something fascinating about the career and the personality of this colorful character.

For one thing he rises above defeats and knockouts and remains a drawing card in two continents.

For another, there is always a possible victory in that potent right arm, the arm that sent Dempsey staggering back toward defeat in the second round of the battle of Boyle's thirty acres. That arm alone mastered Europe and all its heavyweights.

The Champion Comeback

FROM the time he was a bantam Carpentier has been one of the rare specimens who come back victorious after defeat. As a bantam Gloria knocked him out; but he knocked out Gloria.

As a welterweight, Dixie Kid trimmed him; but next year he beat Willie Lewis, a better man than Dixie ever was rated.

As a middleweight Papke and Klaus trimmed him, but he came back with a bang when he floored Gunboat Smith and then won on a foul—and Smith was America's best light-heavyweight.

Then Joe Jeannette outpointed him; but he regained his prestige when he knocked out Battling Levinsky, one of the shiftiest heavyweights since Jim Corbett retired.

Since that time Dempsey and Battling Siki knocked him out; but to show that the winning spirit was still with him, he later flattened Ted Lewis, George Cook, Marcel Nilles, Joe Beckett and Arthur Townley.

Who will say, then, that this resilient fighter has reached the end of the string?

Not guilty, Your Honor! But we do say that if there is anything in "form," Carpentier will pull no comebacks at the expense of either Tom Gibbons or Jack Dempsey. There are things beyond even Carpentier's wonderful "combactivity"—to coin a word.

He's Out of Luck.

ANOTHER thing that is against Georges—he's a foreigner battling a native son and a very popular native son. He is exhibiting under the supervision of an American referee; and the crowd that surrounds the ring will hardly be cheering for a "frog" victory. Carpentier will have the crowd's good will up to a certain point—then it will be for a Gibbon's victory. But, with the best of intentions, the referee is bound to favor the American if a choice develops. Consciously or unconsciously Gibbons will get the breaks.

And from what we saw at Shelby, if Gibbons is as fearful of Carpentier's right as he was of Dempsey's left, the referee will have to confer with himself on more than one occasion, Saturday.

Referee Important Factor.

AT Shelby all the "fouls" were charged to Dempsey by the crowd of Gibbons partisans. But as a matter of fact under ordinary conditions the referee would have cautioned Gibbons first and then disqualified him for refusing to obey his clinching and holding commands.

Referee Emerson Dickerson, who handles the Carpentier bout, is an old hand at the game; but he is inclined to let men muddle along committing minor fouls without interference. He overlooked at least ten committed by Homer Smith at Omaha when Smith lasted 10 rounds with Firpo. Smith went down without being hit repeatedly, and should have been disqualified as early as the fourth round.

If Dickerson referees the same sort of fight at Michigan City, Carpentier will have no chance against the crafty, tricky, experienced Gibbons.

Eight Wrestling Champions Named

American Olympic Team Selected—123 Men Competed.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Eight national amateur wrestling champions were crowned in Madison Square Garden last night after a two-day tournament in which 123 sectional winners competed. The winners in all classes, except the 112-pound which is not on the Olympic program, will be officially named as members of the American Olympic team.

The Pacific Coast claimed three, the Middle West two and the East three of the champions. Four are college men. Two 1923 champions retained their titles. The winners are:

Robert Rowsey, Gary, Ind., 1923 champion, 112-pound class; Bryan Hihes, Northwestern University, 123-pound class; Robin Reed, Oregon Agricultural College, 134-pound class; Russell Vis, Los Angeles, 1923 champion, 145-pound class; Perry Martter, Los Angeles, 158-pound class; W. D. Wright, Cornell University, 174-pound class; C. W. Strack, Colgate University, 191-pound class; R. L. Flanders, Northfield, Vermont, heavyweight class.

Defeated finalists did not win a place on the Olympic team or an A. A. U. prize. Instead, all contestants who lost to the champion in each class will wrestle again tomorrow afternoon. Second and third A. A. U. medals will be awarded and the Olympic Selection Committee guided by the results of these bouts. All wrestlers who lost to any but the champions were eliminated.

Young Stribling Wins.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29.—Young Stribling of Macon, Ga., was given the referee's decision over Ray Neuman of Jersey City in a 12-round bout here last night. Neuman was outpointed in every round. Stribling weighed in at 168½ and Neuman 171 pounds.

DE FOREST FAVORS GIBBONS

CARPENTIER NOT STURDY ENOUGH

By Jimmy De Forest

Former Trainer of World's Champion Dempsey.

(Copyright, 1924.)

NEW YORK, May 29.—Tom Gibbons ought to beat Georges Carpentier when they meet Saturday afternoon in the ring at Michigan City, Ind. It is difficult to say how quickly Tom should win, for he never has been a quick finisher. Indeed, he is something of a slow starter.

With Carpentier it is just the other way round. Georges is a remarkably fast starter, a speedy finisher, but it is certain that he lacks the ruggedness and stamina necessary to cope with Gibbons.

If there is anything spectacular to the bout it will be done by Carpentier. Gibbons is a methodical battler, not brilliant by any means, but he possesses a terrific left hand body punch and if he uses it he should soon wear down the Frenchman.

Not An Accurate Hitter.

It would not surprise me a bit if Carpentier lost this battle on a foul. Mind, I'm not insinuating that Georges is not a fair fighter. He is—one of the fairest. His record proves that. But also he is of a high-strung nature, and in a losing battle, with a man like Gibbons, there is a possibility that Georges might accidentally land a foul blow.

Carpentier is not the accurate hitter he is generally credited with being. True, he can sock a good deal with that right hand, and he is something of a sharpshooter with it, but only with one style of punch, a sort of a looping swing. Otherwise he lacks the accuracy with his punches that I like to see in a real fast, snappy hitter. When Georges finds the going rough, he is prone to throw his punches with wild abandon, letting them fall where they will.

Gibbons is just the type of fighter who might get Carpentier on the borderland, where he will begin throwing those wild punches. A Dempsey or any other single-punch finisher would not be subjected to this danger, because he would put the Frenchman away completely, instead of wearing him gradually into a state of collapse.

Advantage With Gibbons.

The battle with Dempsey took a lot out of Carpentier. Not only did the body punishment rob Georges of a great deal of his stamina, but the Frenchman was unfortunate enough to further disable himself by breaking his hand on the champion's jaw.

A comparison of the fights of the pair with Dempsey would not tend to prove anything. Those who sat in at the affair between the champion and Gibbons at Shelby are unanimous in the opinion that Tom was just in there to stay the 15 rounds. Carpentier, on the other hand, went right at Dempsey—a fatal thing to do—and got his. There is a big difference between fighting a champion, and just going in there and making a runaway, holding match of it.

Nevertheless, Gibbons has every physical advantage over Carpentier, and with the question of condition even Gibbons ought to have little trouble in winning. I do not think that Carpentier will go to the limit, but I look for Gibbons to wear him down and win—most probably on a technical knockout.

CHICAGO AND NEW YORK HIGH SCHOOLS TO PLAY

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Baseball rivalry between the high schools of New York and Chicago will be renewed at Chicago on June 21, when the winner of the public school athletic league tournament here will meet the high school champions of the Middle Western city, in the fifth annual contest for the William W. Cohen Trophy. New York has won three of the games thus far.

Arrangements for the game, which annually has attracted record-breaking crowds, have been completed, it was announced yesterday by officials of the Public School Athletic League.

CAN'T BEAT "TIZ" WHEN FEET HURT

Just take your shoes off and then put those weary, shoe-crinkled, aching, burning, corn-pestered, bunion-tortured feet of yours in a "Tiz" bath. Your toes will wriggle with joy; they'll look up at you and almost talk and then they'll take another dive in that "Tiz" bath.

When your feet feel like lumps of lead—all tired out—just try "Tiz." It's grand—it's glorious. Your feet will dance with joy; also you will find all pain gone from corns, callouses and bunions.

There's nothing like "Tiz." It's the only remedy that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff up your feet and cause foot torture.

A few cents buy a box of "Tiz" at any drug or department store—don't wait. Ah! how glad your feet get; how comfortable your shoes feel.

Unusual Tales of Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor From Real Life

By Robert Welles Ritchie.

NOAH VISITS PANAMA.

THE strangest story I every heard came to me from the lips of an English vagabond in the City of Panama. That it was measurably true I confirmed subsequently by talking with officers of the American army in command of the work of canal digging, then in progress.

How I came to gain the confidence of the wastrel from Penonome is no part of this story. Perhaps the fever and the bad booze of the country had wrought upon him until he thought he was going to die—in fact, he expressed that conviction more than once—and he had the desire to leave his remarkable chronicle behind him.

Cockney English he was, from the island of Jamaica, whence during the canal digging the American engineers imported large numbers of Jamaican negroes to work in Culebra Cut. A tall, bleached wreck of a giant was he; hands a'tremble; mouth slack with that slackness of the confirmed drunkard; his voice a puling whine.

"I've just got out of hell," was the way the vagabond broke the seals of reticence one night when we were sitting in the little plaza before the Cathedral, with abalone shells in its belfry. "And hell's just begun to boil back there in the jungle near Penonome. Don't know how many killings there'll be before the Spiggotys (Panamagians) squash old Segundo."

In three or four terse paragraphs, he outlined to me a dismal swamp country down below the Zone on the Pacific side, where the Indians build their straw houses on piles, and canoes wrought of hollowed-out logs are the only means of transportation. "Yes, and the blighted 'boa constrictors' live right up in the thatch and count themselves one of the family."

He first had met Segundo Sanchez, a Dominican negro, in Kingston, Jamaica, my vagabond said: "A great, shiny black brute with eyes like an alligator." And he had pitched in with the black man in the somewhat doubious game of persuading the Jamaican negroes to sign on for labor in the Canal Zone. Dubious was their game because it was outside the regular recruiting activities of proper American agents, and offered certain perquisites for Segundo Sanchez and the white scoundrel, his partner.

"We came to Panama nigh a year ago, and Segundo heard the stories passing round here of how the Indians down in the lower end of the peninsula bury their dead with gold plates resting on their tongues. Rotten little Indians with big heads and poisoned arrows—see 'em come to Colon in their canoes once in a while. Everybody says they know where they can pick up gold out of the river down in their country. But no white man can get into that country and live.

"Well, this Segundo devil got a craving to collect those gold plates from the tongues of the dead Indians and he went down past Penonome right into the swamp lands. He went down there knowing Spanish perfectly and a little Indian, and he set himself up as the Prophet Noah.

"Fancy this blacy nigger with the greenish eyes, all swathed round with white cotton cloth and with a wreath of pandanus leaves on his kinkly head—yes, I've seen him exhorting that way—preaching to Indians and the halfbreeds down there of another flood to come. Telling 'em they'd better build an ark and get ready to float when the heavens opened and the floods came down.

"Telling 'em, too, to bring their wealth to him—all their gold and the gold of their ancestors; by which the old rascal meant those gold plates buried with their dead. He would made a burnt offering of all that gold the day the floods began, Segundo promised.

"You wouldn't believe it sir, but Segundo hit those people just right with his Noah talk. They went mad; they did that, sir. They began to build an ark out of logs—I've seen the thing with my own eyes; and then began sending out hunting parties to trap pairs of animals and put into the ark. Rotten tapirs and fighting jaguars, parakeets and alligators. My Gawd, what a mess!

"Then Segundo sent a messenger to me here in Panama to come down and be the Messiah. He wrote he couldn't get those gold plates without a Messiah on the job. White though I might be, his people wouldn't harm a Messiah, he wrote."

Then I heard there before the old cathedral at Panama how this English wastrel had played Messiah—played and lost. It is not meet that I write that part of the story.

"But, strike me dumb, sir, old Segundo'll be rolling in gold if he ever gets out of that swamp country."

Now We Know Why People Have
Burning Feet
All in the Joints says Maine Doctor
"What fools we mortals be."
All these years we have been trying to help thousands of footsore people by bathing and powdering the skin when all the time the real trouble is in the bones, ligaments and cartilage—
Or, to be short, in the joints.
There are 26 bones in the feet covered with cartilage and connected with ligaments, and they have a tremendous amount of work to do.
The slightest strain on one little ligament from being "on the feet" too much inflames the whole foot, causing soreness and burning, aching and general misery.
"All this can be quickly proved," says a prominent Maine doctor whose name is known the world over.
Just try a remedy that is compounded for joint troubles only—such as Joint-Ease, which every druggist carries, and see how quickly your sore, tired, inflamed and tortured feet will get well and strong and sturdy again.
Forget your powdering and soaking and other makeshifts for just a few days and get rid of all foot misery by using Joint-Ease.
It's an active emollient that you rub on with your fingers for about a minute and it soaks right in through skin and flesh away down to the joints—the real seat of all troubles.

PRICES ARE DOWN IN A VERY QUIET STOCK MARKET

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"With holidays approaching at home and abroad, and with the markets largely in professional hands, extreme stagnation prevailed today. Total sales on the Stock Exchange again amounted to only about 400,000 shares. Prices generally were lower. The bears applied pressure to the oils on the basis of rumors of weakness in the oil market and pushed prices back close to the recent lows. Steels also were under pressure. Bonds remained quietly steady and the rate on call money was reduced from 3 per cent to 2¾ shortly before noon. This is the lowest price for call money since March 21.

Franc and Sterling Off.

"The appearance of marked weakness among the foreign exchanges was attended by nothing particularly significant in the news. The continental markets were closed and the London market started firm. Offerings became heavy before the close and prices declined sharply on both sides of the Atlantic. Sterling lost 2½ cents at $4.30¾ and French francs were off 11½ points at 5.24 cents. Most of the former neutrals were slightly lower. Whether the selling was due to the continental holiday or to month-end settlements is problematic. In any event, the heavy short covering which was expected in French francs has not materialized.

"Because of the holiday, publication of the Bank of France statement was postponed. The Bank of England statement reveals a decrease of about 1 per cent in the reserve ratio, which now stands at 18½ per cent. Circulation is £1,214,000 larger. The London money market is now easier because of the large Government interest payments which fall due on June 1.

HOG MARKET ACTIVE AND PRICES TEND UP

NATIONAL STOCK YARDS, Ill., May 29.—Receipts, today estimated: Cattle and calves, 2500; hogs, 12,000; sheep, 1000; horses and mules, 100.

CATTLE—A large part of Thursday's run comprised Texas grass steers, not enough of which had been sold early to accurately judge the market.

The few native cattle on sale averaged about steady. Sales included three cars of Nebraska yearling steers at $7.60, and some light mixed steers and heifers up to $9. Veal calves were again forced down 25c to 50c, packers paying $8.25 to $8.50 largely for their offegings and city butchers taking some of the best at $9 and $9.25.

CATTLE FOR WEEK—Native beef steers 50c lower on best and 25c lower on common and medium offerings; South Texas grass steers, 35c to 50c lower up to Thursday; light steers and heifers, 25c to 50c lower; butcher cows, 50c to 75c lower; canner and cutter cows strong to 10c to 15c higher; beef and bologna bulls steady; stocker and feeder steers, 25c and in some cases 50c lower; stock cows and heifers 25c lower, and veal calves, 50c to 75c lower.

Receipts for the week were slightly above normal, the four-day run aggregating 24,000 head. Weighty steers topped at $10.25 and light steers and heifers at $9.25.

HOGS—Early rounds active with prices unevenly strong to 10c higher, light hogs showing biggest part of advance. Best butcher hogs from 190 pounds and up were steady to 5c higher at $7.40 to $7.45 largely, latter figure representing the early top. Light hogs and shippers from 160 to 180 pounds 5c to 10c higher at $7.35 to $7.40 mostly. Pigs strong with some kinds 25c up. Offerings from 130 to 150 pounds at $6.50 to $7, medium weight kinds 110 to 130 pounds at $6 to $6.50 and light pigs and pee wees from 110 pounds and down at $5.25 to $6, according to weight and quality. Sows steady at $6.35 to $6.40, with stags from $4.50 to $5.50, largely.

SHEEP—Receipts light, offerings estimated at 1000. Spring lambs comprised greater part of supplies, early bidding on this class 25c higher than yesterday. Few good offerings noted at $16. Dated April 1, 1924 Interest payable April 1 and October 1 Due April 1, 1954

Redeemable in whole or in part on any interest date on or before April 1, 1944 at 105 and interest, the premium decreasing ½% for each year elapsed thereafter until maturity.

Interest to be payable without deduction for any Federal Income tax up to 2% per annum which the Company or the Trustee may be required to withhold. Pennsylvania Personal Property tax of four mills refundable.

Coupon Bonds in denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100. Bonds in the denomination of $1,000 registerable as to principal. Total authorized issue limited to $50,000,000 and shall not at any time exceed three times the outstanding capital stock. To be presently issued $8,748,000 Series "A," of which not exceeding $1,014,000 are to be deposited under an equipment trust agreement in lieu of pledged First Mortgage Bonds due 1925.

For information regarding the Company and this issue of Bonds, we refer to a letter from Mr. J. S. Pyeatt, President, (copy of which can be obtained from the undersigned), some of the items of which he has briefly summarized as follows:

SECURITY: The First Mortgage Bonds are to be secured in the opinion of counsel by direct first mortgage or by first lien through deposit of collateral (first mortgage bonds), on about 981 miles of railroad. Including $13,500,000 5% Income Bonds, the total funded debt to be presently outstanding in the hands of the public, exclusive of equipment notes, will be at the rate of 21,700 per mile of road owned. $13,500,000 First Mortgage Bonds are to be reserved to exchange or refund at any time an equal face amount of Income Bonds due October 1, 1935.

The First Mortgage Bonds will also be secured by a first lien on equipment having a book value of $7,606,700, subject as to part thereof as of May 1, 1924, to $2,378,903 Equipment Trust Notes including interest to maturity.

Consolidated balance sheet of December 31, 1923, shows net investment in road and equipment of Company and subsidiaries of $38,338,668. To this should be added the investment in road and equipment of the Houston & Brazos Valley Railway, recently acquired, and other separately operated properties.

PURPOSE: Proceeds of this issue of $7,734,000 First Mortgage 5½% Bonds are to be deposited, so far as necessary, with the Trustee under the old First Mortgage of the Company, to provide for $5,733,000 First Mortgage 6% Bonds due October 1, 1925, and to obtain the release of said First Mortgage; the balance of such proceeds are to be applied to reimburse in part the cost of acquisition of the securities of Houston & Brazos Valley Railway Company.

EARNINGS: For the seven years 1917 to 1923, inclusive, gross corporate income of the Company and its subsidiaries before deducting interest on funded debt averaged $2,322,083 per annum, equivalent to over twice the annual average interest charges on funded debt, including interest on outstanding Income Bonds. For the year ended December 31, 1923, gross income before deducting interest on funded debt amounted to $3,406,456, or almost 3 times total interest charges on funded debt. Upon completion of present financing, maximum annual interest on funded debt, including Income Bonds and equipment notes, will be approximately $1,200,000.

For the three months ended March 31, 1924, gross operating revenue increased 25% and gross income available for interest increased 42% over the corresponding period in the previous year.

EQUITY: The $15,000,000 outstanding Capital Stock of the Company at present quotations represents an equity of $16,500,000 junior to its funded debt. Dividends on the Capital Stock at the rate of 6% per annum were inaugurated in 1920 and were increased in March, 1923, to 7% per annum, which is the present rate.

PROPERTY: The Company controls and operates a railway system of about 1174 miles, including direct operating connections under contract, known as the "Gulf Coast Lines," extending from New Orleans via Baton Rouge and Houston to Brownsville, Texas, where direct connection is made with the National Railways of Mexico. It is practically a water level line and is the shortest rail route from New Orleans to the Mexican border. The system serves a rich agricultural, mineral and lumber territory in the States of Louisiana and Texas and handles a well diversified freight traffic which furnishes about 76% of gross operating revenue.

It is expected that application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Interim receipts or temporary bonds will be deliverable in the first instance. All offerings are made "when, as and if issued" and received by us and subject to approval of proceedings by our counsel.

Price 99 and interest, yielding 5.57%

New Orleans, Texas and Mexico Railway Company First Mortgage Six Per Cent Gold Bonds due October 1, 1925, with all unmatured coupons attached will be accepted on a 4½% yield basis in payment of or in exchange for bonds of this issue deliverable on confirmed allotments. Unusual Tales of Adventure, Tragedy, Mystery, Humor From Real Life

By Robert Welles Ritchie.

NOAH VISITS PANAMA.

THE strangest story I every heard came to me from the lips of an English vagabond in the City of Panama. That it was measurably true I confirmed subsequently by talking with officers of the American army in command of the work of canal digging, then in progress.

How I came to gain the confidence of the wastrel from Penonome is no part of this story. Perhaps the fever and the bad booze of the country had wrought upon him until he thought he was going to die—in fact, he expressed that conviction more than once—and he had the desire to leave his remarkable chronicle behind him.

Cockney English he was, from the island of Jamaica, whence during the canal digging the American engineers imported large numbers of Jamaican negroes to work in Culebra Cut. A tall, bleached wreck of a giant was he; hands a'tremble; mouth slack with that slackness of the confirmed drunkard; his voice a puling whine.

"I've just got out of hell," was the way the vagabond broke the seals of reticence one night when we were sitting in the little plaza before the Cathedral, with abalone shells in its belfry. "And hell's just begun to boil back there in the jungle near Penonome. Don't know how many killings there'll be before the Spiggotys (Panamanians) squash old Segundo."

In three or four terse paragraphs, he outlined to me a dismal swamp country down below the Zone on the Pacific side, where the Indians build their straw houses on piles, and canoes wrought of hollowed-out logs are the only means of transportation. "Yes, and the blighted "boa constrictors live right up in the thatch and count themselves one of the family."

He first had met Segundo Sanchez, a Dominican negro, in Kingston, Jamaica, my vagabond said: "A great, shiny black brute with eyes like an alligator." And he had pitched in with the black man in the somewhat doubious game of persuading the Jamaican negroes to sign on for labor in the Canal Zone. Dubious was their game because it was outside the regular recruiting activities of proper American agents, and offered certain perquisites for Segundo Sanchez and the white scoundrel, his partner.

"We came to Panama nigh a year ago, and Segundo heard the stories passing round here of how the Indians down in the lower end of the peninsula bury their dead with gold plates resting on their tongues. Rotten little Indians with big heads and poisoned arrows—see 'em come to Colon in their canoes once in a while. Everybody says they know where they can pick up gold out of the river down in their country. But no white man can get into that country and live.

"Well, this Segundo devil got a craving to collect those gold plates from the tongues of the dead Indians and he went down past Penonome right into the swamp lands. He went down there knowing Spanish perfectly and a little Indian, and he set himself up as the Prophet Noah.

"Fancy this blacy nigger with the greenish eyes, all swathed round with white cotton cloth and with a wreath of pandanus leaves on his kinkly head—yes, I've seen him exhorting that way—preaching to Indians and the halfbreeds down there of another flood to come. Telling 'em they'd better build an ark and get ready to float when the heavens opened and the floods came down.

"Telling 'em, too, to bring their wealth to him—all their gold and the gold of their ancestors; by which the old rascal meant those gold plates buried with their dead. He would made a burnt offering of all that gold the day the floods began, Segundo promised.

"You wouldn't believe it sir, but Segundo hit those people just right with his Noah talk. They went mad; they did that, sir. They began to build an ark out of logs—I've seen the thing with my own eyes; and then began sending out hunting parties to trap pairs of animals and put into the ark. Rotten tapirs and fighting jaguars, parakeets and alligators. My Gawd, what a mess!

"Then Segundo sent a messenger to me here in Panama to come down and be the Messiah. He wrote he couldn't get those gold plates without a Messiah on the job. White though I might be, his people wouldn't harm a Messiah, he wrote."

Then I heard there before the old cathedral at Panama how this English wastrel had played Messiah—played and lost. It is not meet that I write that part of the story.

"But, strike me dumb, sir, old Segundo'll be rolling in gold if he ever gets out of that swamp country."

Now We Know Why People Have
Burning Feet
All in the Joints says Maine Doctor

"What fools we mortals be."
All these years we have been trying to help thousands of footsore people by bathing and powdering the skin when all the time the real trouble is in the bones, ligaments and cartilage—
Or, to be short, in the joints.
There are 26 bones in the foot covered with cartilage and connected with ligaments, and they have a tremendous amount of work to do.
The slightest strain on one little ligament from being "on the feet" too much inflames the whole foot, causing soreness and burning, aching and general misery.
"All this can be quickly proved," says a prominent Maine doctor whose name is known the world over.
Just try a remedy that is compounded for joint troubles only—such as Joint-Ease, which every druggist carries, and see how quickly your sore, tired, inflamed and fortured feet will get well and strong and sturdy again.
Forget your powdering and soaking and other makeshifts for just a few days and get rid of all foot misery by using Joint-Ease.
It's an active emolient that you rub on with your fingers for about a minute and it soaks right in through skin and flesh away down to the joints—the real seat of all troubles.

PRICES ARE DOWN IN A VERY QUIET STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Evening Post in its copyrighted financial review today says:

"With holidays approaching at home and abroad, and with the markets largely in professional hands, extreme stagnation prevailed today. Total sales on the Stock Exchange again amounted to only about 400,000 shares. Prices generally were lower. The bears applied pressure to the oils on the basis of rumors of weakness in the oil market and pushed prices back close to the recent lows. Steels also were under pressure. Bonds remained quietly steady and the rate on call money was reduced from 3 per cent to 2¾ shortly before noon. This is the lowest price for call money since March 21.

Franc and Sterling Off.

"The appearance of marked weakness among the foreign exchanges was attended by nothing particularly significant in the news. The continental markets were closed and the London market started firm. Offerings became heavy before the close and prices declined sharply on both sides of the Atlantic. Sterling lost 2½ cents at $4.30¾ and French francs were off 11½ points at 5.24 cents. Most of the former neutrals were slightly lower. Whether the selling was due to the continental holiday or to month-end settlements is problematic. In any event, the heavy short covering which was expected in French francs has not materialized.

"Because of the holiday, publication of the Bank of France statement was postponed. The Bank of England statement reveals a decrease of about 1 per cent in the reserve ratio, which now stands at 18½ per cent. Circulation is £1,214,000 larger. The London money market is now easier because of the large Government interest payments which fall due on June 1.

Total authorized issue limited to $50,000,000 and shall not at any time exceed three times the outstanding capital stock. To be presently issued $8,748,000 Series "A," of which not exceeding $1,014,000 are to be deposited under an equipment trust agreement in lieu of pledged First Mortgage Bonds due 1925.

For information regarding the Company and this issue of Bonds, we refer to a letter from Mr. J. S. Pyeatt, President, (copy of which can be obtained from the undersigned), some of the items of which he has briefly summarized as follows:

SECURITY: The First Mortgage Bonds are to be secured in the opinion of counsel by direct first mortgage or by first lien through deposit of collateral (first mortgage bonds), on about 981 miles of railroad. Including $13,500,000 5% Income Bonds, the total funded debt to be presently outstanding in the hands of the public, exclusive of equipment notes, will be at the rate of 21,700 per mile of road owned. $13,500,000 First Mortgage Bonds are to be reserved to exchange or refund at any time an equal face amount of Income Bonds due October 1, 1935.

The First Mortgage Bonds will also be secured by a first lien on equipment having a book value of $7,606,700, subject as to part thereof as of May 1, 1924, to $2,578,903 Equipment Trust Notes including interest to maturity.

Consolidated balance sheet of December 31, 1923, shows net investment in road and equipment of Company and subsidiaries of $38,338,668. To this should be added the investment in road and equipment of the Houston & Brazos Valley Railway, recently acquired, and other separately operated properties.

PURPOSE: Proceeds of this issue of $7,734,000 First Mortgage 5½% Bonds are to be deposited, so far as necessary, with the Trustee under the old First Mortgage of the Company, to provide for $5,733,000 First Mortgage 6% Bonds due October 1, 1925, and to obtain the release of said First Mortgage; the balance of such proceeds are to be applied to reimburse in part the cost of acquisition of the securities of Houston & Brazos Valley Railway Company.

EARNINGS: For the seven years 1917 to 1923, inclusive, gross corporate income of the Company and its subsidiaries before deducting interest on funded debt averaged $2,322,083 per annum, equivalent to over twice the annual average interest charges on funded debt, including interest on outstanding Income Bonds. For the year ended December 31, 1923, gross income before deducting interest on funded debt amounted to $3,406,436, or almost 3 times total interest charges on funded debt. Upon completion of present financing, maximum annual interest on funded debt, including Income Bonds and equipment notes, will be approximately $1,200,000.

For the three months ended March 31, 1924, gross operating revenue increased 25% and gross income available for interest increased 42% over the corresponding period in the previous year.

EQUITY: The $15,000,000 outstanding Capital Stock of the Company at present quotations represents an equity of $16,500,000 junior to its funded debt. Dividends on the Capital Stock at the rate of 6% per annum were inaugurated in 1920 and were increased in March, 1923, to 7% per annum, which is the present rate.

PROPERTY: The Company controls and operates a railway system of about 1174 miles, including direct operating connections under contract, known as the "Gulf Coast Lines," extending from New Orleans via Baton Rouge and Houston to Brownsville, Texas, where direct connection is made with the National Railways of Mexico. It is practically a water level line and is the shortest rail route from New Orleans to the Mexican border. The system serves a rich agricultural, mineral and lumber territory in the States of Louisiana and Texas and handles a well diversified freight traffic which furnishes about 76% of gross operating revenue.

It is expected that application will be made in due course to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange.

Interim receipts or temporary bonds will be deliverable in the first instance. All offerings are made "when, as and if issued" and received by us and subject to approval of proceedings by our counsel.

HIGHER TENDENCY TO PRICE OF COTTON AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, May 29.—The cotton market appeared to be more importantly influenced by the continued bullish average of crop and weather news than by relatively easy Liverpool cables during today's early trading.

The opening was steady at unchanged prices to an advance of 7 points and active months sold some 10 to 20 points net higher, July advancing to 29.70c and October to 26.59c on covering. Wall street and commission house buying. The South was a moderate seller here on the advance, however, and after initial buying orders had been supplied the market eased off a few points from the best under realizing.

Private cables reported selling of new crop months on more favorable crop advices, but said there was buying of near months against spinners calling.

Realizing attracted by the early advance was absorbed on reactions of 10 or 12 points and trading turned quiet. Selling was restricted by private reports of heavy rains in the Southwest and apprehensions that clearing weather would be accompanied by a drop in temperature over the holidays. As a result prices held steady, with July selling around 29.65c and October 26.48c, at midday, or about 5 to 15 points net higher.

Afternoon trading was very quiet, prices holding steady at 29.68 for July and 26.50 for October, or about 5 to 13 points net higher around 2 o'clock.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Cotton—Spot quiet; middling, 32.65c.

WHEAT MARKET NERVOUS ON THE CHICAGO BOARD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

CHICAGO, May 29.—The wheat market acted nervous today. It looked as if the trade was evening up tomorrow's holiday. There was a little pressure at the opening because of the heavy rains over the recent dry territory. Support developed on the dip and caused a little rally. Early buyers sold when prices got above the previous close. The trade seemed to be in a holiday mood and little disposed to make new commitments. News also was scarce and not of the stimulating kind. Lower Liverpool cables and the decline in sterling checked export business. Winnipeg reported a slow demand for cash wheat there with some increase in offers from the country. Argentine shipments are expected to be heavy this week. Mills are taking a little May wheat, but the demand for grain in store is moderate. Sales of wheat to go to store were 100,000 bushels.

Wheat closed ¼c to ½c higher; May, $1.05½; July, $1.07¾ to $1.07⅝; September, $1.09; December, $1.10¾.

Local cash sales were 87,000 bushels wheat, 35,000 bushels corn and 107,000 bushels oats. The seaboard reported 40,000 bushels gulf hard winter worked for export.

May corn acted tight early, but at 78 cents offerings increased. A few shorts tried to cover at the opening, being emboldened by the 310,000 bushels delivered. Deferred offerings were firm on buying induced by the cold and wet weather and the bullish weekly Iowa crop report. Cash corn basis was quarter cent lower. Shipping demand was a little better.

Corn finished ⅜c to 1⅛c higher; May, 78⅛c to 78¼c; July, 76⅞c to 77c; September, 76½@76⅝c; December, 69c.

Oats were easy early and then had a recovery. Scattered selling of May featured the opening trade. Shipping demand better. It was said 35,000 bushels were reported to go to store.

Provisions were firm.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our darling son, brother, nephew and cousin, Jack Loughran, who drowned one year ago tonight, May 29:

God called you home, our darling boy,
We miss you more each day;
You said goodby with a happy smile
And then you went away.
Our songbird has gone and left us,
The voice we love is still,
A place is vacant in our hearts,
Which never can be filled.
So sadly missed by all.

Wecke,

r at-home stand against the New in last place, eight and one-half as a result of 12 victories against of .667, the Rickeymen now are rom the lead.

Two More Reds Are Added to Hospital List by Injuries

Two more Red regulars were added to the club's already large hospital list yesterday. The latest athletes to go out were Jake Daubert and Eddie Roush. Daubert was hit in the head by one of Sothoron's pitched efforts and his injury was diagnosed as a slight concussion of the brain. Roush suffered a leg injury in making a running catch.

As a result, the Reds presented a patched-up lineup. Bressler and Wingo played at first and in the second game Assistant Manager "Greasy" Neale went to left. When he was taken out for a pinch hitter, Pitcher Luque took his place.

Counting Wingo, there were but three real regulars in the Red battle front in the second game. The others were Pinelli and Burns.

though he permitted but five runs in 22 frames, lost two out of three.

Sothoron Hurls Shutout.

Rickey's men closed the home stand yesterday by breaking even with the Reds. Allan Sothoron blanked Hendricks' men with five safeties in the opener, 6 to 0, but Bill Doak, starting his first game of the year, and Eddie Dyer were hit at opportune times in the second and the Reds made off with a 5—3 conquest for Tom Sheehan, the big right-hander.

Sothoron's shutout victory was the first gained by a Cardinal flinger this year. Until the seventh frame the Reds did not make a single hit. Sothoron also helped win his own game when he singled with the bases full to score the first runs of the game battle in the big seventh round.

Pat Duncan's pinch double in the ninth with two runners on the paths beat the Rickeyites in the nightcap.

Today is an open date for the Cardinals. Tomorrow they open a series with the Pirates in Pittsburg.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

The Post-Dispatch reserves the right to reject any query. Personal and telephone calls, or answers by mail, cannot be given attention, except letters on medical questions of undoubted sincerity, when accompanied by stamped addressed envelope.

J. B.—Address Hiram Dempsey, Salt Lake City, Utah.

NICK F.—We are unable to tell you from what plant the insect powder in question is made. Inquire from the manufacturers of the powder.

H. F. D.—The nickel five cent piece dated 1913 is worth from 5c to 7c; one of the same date with Liberty head (not buffalo type), is worth $50.

M. C.—The twenty cent piece dated 1875 is worth from 25c to 30c; the ten cent piece dated 1850 is worth from 10c to 20c; the half dime dated 1853 is worth from 5c to 10c.

F. W. D.—Following is the route from St. Louis to Cincinnati, O., by automobile: Follow route 295 through East St. Louis, Collinsville, St. Jacob, Highland, Pocahontas, Greenville, Mulberry Grove, Hagarstown, Vandalia, Bluff City, Brownstown, St. Elmo, Altamont, Dexter, Funkhouser, Effingham, Montrose, Woodberry, Jewett, Greenup, Casey, Martinsville, Marshall, Illinois, and Terre Haute, Indiana. In Indiana follow same route through Sellyville, Brazil, Harmony, Rellsville, Putnamville, Stilesville, Belleville, Plainfield, Bridgeport and then Indianapolis; now follow route 270 through New Palestine, Fountaintown, Morristown, Arlington, Rushville, New Salem, Metamora, Brookville, Cedar Grove, New Trenton, Harrison, Ohio; then Miami, Cheviot and Cincinnati.

PERPLEXED—The invitations are mailed about three weeks before the wedding. As soon as they are out, the presents to the bride begin coming in, and she should enter each one carefully in her gift book. There are many published for the purpose, but an ordinary blank book, nicely bound, as she will probably want to keep it, about eight to 10 inches square, will answer every purpose. The usual model spreads across the double page, as follows: Present received—date—article—sent by—sender's address—where bought—date of thanks written. All gifts as they arrive should be put in a certain room, or part of a room, and never moved away until the description is carefully entered. It will be found a great help to put down the address of donors as well as their names so that the bride may not have to wait an unnecessary moment of the overcrowded time which must be spent at her desk. When Mrs. Smith orders a present sent to a bride, she encloses a card reading: "Mr. and Mrs. John Huntington Smith." Nearly every married woman has a plate engraved with both names, but if she hasn't, then she encloses Mr. Smith's card with hers. Some people write "All good wishes" or "with best wishes," but most people send cards without messages. The bridegroom, as well as all the men present at the evening wedding and reception wear evening clothes.

LEGAL INFORMATION.

(By a Member of the St. Louis Bar Association.)

H. K.—Write to the Service Recognition Board, Springfield, Ill., regarding the bonus.

HURRY.—(1) The wife could not get a divorce on this ground. (2) If you cannot persuade her to return to you we know of no way to compel her to do so.

JOE.—While they may not be able to collect the $1 expense charge by a suit, it does not seem unreasonable and you would probably save trouble for yourself by paying it.

B. C. D.—If the man died, leaving no will, and leaving a widow and one child, the money left him by his grandfather would go one-half to the widow and one-half to the child.

L. C. B.—(1) You cannot get permission to intercept your husband's mail for the purpose of obtaining evidence for a divorce suit. (2) The nonresident could file a cross bill in the suit in St. Louis.

A DAILY READER. — (1) The lease would still be legal as stated. (2) The wife might be guilty of forgery if she did open his letters without her husband's consent and signed his checks, but it would depend upon the circumstances.

THANK YOU.—Aliens who were not alien enemies, who are of legal age and not otherwise specially disabled by the law of the State in which the action is brought, may in general maintain actions in the proper courts. This is a matter of comity, not of right, however, and the courts will not permit the privilege to be exercised so as to work injury to the interests of citizens. In some States aliens may not file real actions or actions for rejectment. Aliens may in general file actions for trespass, and personal action such as suits for breach of contract, for the recovery of money, for personal injuries, for libel, for slander, etc.

MEDICAL QUESTIONS.

Health and sanitation questions of public interest only will be considered, Diagnoses or treatment of individual cases will not be given.

ANXIOUS.—Uric acid is a normal constituent of the urine of men and animals, hence its presence is not an indication of disease.

S. L. H.—You are correct when when you term large hips a blessing if the size means ample pelvic room and is not merely a deposit of fat. In the latter event go about general body reduction of the fat, by dieting and exercise.

WALLFLOWER. — We do not know the tablet mentioned but it is evidently a tablet bearing a trade name, and containing drugs which influence the heart's action, such as digitalis, caffeine, sparteine and strophanthus. The dose and frequency of dose depends upon the ingredients and the amount of each.

TONEY.—As boils often complicate disturbances of the general health, it is well to ascertain if such is the cause. Infection is also a most frequent cause, the discharge from one boil being inoculated in another location. Have the urine examined, remove all local sources of irritation and possible infection. Yeast is an old-fashioned remedy often very beneficial. The following is a good application when boils start: Acidi salicylici, 2 drams; empl. saponis, 2 ounces; empl. diochli, 1 ounce. Spread on cotton cloth. The following ointment serves all the purposes of a poultice and helps to allay pain: Xeroformi, 1 dram; ungt. vaselini plumbici, 1 ounce. Spread on cotton cloth.

CITY TO HONOR DEAD VETERANS TOMORROW

Parade Will Feature Memorial Day Exercises With Ceremonies at Jefferson Barracks.

Memorial Day, set aside to honor the memory of soldier and sailor dead, will be observed tomorrow in St. Louis with appropriate ceremonies.

All public offices, courts, banks, markets and department stores, as well as many other stores and business houses will be closed all day. The only mail deliveries will be one at the large hotels and one delivery of perishable parcel post matter. There will be three collections in the business district and one in residential districts. Memorial day is one of the few holidays created by act of Congress.

The outstanding event will be the annual downtown parade of veterans' organizations, with memorial ceremonies at Jefferson Barracks in the natural amphitheater of the National Cemetery there.

In Webster Groves, another parade, led by the dirigible TC-3 and a fleet of airplanes from Scott Field, will move from Gore and Lockwood avenues to the memorial monument at Big Bend road and Lockwood avenue where appropriate ceremonies will be held.

Parade Starts at Noon.

The St. Louis parade will start at Twelfth boulevard and Market street at noon. In the ranks will be members of the United Spanish War Veterans, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion posts, and auxiliaries. The procession will move north on Twelfth and east of Washington avenue to the river and be transported to Jefferson Barracks on the Steamer St. Paul. The graves of soldiers buried in the cemetery will be decorated, after which the memorial ceremonies will be held.

A Memorial day program will be held at the Catholic Laymen's Retreat, at White House, Mo., near Jefferson Barracks, from noon to 6 p. m., to which members and their friends are invited. St. Louis Lodge No. 9 of the Elks will hold its annual "Mystic Hour Service" at Elks Rest in Bellefontaine Cemetery at 10 p. m.

At Potter's Field, 5800 Arsenal street, a memorial service will be held by the Brotherhood League for the Aged and Unemployed. Dr. Howard Billman of the Church Federation will conduct the service and the orchestra of Third Baptist Church will provide music.

Will Decorate Graves.

Meanwhile, there will be many pilgrimages to the various cemeteries of the city where the graves of the dead will be decorated with flowers and flags.

The Gold Star Mothers were honored today at a pilgrimage around the Gold Star Court of Honor, under the auspices of the World War Registrars, who have co-operated with the Park Department in planting trees along the court. Jefferson Barracks provided a firing squad to fire three salutes and a trumpeter to sound taps. Last Sunday American Legion posts and auxiliaries decorated the graves of soldiers and sailors in private cemeteries with flags and poppies.

Marines who died in service will be honored at a service to be held by the Marine Corps League at Community Center, Grand boulevard and Vista avenue, Sunday, June 8, at 8 p. m.

WAR - TIME RAILROAD MANAGER FINED $12,500

Henly L. Joyce Was Indicted on Charge of Defrauding U. S. of $1,000,000.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—Henly L. Joyce, indicted last September on charges of defrauding the Government out of $1,000,000 while wartime marine manager of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, was fined $12,5000 today by Federal Judge George English.

Judge English, after reading affidavits setting forth that Joyce was suffering from a chronic heart affliction, said he would not take the responsibility of sending the 64-year-old man to jail.

Special Assistant Attorney-General Todd charged that Joyce while marine manager of the railroad diverted business and repair work at exorbitant prices to the stevedoring corporation and the boat repairing company in which the defendant was interested. The corporations were each fined $1000 by Judge English on pleas of guilty to similar charges.

JAPANESE PROTEST AGAINST EXCLUSION REACHES EMBASSY

Officials Say It Is Long—Hughes Has Another Conference With President.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Japanese protest against the new immigration law reached the Japanese Embassy here today by cable. Because of its great length, some time will be required to decode and study it before it is formally presented to the State Department.

While Ambassador Hanihara will make no appointment to see Secretary Hughes for the purpose of presenting his Government's views, embassy officials described the note as "very long." Hughes conferred at length during the day with President Coolidge but indicated that no authoritative comment on the Japanese attitude would be forthcoming until the Government is ready to make its reply to Tokio.

Is there a sure way to prevent moth damage?

Hundreds of clothing manufacturers say "YES"

Science at last found the way to make garments really mothproof—Larvex! Over 300 manufacturers have used Larvex for years to mothproof hundreds of thousands of garments—not one moth-hole in any of them today.

Larvex absolutely mothproofs woolens. It makes the fabric itself proof against the ravages of the tiny moth-larvae that hatch out of the eggs which the flying moth lays in your clothes. These larvae cannot eat Larvexed wool. They leave it alone—not one moth-hole can appear.

No odor! No stains!

Larvex is different in every way from all the old so-called moth preventives. It is a clear, colorless liquid, which you spray directly onto the fabric itself. It is odorless. No need to air a Larvexed garment—there is no odor at all. Stainless, too—does not affect garments in any way except to make them completely mothproof.

Pint bottle with atomizer . .	$1.75
Additional pint bottle . . .	$1.00
Quart bottle with atomizer . .	$2.25
Additional quart bottle . . .	$1.50

The Larvex atomizer lasts for years.

If your dealer cannot supply you, we will send Larvex to you direct, all charges prepaid upon receipt of price.

The flying moth eats nothing. But it lays hundreds of eggs in your woolens. The eggs hatch into tiny white worms called moth larvæ.

The moth larvæ live on woolen fabrics—eating holes in your garments. But Larvexed wool is inedible to the larvæ. No moth holes.

With Larvex you mothproof your woolens by spraying Larvex directly onto the fabric itself with the special Larvex atomizer. It is easy, convenient and sure.

Washington Poking About in Lugubrious Gloom With Big Conventions About to Break

All Is IF and the Echoes Answer "Woe"; Alibis Being Prepared Against Day of Doom by Both Parties

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Washington Correspondent of the New York World and Post-Dispatch.

> "And in the gathering gloom,

WASHINGTON, May 29.—In a good many respects this is the dourest presidential campaign in the memory of living politicians. Frequently one or the other of the parties has gone into the fray with the knowledge that it was engaging in a forlorn hope. Ordinarily the despair of one has been accompanied by the exaltation of the other, but this time the Democratic ticket is Apprehension and Uncertainty and the Republican ticket Pessimism and Apathy.

Ordinarily two or three weeks before the convention the political sun is shining for everybody; the leading candidates are swaggering in their strength, the dark horses are rejoicing at the prospect of the champions killing each other off, and the district leaders of all complexions are telegraphing national headquarters from Cow Hollow and Lost Gulch that the tide is running so strong that nothing can stop an overwhelming victory.

Today's IF Table in Political Washington.

In the closing days of May, 1924, Democrats and Republicans alike see nothing but clouds and fog. Should the word "if" be expungated from the vocabularies, there could not be any pre-convention politics. If religious prejudice could be eliminated Al Smith would sweep the country; if McAdoo were not anathema in New York, there would be nothing to it; if Underwood were not from the South nothing could stop him; if it were not for the provincial resentment in the West against a Wall street clientele John W. Davis would be unbeatable; if Ralston were a younger, more vigorous figure it would be all over.

On the other side, if Coolidge had enough of iron in his composition to handle his party in Congress instead of letting it bedevil him on every important issue, so that the picture that will be presented of the cool, silent, stern man in the White House could have the certification of something besides futile protest and inefficient opposition against congressional iniquities, the election, in view of the Democratic feuds and rivalries, would be only a formality.

Lost in Shadow of Huge Microcosm.

Congress is a microcism of the country, politically at least. All the men in it are politicians of considerable if not pre-eminent rank. They may not represent the aggregate of civic sentiment, pegged as they are by whips of militant minorities—the farm group, the labor group, the soldier group, the prohibition group, the big-business group, etc., but they do reflect the world of caucuses and conventions, else they would not be there.

Probably we never had a President who cut so small a figure in congressional decisions as the one we have now. Other Presidents have quarreled with other Congresses, though rarely when they have been of the same political complexion, but this Congress does not even do the President the honor of hating him.

The Republican Senators in particular go their way, disregarding veto threats and ignoring messages, playing their own games. Few of them have any faith that Coolidge will be elected; still fewer think that even if he pulls through he will have better control over the next Congress than he has of this one.

There was a casual conversation about a party slogan in the cloakroom the other day—"The full dinner pail," "He kept us out of war," and that sort of thing. Lodge was there and Curtis. It was just after they had turned down the bonus veto.

Moses, the Senate cynic, came along. "What could be more fitting," he said, with a glance at the company, "than 'Stand by the President'?"

Defeated Before the Fight Begins.

Probably much of the pessimism of the Republican Senators is due to the feeling of many of them who come up for re-election this time that they personally are fated for defeat in November. There may be a question as to how the country regards Coolidge; there is none as to its resentment of Congress for its record of unfruitfulness.

Political geography is all against the Republican legislators, for whereas all but two of the Democrats who run this year are in the South and have therefore no troubles, practically all the Republicans are in States where it is a fight in the best of times.

Unqualified prophecies of success are rare on either side, except, of course, the public declarations where the principle of claiming everything obtains, as usual. Most of the customary forecasters are building alibis to explain disaster rather than planning celebrations for victory. Perhaps the nearest thing to a sincere faith in good fortune to come is McAdoo's belief that he is the destined one.

The other fellows say that whoever may win out at Madison Square Garden it will not be McAdoo, and the Smith people alone can come pretty near making this certain; and next to putting their man across, their notion of political bliss is to see the Georgia-New York-Californian wiped off the map.

Moreover, they add to the general funereal talk by announcing that McAdoo is one particular Democrat who could not be elected if he were nominated, and any man from Buffalo to Montauk Point can produce a table showing how this must be so.

In Terror of the Red, White and Black.

The Republicans talk more about what states La Follette will carry, thereby smiting their column, than what states Coolidge will carry—all this, of course, when they are not talking for publication—and have only the darkest forebodings should the Wisconsin insurgent succeed in throwing the election into Congress. They are worried about Indiana, with its Ku Klux and its frightened black balance of power, and apprehensive that Coolidge, the innocent bystander, may be caught in the crossfire of the Watson-New vendetta, which has broken out again as a result of Watson's leaving New off the organization slate of delegates to the convention, even though open war was averted by splitting the delegation, so that the Postmaster General gets to the Cleveland show with half a vote.

So it goes all around, everybody seeing goblins, expecting shipwreck and planning more to get to a liferaft when the disaster comes than to win.

So we have the Republicans mourning because ex-service men are likely to regard the Coolidge veto as a token of disfavor not compensated for by the insurance bonus they got in spit of that veto, and the Democrats darkly figuring that the whole thing was a diabolically ingenious plot to preserve for the President the support of the business world, on the theory that he did all he could to stop the tax-boosting grant, and at the same time hold the soldier vote by giving the bonus. It is the same way with the tax compilication: each side thinks the other is going to have the best of the argument.

Looks Like Landslide for the Crepe-Hangers.

It's a toss-up which side is the more lugubrious at the prospect. All is shadow; if the crape-hangers could only be marshaled under a single banner their candidate would have a majority that would make the landslide of 1920 look like small change.

One of the Senate janitors was trying to find the owner of a scribbled paper he picked up from the floor in cleaning up—Senators are always dropping memoranda and such things—which reads:

> And in the gathering gloom

FOREIGNERS GETTING FEW CONCESSIONS FROM SOVIET

Americans Obtain Only 10 of Hundred Sought; English and French Less.

By the Associated Press.

MOSCOW, May 29.—Americans seeking concessions in soviet Russia will derive little encouragement from the declarations of M. Zinovieff before the communist party convention yesterday. The chairman of the communist International told the delegates that out of 101 applications for concessions made by Americans up to April 1 only 10 were granted.

The proportion of grants to nationals of other countries were in some cases even smaller, England getting only seven out of 141 applications and France one out of 86. Six applications from Japan were denied. Of a total of 1072 applications, only 55 were granted.

CLARKE DESCRIBES POLITICAL WORK OF KU KLUX IN TEXAS

Testifies Money Was Passed From Officer to Officer Until It Was Difficult to Trace.

KLAN RESOURCES BACK OF MAYFIELD

Post-Dispatch Bureau,
20-23 Wyatt Bldg.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The political ways of the Ku Klux Klan were aired before the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, when E. Y.. Clarke, former Imperial Wizard pro tem testified.

Clarke, who recently has been banished by the klan, yesterday pictured the Ku Klux as an organization that sought to advance its own fortunes through politics. While he was at the head of the Ku Klux in 1922, he said, it had been agreed between him and Dr. Hiram W. Evans that its "resources and power" were to be used to nominate and elect Earle B. Mayfield to the United States Senate from Texas, and this aim had been carried out by subordinates.

Clarke professed not to know how much money had been spent for this purpose or how it had been spent.

He described a system of passing money from one officer to another, which effectively concealed the destination of the funds until they were traced down to the last voucher.

An apparent shift of attitude on the part of several members of the committee made it easier for attorneys for George E. B. Peddy, who is contesting Mayfield's seat, to get in anti-klan testimony than it has been for several days.

Clarke declared the following excerpt from a speech he made at a secret meeting of klansmen in Erie, Pa., Dec. 4, 1922, to be a statement of fact:

"We have particular ways of doing housecleaning. There was a terrific condition in Texas and we were not absolutely sure whether, if we set up a man and said he was a klansman and put all the good forces behind him, that we could win. So we took an old line politician, Robert F. Henry, and put him in the race as the klan candidate, and he openly on the stump said, 'Boys, come on, vote for me. I am a klansman.'

Mayfield the Real Candidate.

"They wired Atlanta for verification and I said, 'Yes, this is a klansman in good standing,' but Earle E. Mayfield was the real one and he was elected. On the streets of Houston one of our richenemies was just tearing his hair for Mayfield, and after the election was over and it crept out this fellow nearly had a fit. He probably had carried 6000 or 7000 votes for Mayfield, when he could have carried them the other way if he had known."

Explaining that he did not charge there had been any stealing of the money which found its way to various officers, Clarke said:

"It was an accepted fact that the organization was in politics. It is ridiculous to say that it was not in politics and wasn't using money and influence whenever it decided to elect a man. For instance, I know that the organization in Texas had machinery, men and money behind Senator Mayfield. That meant spending money."

Under the Texas law, it is illegal for a corporation to contribute to a political campaign. The Ku Klux Klan is a corporation. Attorneys representing Mayfield contended that this fact could be used only against the corporation itself, but would have no effect on the right of the successful candidate to a seat in Congress.

There had been previous testimony showing Mayfield in conference with klan officials in regard to the part the organization was to play.

When Clarke took the stand W. F. Zumbrunn, attorney for Mayfield, said: "We do not want to be put in the position of excluding this testimony on a technicality. We, therefore, waive our objections to Clarke."

But just as soon as Clarke started to testify about the inner workings of the klan, Zumbrunn began to object.

"What's the difference what kind of an organization it was?" asked Senator Watson in supporting the attorney.

Clarke finally explained that having been imperial klalif, imperial wizard pro tem. and imperial kleagle in 1922, he was in position to know what was going on. Dr. Evans was then, he testified, in charge of the organization of the Texas "government."

"I knew, and everybody at the Imperial Palace knew," Clarke said, "that the Ku Klux Klan was seeking to elect Mayfield and that its resources and power were being used to that end. As to what actually was done the men in charge of the operating forces were best qualified to know. He was operating the machine. That was Dr. Evans.

"I had a conversation with Dr. Evans in which it was agreed that we were to do everything in our power to put Mayfield over. Dr. Evans said he was leaving for Texas because it was necessary that Henry (former chairman of the House Rules Committee) be gotten out of the way in order to consolidate the klan.

"There was a discussion with Dr. Evans about turbulent political conditions in Texas and about the fact that he would have to arrange for additional funds. It wasn't unusual to let the State organizations have these funds. It was up to the locals' discretion how the funds were to be used."

He quoted Evans as saying that the "klan is being attacked in Texas and it doesn't make any difference what it costs to win." On another occasion Evans had said "Things in Texas were in a mess and he was going to send men through the klan to clear up the situation and consolidate the vote."

Missionaries and Commissaries.

"There were men on the payroll doing various kinds of work," the witness explained in answer to a question as to who went on this mission.

"You had a lot of missionaries," suggested Senator Watson.

"Yes, and commissaries," retorted the witness. "He said, 'I am going to send these men secretly under cover just to pour healing oil on the waters.'"

At this point it was brought out that Clarke, after talking with Evans, had sent Henry permission to declare himself as a klansman.

Evans laughed, and said, "These old line politicians are paying attention to us. They want to be known as klansmen now." Clarke volunteered.

On another occasion Clarke said Furney, the Ku Klux cashier, and Dr. Montgomery, treasurer, had protested about money Evans was spending.

"They made objections when he was appointed by me to organize the State of Texas," the testimony ran. "Evans was organizing the 'State government.' Texas was the first 'State government.' When they became insistent I said 'You have got to spend big money to get big results.' I can't say positively it was spent in the political campaign. The books ought to show, providing you go down far enough. But you have got to know how to get the facts or you won't get them."

"Evans," he went on, "had full power to make any expenditures he pleased subject to the approval of the Finance Committee. He also disclosed that he had a personal arrangement with Evans under which the latter got a commission on the collections of the propagation department."

On cross-examination Zumbrunn tried to make it appear that R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman, had offered to help Clarke on a criminal charge pending in Texas if he would testify. Clarke denied any such offer, although he admitted he had met Creager, Gov. Parker of Louisiana and some other antiklan people in Houston. He said he did not know that Creager had influenced W. J. Burns to have the case postponed. Clarke admitted a plea of guilty to a violation of the Mann act.

After the committee had finished with Clarke, J. E. MaQuinn, a Ku Klux auditor, was recalled for brief testimony, and told the committee that every cent of expense would show on the books of the organization, and had been traced out in his work.

The policewomen and their lieutenant attended a conference and luncheon of social workers' organizations at Hotel Claridge yesterday at which the protective work of policewomen was discussed.

MORE POLICEWOMEN NEEDED, SPEAKERS SAY

Heads Show Necessity for Increasing Force to Protect Young Girls in City.

Policewomen do not care to be known as "lady cops" or "female policemen." They have their own special work to do—prevention of crime, and it is as important or more so than the policeman's detection of crime. St. Louis, as well as other cities, needs more policewomen.

These were sentiments expressed at the Conference on Protective Work by Policewomen, held yesterday at the Claridge Hotel under the auspices of 14 civic organizations, including the Missouri Welfare League, which called it. Guests of honor were Lieut. John A. Brandenburger, head of the policewomen's bureau, and six policewomen, and Miss Laura M. Kinkead, the first policewoman in St. Louis, appointed in 1916. She is now Director of the Girls' Protective Association of the Board of Religious Organizations.

Policewomen Praised.

The policewoman was praised throughout the day as an indispensable factor toward improvement of morals, particularly among young girls and women. Her field of activity includes censorship of movies, theaters, dance halls, amusement parks and similar sources of recreation, and advising girls who are found frequenting questionable places.

The first policewoman on record was appointed in 1903 in Stuttgart, Germany, and the first American policewoman in Los Angeles in 1910. Today 300 American cities and towns employ policewomen. St. Louis has 18 and more are needed. Applicants must have three years of high school education and must pass intelligence tests. If appointed they serve on probation for six months at $115 a month and, if satisfactory, receive $125 thereafter.

Sends Girls Home From Movie.

Lieut. Brandenburger told yesterday of a typical piece of work by a policewoman. One of the 18 policewomen visited a movie show Tuesday night and observed a dozen boys and girls misconducting themselves. She separated the boys from the girls and sent the latter to their homes. The movie manager inquired who she was and she replied that she was mother of one of the girls, concealing her identity so the manager, upon her next visit, could not forewarn the unruly ones of her presence. Follow-up work by the policewomen, policemen and social organizations will tend to keep the offenders from repeating.

Talks on Dance Halls.

It was agreed by the conferees that movies, dance halls and other entertainment places require supervision, but open discussion revealed various ideas of the way to go about it, some favoring forced censorship and others asserting that best results have been obtained where those interested in improvement co-operated with the managements of the commercial recreation places. Miss Jessie F. Binford, director of the Juvenile Protective Association of Chicago, said the latter plan has been successful there. As to dance halls, she said the elimination of intoxicants had not improved the morals of dancing as much as she and others had expected.

SENATOR LODGE, as the leader of his party in the upper house, has not the faculty of pleasing Presidents. Mr. Harding considered hopefully at times the displacing of Mr. Lodge with Senator Lenroot, Senator Watson and Senator Wadsworth. Mr. Coolidge, perhaps, has not gone so far as to pick out whom he would like to have in Mr. Lodge's place. It is not easy to say who would give a shining example of sturdy Coolidge Republicanism in the management of the majority, if there is a majority, of the Senate. But it pains Mr. Coolidge and his friend and campaign tactician, Mr. Butler, to read the rollcalls published in the press day after day and to find that on all the issues upon which the Administration especially means to stand in the coming campaign Mr. Lodge's name is enrolled in the opposition. Some time I am going to make a canvass of this session's legislation and ascertain whether Mr. Lodge or Mr. La Follette has cast the larger number of anti-Administration votes. I think the test will be fair; for though Mr. La Follette has been ill and absent a good deal, so that he has not voted as many times as has the Senate leader, Mr. La Follette hasn't made speeches, as Mr. Lodge has, professing that Plymouth Rock was placed by Providence where it was, so that Mr. Coolidge's ancestors would have something firm to step on, and thus acquire the habit of surefootedness and pass it on to their descendant for the benefit of the Nation in this year of disgrace—1924.

Of course, I don't think that Mr. Coolidge would hold it against Mr. Lodge that the Republican Senators do not follow him. Mr. Coolidge sat in the Senate many months. He knows his Senate too well. What Mr. Coolidge would like of Mr. Lodge, perhaps, is that he should set a notable, if, indeed, a solitary, example of the kind of Republicanism which is to be offered to the voters next fall. But the leader of Mr. Coolidge's party in the Senate votes to overrule Mr. Coolidge's veto of the Bursum pension bill. He votes for the bonus which the President opposes. He votes for the immigration bill which the administration is against. He nimbly leads the panic into which the Republican Senators fell over the Democratic attack upon the President's Cabinet.

Whatever else you may say of Mr. Lodge, you must acquit him of servility. In a Senate notable for its independence one must rank Mr. Lodge well up among the independents. No party yoke hangs about his neck. Who is there that shall say to Lodge what his party doctrine is? In his way Mr. Lodge thinks for himself. He started politically more or less as a mugwump, a scholar in politics, and he retains the habit of political perversity at the head of a machine. He is an individualist wearing the livery of regularity. Had he been born 20 years later in Iowa, Nebraska or Kansas he would have been following La Follette as loyally as he now follows Coolidge. Publicly and often he thanks God for Coolidge, but privately and, even more often he thanks God for Lodge.

Committee of 48 to Work for Nomination of La Follette at Convention in Cleveland, July 4

Announces Its Withdrawal From St. Paul Gathering Which Senator Attacked—Republicans Hope for Split in Radical Vote.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The Committee of Forty-Eight has decided to send its delegates to the Cleveland convention of the conference for progressive political action on July 4 and work for the nomination of Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin for the presidency on a third party ticket. It has withdrawn from the St. Paul convention called for June 17 because of the Senator's attack on that meeting yesterday.

J. A. H. Hopkins, chairman of the Committee of Forty-eight and also a member of the Arrangements Committee of the St. Paul meeting, in a statement, declared he would urge all progressive groups to stay away from St. Paul because the communists had planned to seize the convention.

He said that since it was the desire of all groups affiliated with the Committee of Forty-eight to nominate La Follette every effort would be made to turn the various progressive organizations from St. Paul to Cleveland.

"As the matter stands," said Hopkins, "Senator La Follette has requested that all progressives refrain from participating in the June 17 convention. This request cannot be lightly regarded, especially by any of his friends, who, like ourselves have labored for years to bring about his nomination for the presidency. I take his statement to mean that he is ready and willing to accept the presidential nomination of the Cleveland convention of the Conference for Progressive Political action on July 4 and that that convention will take action accordingly."

Hopkins said the entrance of the Communists into the St. Paul meeting was sufficient reason for the withdrawal of "the sponsors of those movements in America that have struggled for years to accomplish the overthrow of plutocracy through the medium of the Democratic ballot box."

He said tha the political program of Senator La Follette was identical with those of the Committee of Forty-eight and that the committee stood with the Senator in withdrawing from the S. Paul convention.

Possible Effect of La Follette's Letter

By CHARLES MICHELSON,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—What sounds like an announcement of his prospective independent candidacy was issued yesterday by Senator La Follette, who gave publicity to a letter directed to Attorney-General Ekerns of Wisconsin.

Nowhere in his letter did La Follette specifically state that he would run for the presidency, but he did say that, unless the Democratic or Republican parties purge itself of evil influences, "a long-suffering, indignant people will find effective means, independent of both old parties, to take back control of their Government and make it truly representative."

Whether La Follette runs or not, there will be serious political effects from the announcement. In the first place, it leads Republicans to hope for a split in the radical group in the Northwest, which might enable them to hold Minnesota. They were prepared to concede this State to La Follette, along with Wisconsin and the two Dakotas.

The Republicans think the La Follette letter gives them hope of relegating Magnus Johnson to private life, he having been elected only to fill an unexpired term and substituting a regular. It is different with Shipstead, the other Farmer-Labor Senator from Minnesota, who was elected for a full term. Magnus Johnson has straddled on the St. Paul convention, while Shipstead is with La Follette in repudiating it. The real optimists among the old guard think there is even a chance to prevent the renomination of Senator Brookhart in Iowa, but as his opponent for the Republican nomination is ex-Representative Sweet, whom Brookhart beat, 4 to 1, two years ago, the Iowa insurgent is not worrying.

The menace of a La Follette candidacy, from the Republican point of view, is that he might carry four or five Northwestern states, and also take away so many Republican votes in Indiana, Illinois and Ohio as to give those states to the Democrats.

Missouri Progressive Delegates Will Not Attend St. Paul Convention.

Delegates elected a week ago by the Missouri Progressive League to the St. Paul Farmer-Labor Progressive convention June 17 will not attend the convention, Sheridan Carlisle, Missouri chairman, announced today, but will attend the Cleveland progressive conference July 4. He said he expected that conference would indorse Senator La Follette for the presidency as an independent.

"Senator La Follette's statement repudiating the St. Paul convention and intimating that he would seek the nomination as an independent candidate came as no surprise to us," Carlisle said. "I was informed two weeks ago of his intentions and of the statement to be issued. At the time we elected delegates we knew they would not attend the convention, the election being only to forestall the possible selection of delegates by irresponsible persons purporting to represent us.

"Our delegates will not go to St. Paul, but they will go to the Cleveland conference, which will indorse, not nominate, some progressive for the presidency. If either the Democratic or the Republican party should nominate a real progressive on a real progressive platform, the conference undoubtedly would indorse him, but we do not anticipate that will be done. We expect the conference to indorse Senator La Follette as an independent candidate."

Yale Students Invite La Follette to Attend Banquet.

By the Associated Press.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29.—Supporters among Yale undergraduates of Senator Robert M. La Follette in the recent mock political campaign which ended in a nominating convention that failed to make a choice of candidates last night, announced today through the Yale News that a banquet would be held June 6 to which the Senator had been invited. La Follette received 124 of the 740 votes cast by the Yale students in the nominating convention.

WILSON DIED FOR DEMOCRACY, SAYS LEGION'S COMMANDER

Remember His Goal of Perpetual Peace When at Cemeteries, He Urges.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, May 29.—Woodrow Wilson died for democracy's fulfillment as surely as if he had died at Chateau Thierry, John R. Quinn, National Commander of the American Legion, declared in his annual Memoial Day message made public here today.

"America pauses in her stride to honor and revere the men who died for our nation's destiny," the message said. "It is the sixth Memorial Day since the World War added thousands of lives to that long list of heroes whose blood is the mortar of our country's foundation.

Since last Memorial Day Woodrow Wilson has passed on and sleeps with the thousands who died for democracy's fulfillment. Our war-time President died for the cause he so fervently believed in, as surely as is his pain-racked frame had been found hanging limply on the barbed wire of Chateau Thierry. He was our comrade, our inspired leader, with universal peace as his heart's desire.

"In him were crystallized the ideals upon which this nation is founded, the ideals for which veterans of three wars today pay homage to their dead. As we make the pilgrimage to the grave-strewn cemeteries let us remember his fearless leadership, and his goal—perpetual peace.

"And in remembering the ideals for which he and our comrades lie buried, let us pray that a way will be found to end all war forevermore, so that no future generation will mourn on Memorial Day for another generation of youths offered in sacrifice in another war."

HOUSE VOTES $150,000,000 TO BRING NAVY UP TO RATIO

Bill Authorizes Construction of Eight Scout Cruisers and Changes in Battleships.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Expenditure of nearly $150,000,000 to bring the American navy up to the 5-5-3 ratio fixed by the Washington arms conference is called for in a bill received by the Senate today from the House, which passed it last night by a vote of 165 to 138.

The measure, which was requested by the Navy Department, authorizes construction of eight scout cruisers and six river gunboats, and the conversion of the battleships New York, Texas, Florida, Utah, Arkansas and Wyoming into oil burners with the installation of additional devices for protection against submarines and aircraft. An effort by Representative Britten, Republican, Illinois, to add an appropriation of $6,500,000 for elevation of the guns on these and seven other battleships was defeated, and no attempt was made to authorize construction of airplane carriers.

An amendment by Representative Montague, Democrat, Virginia, to authorize the President to suspend the building program should another naval limitations conference be held, was accepted.

Choose Your Company.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

"WHAT ails the young men?" I am glad the fair lady who asks that question signs her name "Disgusted 22." There is still hope for you, if you stop now to listen. Did you ever hear the oft-repeated quotation, "Birds of a feather flock together"? I believe very firmly in those words. You seem to be out of place with the young men whom you have described, that is why you still have hope. There are thousands, yea, millions who have not yet "bowed their knees to Baal." The young men whom you describe are not wholly responsible for their actions. The young women with whom they associate demand that kind of entertainment. I can speak from my own study of human nature and say honestly a person is a victim of his own environment. But you may choose your own environment. Some of my happiest moments are those which I spend with my own company. I pity the man who cannot enjoy his own association. These are the quiet moments when one can take a trial balance and see where one stands.

Stop now and think: what is your purpose in life? Do you aim to live for others? You will never find true happiness until you give up self and live for your fellow man. I am not a preacher nor a moralist: I am a plain electrical engineer who made his way through the university by the newsboy and kitchen police route, yet found time to do active work in the church. I am at present president of three church and Sunday school organizations. If you are lonely spend your time in the church and Sunday school. You will find no better rest for the mind. You will find there the young men whom you are seeking.

"Heroes of Peace."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I AM glad to know that, for the first time, there will be a Memorial service on Decoration day at the City Infirmary. The graves of dead soldiers and sailors will be decorated with all the honor which music, flowers and eloquence can bestow. We have spent thousands of dollars on burying the unknown warrior. But those men who have given all their lives to the hardest pioneering work of this country, harvesting, road-making, farming, building railroads, cities and industries, are buried in Potter's Field, "a place to bury strangers in," without prayer, minister or burial service. A pitiful penalty for dying poor.

A visitor to the field would not know he was among "the glorious dead." There are no mounds, no gravestones, no trees, no names, only long smooth grass. No Jews are buried there, and the Catholics are buried in their own cemetery by their own priests. No church or minister has yet made itself or himself responsible for giving these American heroes of peace Christian burial.

On Foot to Municipal Opera.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

THE coming opening of our Municipal Opera brought me to Forest Park to observe what improvements are made for the pedestrians on the south side.

The south side of our Forest Park was always neglected and so it is today. There is nothing done in regard to the road, part of the path is with cinders as it was last fall, the remainder is in the start of widening. Some humanly feeling soul put several loads of dirt on, and, my dear pedestrian, you will have the pleasure of being used as a road-roller. Next year—maybe—there will be cinders put on—but don't worry. The automobile road on the north side is in progress of reconstruction.

As our Alderman said in regards of golf—poor people don't play golf, so it seems with the opera—people without automobiles have no business to go to the opera.

Good Musicians Enjoy Jazz.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

WITHOUT any intention of affirming or denying the correctness of the views expressed by your critic in relation to the Paul Whiteman concert of Wednesday evening, the writer respectfully asks for the following information:

Why is it that such artists as Rachmaninoff, Josef Hofmann, Godowsky and that very sensitive musician, Carl Engel (Chief of the Department of Music in the Congressional Library), enjoy the best jazz, and apparently regard it as a real contribution to musical art?

The writer happened to be present at the time that the distinguished composer, Louis Victor Saar, heard for the first time some notable examples of jazz, and his reaction was enthusiastic delight—and we know that Saar is extremely classical in his musical taste. I am informed, too, that Mr. Ganz finds something quite worth while in jazz.

Is it perhaps a matter of musical taste, and if so, are we to regard such artists as I have named as men of poor taste?

"OPEN MIND."

INTIMIDATING EMPLOYES.

"Partisan political investigations at Washington," passage of the bonus and failure of the Mellon tax plan are given as reasons by the Edison Storage Battery Co. of West Orange, N. J., for dismissing 107 of its employes. The printed notice adds that the only visible hope of relief is that "business men capable of dealing with business problems" be elected to public office.

The meaning conveyed to the worker is that, unless he votes according to the instructions of his employer, he and his family will suffer want.

The statement of the Edison manager that, after the Senate inquiries got under way, "many of our customers began to lose confidence in the Government and cut down or stopped their buying" is on its face a shoddy fiction. The logic of it is that a corrupt Government unexposed is more to be desired than corruption exposed and Government purged.

From the official version it appeared but recently that passage of the bonus would scrap tax reduction. Senator Smoot, the financier of the Senate, since has admitted that the bonus and tax bills as passed would leave no deficit. What the Edison company demanded, then, was its own particular form of tax reduction.

It is believed on the basis of reports that the Edison incident is the first shot in a business retrenchment campaign by the New Jersey Manufacturers' Association to influence the votes of workers. This practice became notorious in the McKinley-Bryan campaign of 1896, when workers were plainly told at shop meetings that if Bryan should be elected they need not return to work the day after election.

Is a similar program scheduled for the present year? It was revealed in February that a piano manufacturing concern was ordering its employes to write their Congressmen and Senators in behalf of the Mellon plan and against the bonus. When the instructions were reprinted in the American Legion Weekly, and when a statement from the White House characterized such practices as "utterly un-American and subversive of the very fundamentals of democracy," the company readily withdrew the order and made a goat of its manager.

What does big business care about "business men capable of dealing with business problems" in the Government? Privilege-seeking business selected its own Government in 1920, with the result of Fall, Daugherty, Lasker and charming "Charlie" Forbes, an unsponsored adventurer, who wasted in graft and riotous living nearly half of the billion dollars voted by Congress for the relief of the country's maimed and disabled defenders.

Big business cares not a farthing for or against the "partisan political investigations" except that they reflect on the party that hands it the tariff privilege, the public domain and other favors in appreciation of its handsome campaign contributions.

We are to have publicity of campaign donations in the coming presidential contest. Let us have also publicity of attempts of employers to herd their workers to the polls and dictate their votes. When men are forced to surrender their political rights under pain of hunger we shall have left in the shell of a republic the substance of feudalism.

ANTIFIREARM LAWS.

Backed by mollycoddles and earnest persons who believe that the mere passage of a law will accomplish the end sought, a number of bills are before Congress to prohibit the manufacture and distribution, through interstate commerce, of short firearms—pistols or revolvers of any make. The promoters of this legislation claim that it will aid in the disarmament of the criminally inclined and hence diminish crime.

Aside from the question of making it more difficult for the law-abiding citizen to defend his home and person, and his constitutional right to possess the arms necessary for such defense, a little experiment which proved conclusively that the antipistol laws will not disarm the criminal is described in a recent issue of The American Rifleman.

A gunsmith named Wiggins, at Salem, Ore., "who refuses to take the reform jumps at every tinkle of a long-haired leader's bell," and who thinks for himself, took a high-powered rifle, and, with a hacksaw and a jackknife, transformed it into a deadly pocket "gat" in precisely nine minutes. This was quick work, but it was clearly demonstrated that any thug could provide himself with a weapon more destructive at short range than the average pistol, in a very short time.

The obvious thing for the pistol prohibitionists to do is to pass another law to stop the manufacture and distribution of rifles. Finally, it will be necessary to prohibit any and every weapon, putting the people at the complete mercy of violent criminals. Which, of course, all mollycoddles will approve.

WHAT MAN COULD DO IT?

The girl who robbed the bank at Farmington, Ill., has done more to break the tedium of a late and reluctant spring than Congress and both big baseball leagues.

She drove up to the bank in a taxicab. Nothing unusual in that. She alighted, leading a 2-year-old child by the hand, and entered the bank. The child was crying. It probably wanted to ride some more in the pretty taxicab. When she entered the bank she had put a mask over her face. That was a concession to the conventions. A lady nowadays can disguise her face beyond recognition without a mask, but the established formulas must be followed. In her right hand she carried a revolver, for there was serious work to do. In the classic manner she robbed the bank of $1200 and had the money put in a sack she had brought with her. That probably was habit acquired at the cash-and-carry groceries. Then she went back to the taxicab and drove away. The child was still crying. It probably wanted to stay in the pretty bank.

The use of the pistol and mask is not uncommon in these bobbed-hair days, but taking the young child along was near to genius. Holding the cherub by the hand throughout the affair was the par excellence of technique. Where is the man who could do it? Is there in all Illinois, the Middle West, the whole United States, a man who could hold a crying 2-year-old with one hand while he robbed a bank with the other? There is not. It is doubtful if so consummate an artist as Jesse James could have done it, even when he was at the top of his game.

NO RED IN LA FOLLETTE.

Senator La Follette has written a letter to the Attorney-General of Wisconsin refusing to permit his name to be presented to the Farmer-Labor-Progressive convention to be held in St. Paul next month. There is nothing surprising in that. La Follette is not yet called upon to announce his campaign intentions or plans, though there is the threat of a bolt and a third party in the statement that, if the old parties fail to purge themselves of the influences that now dominate them, the people will find means to take control of their Government and make it representative. But the letter is somewhat surprising in its denunciation of communists and decidedly surprising in its revelations of the activities and affiliations of our communists.

The Farmer-Labor-Progressive party committed a fatal error, La Follette says, "in making the communists an integral part of their organization." There can be no political fellowship, he argues, between American citizens who believe in democracy and who would accomplish reforms by constitutional methods and the communists who are bent on starting a revolution and establishing the dictatorship of the proletariat.

La Follette cites interesting documentary proof of how the communists are planning to use the Farmer-Labor-Progressive party, how thoughtfully they are working out the strategy to be employed at the St. Paul convention and the advice and exhortation they have received by cable from Moscow to use every effort to make the St. Paul meeting a great demonstration of "labor and the left wing." And that the communists have bored in pretty successfully on the Farmer-Labor-Progressive party is shown by the fact that the secretary-treasurer of the Committee on Arrangements at the St. Paul convention is a communist.

Coming from a Daugherty, a Palmer or a Burns such charges of communistic plotting under the direction of Moscow would be severely discounted if not wholly dismissed. But is it possible that La Follette is frightened by the bolshevistic bogey? However that question be answered, his letter makes it plain that La Follette, often accused of being a red, is not even pink.

JUDGE GARY AND THE DRAFT.

Judge Gary, chairman of the United States Steel Corporation, delivered himself in a speech Friday evening of some sarcastic remarks on the apostasy proposed during the war of Government operation of the steel industry. His object was to discredit McAdoo, to whom he attributed the suggestion.

The version since given of the subject by Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the raw materials section of the National Council of Defense, ought to make Gary sorry that he opened his head. Gary, according to this version, was a reluctant patriot and wanted 4 1-4 cents a pound for steel plates which expert authority placed at a merited value of 3 cents. There were "some individuals" in the steel industry, hints Baruch, "who could not at first subordinate commercialism to war needs, and President Wilson informed me that if the war program was being delayed, and it could be accelerated by putting any industry under Government control, this would be done."

Human life was not considered too sacred to conscript in the last war, and in wars to come Judge Gary's steel may not be exempted from draft in the national service.

THE CITY CLUB, OLD AND NEW.

The City Club, "a social club with a civic purpose," celebrated the dedication of its new $2,000,000 home on the tenth anniversary of the Pageant and Choral, which, but for the activities of its members, led by the first president, Luther Smith, probably would not have been a success.

This fact recalls other early civic activities of the club which then had no property but great stores of ambition and public spirit. Now it is well loaded with properties and obligations and is still ambitious. The question is: Will its public spirit and desire for knowledge from whatever source derived survive its elegance and more conventional clubbiness?

The Baltimore Sun, within the year, printed a survey of the city clubs of the United States by Frederick R. Barkley. Of the merely "resoluting" type and the forum type of city club, he said, the latter are pre-eminent. The clubs which he regards as the most conspicuous successes are those of Cleveland and Los Angeles, the latter modeled upon the former. The Cleveland club probably would have been less of a civic force, writes Barkley, "with the possession of a heavy investment in its own building." The Washington club, with a large investment, "has reached the point at which it is unlikely to have a speaker who might say anything which would cause one member to resign."

It seems to us that the surrender of all civic backbone and tolerance in the discussion of public questions is not a necessary accompaniment of the ownership of its own home by a city club. We trust that the St. Louis City Club will not forget its humble, honorable and useful past in its new garb of luxury and amplitude.

The new building is a credit to the city and the club and represents hard work, daring and genius on the part of its promoters, of whom the leading spirit was President George B. Logan.

JUST A MINUTE

FREE VERSE.

THE other day, while playing golf, I shot three balls into a pond.
Then I sat down and ruminated.

Imagine us trying to play golf!
Golf is something for the Chinese.
It is what we can give them for having given us mah jongg.
It can be our revenge.

The Chinese have been waiting thousands of years for something suited to their temperament.
They have tried everything but golf.
War.
Peace.
Religion.
Esthetics.
Art.
Science.
Democracy.
They have tried even piracy.
Everything but golf.

His calm!
His confidence!
His even poise!
Think of him standing there with 10,000 disillusioning years behind him measuring with his quiet and seeing eyes a mere bit of water!
See his golf ball, probably the one he expects to use the rest of his life!
His placid face!
His quiet eyes!
His unhurry!
His unfevered body!
You know very well he will do more than merely shoot over the pond.
He will probably hole out in one.
He has the temperament for it.
It is what he has been waiting for all these thousands of years.

It is what he should have been doing when Marco Polo visited China.
Think of it—waste!
Waiting!
Century after century they have looked out on the sea which brought to them the stranger.
Who in turn brought nothing.

We have something for them now.
Something that will make them and ruin us.
Imagine the deep, resonant voice of China crying "FORE!"
All up and down the Yang tse Kiang.
And through the mountains of Thibet.
"FORE!"

With which thought I teed up a fourth ball and hit it to the green as prettily as any Chinaman could do it.

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN REPUBLICANS AND DEMOCRATS

(New Madrid, Mo., Record.)

The Record believes that the Republican voters of Missouri taken individually, are as honest and patriotic as the Democrats. There are bad men in both parties, but present conditions prove that the Democrats are more afraid of being convicted of crime than the Republicans. The Democrat is made to "take his medicine," while the Republicans defend their higher-up criminal when exposed for "political reasons" as is done at Washington.

Senator La Follette sort of ballot-boxed the communists' ears.

HE GOT WHAT HE WANTED.

(Monroe County, Mo.) Appeal.)

Another thing that makes it hard for the farmer to get Government guarantees on his livestock and grain is the way he raised Cain when he had it before. He literally wallowed in prosperity under the Wilson and Hoover plan, by which it was unlawful for anybody to pay less than $2 a bushel for his wheat or less than $17.65 per hundred pounds for his hogs. Misled by politicians who had hatreds to vent instead of hogs to sell, he clamored so violently for a return to the old competitive policy that Congress let him have his way, whereupon the bottom dropped completely out of his markets and he became a prey to economic evils with which he has been unable to cope. Worse still, the politicians who induced him to get rid of the subsidy which put him on an equal footing with Capital and Labor are doing nothing to help him in his fight for the McNary-Haughen bill, by which he hopes to get back to the good times he enjoyed under the Wilson-Hoover regime. The logic of this situation is that the farmer must do more thinking for himself and less plugging for office-holders who throw him aside like a squeezed lemon after using him for personal ends. Our Government, of course, should not make any interest prosperous at the expense of the entire nation. If it is to do this with other interests, however, it should do likewise for Agriculture.

HOW SLEEP THE BRAVE!

By William Collins (1721-1756).

HOW sleep the brave that sink to rest
By all their country's wishes blest!
When Spring with dewy fingers cold
Returns to deck their hallowed mold,
She there shall dress a sweeter sod
Than fancy's feet have ever trod.

By fairy hands their knell is rung;
By unseen forms their dirge is sung;
There Honor comes, a pilgrim gray,
To bless the turf that wraps their clay;
And Freedom shall awhile repair
To dwell, a weeping hermit, there.

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

GOODNESS, NO!

From the Detroit News.

THE Michigan branch of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations adopted a resolution asking Congress to induce "the establishment of adequate courses in home-making in grade and high schools, so that standards in housing, sanitation, nutrition, clothing and training in worth-while social conventions and home responsibility may be made universal."

Whew!

In the first place, education is the province of the various states, and Congress has nothing to do with it. For a long time a movement has been on foot to establish a Department of Education, with a seat in the Cabinet; and this move has been fought consistently by everyone who realizes that the educational problems of North Carolina are different from those of New York, and that "universal standards" are impractical. Suppose Congress did indorse such a scheme. There follows the necessity of fixing the standards in housing, sanitation, and all the other things. Who is to do that? Congress? We hope not!

CAHOKIA MOUND.

From the Chicago Tribune.

HUMAN hands have built no larger earthwork than the great Cahokia Mound dominating the mound country near East St. Louis, Ill. Its further preservation, after prehistoric centuries, is now but a matter of months, without the aid of Illinois. The resolutions by the State Historical society, soon to be proposed, urging the State acquisition for a public park of this great monument to prehistoric industry and faith, should be supported. The mounds are pyramids from which the robe of history and tradition has been torn away. A strange people built them, who came and went before the Indians controlled America. A fixed civilization of some sort was erected, only to revert again to conquering nomadism. Fully 100,000 persons were settled in the East St. Louis region in those [illegible] days, and archaeologists are finding further signs of their culture. A mound or so is left of all this people's work, their statesmanship, the ambitious projects of their young men. In deference to a vanished race, as a reminder of a great failure, as an admonition to a young and careless people plunging headlong into the future, these mounds should be preserved.

MATRIMONY AND FISHING.

From the Detroit Free Press.

ACCORDING to a New York dispatch, Miss Helen Gwynne, retiring president of the Y. W. C. A.'s national industrial assembly, advised working girls in her farewell address to be flashy, wear gaudy clothes and catch their man. The subject opened by this opinion is difficult and any rule which is laid down must be considered open to exceptions, but catching a man is something like fishing, and girls who are thinking about matrimony may get a hint from the practice of anglers. The biggest and wariest trout are frequently landed with the help of gray and dusky colored flies, while the brilliant "coachman," all red and white, may not attract a nibble. On the other hand, any small boy who goes a-frogging knows that a bit of bright red flannel on anything that looks like a hook will invariably tempt a bullfrog to bite.

PAUL CAMBON, FRENCH DIPLOMAT, IS DEAD

Twenty-Two Years Ambassador in London; Helped Form the Entente Cordiale.

By the Associated Press.

PARIS, May 29.—Pierre Paul Cambon, former French Ambassador to London, died at his home here last night.

The eminent French statesman and diplomat won international fame in the early days of the present century for his efforts in behalf of the Anglo-French agreement of April 8, 1904, when the powerful and far-reaching Entente Cordiale was born.

Paul Cambon was one of three brothers, all of whom were conspicuous in French diplomatic affairs at the same time. Jules Cambon, later the best known of the three, was Ambassador to Washington; Paul was accredited to London, and the third brother was in a similar post at Constantinople.

Paul Cambon acted as intermediary during the negotiations, and it was largely through him that the many difficulties were ironed out. The announcement, that an agreement had been reached, came suddenly late in 1904, and astounded the entire world.

The basis of the treaty provided for the French surrender to England of certain long standing rights in Egypt, while England conceded that France occupied a privileged position in Morocco. Aside from settling these cardinal points, the treaty also wound up many other matters of controversy between the two nations. The treaty was hailed as the "Entente Cordiale," or the vehicle by which France and England were brought together into close political alliance. Hardly less important to Europe was the fact that Russia came indirectly into the agreement through her previously existing alliance with France, hence King Edward's original purpose of uniting the three countries through such a treaty was accomplished.

Cambon negotiated and signed the final draft after Delcasse and Lansdowne had agreed upon the essential terms. While its importance was not underestimated even at that time, there were perhaps none who foresaw the tremendous effect the Entente Cordiale would have 10 years later, when the World War swept over Europe.

AID SOCIETY LOOKING FOR SUMMER HOMES FOR CHILDREN

Person Whose Homes Are Available Are Urged to Communicate With the Secretary.

The St. Louis Children's Aid Society is looking for available summer homes for children. The most urgent case at the present time is that of a small 6-year-old girl who has been confined in a house in the poorer section of St. Louis all winter. Although she is not ill, she is not a strong child and needs the country air.

Every summer the Children's Aid Society places such children in free summer homes as many persons are glad to take care of a little child for a few months. So often the parents of these children are too poor and cannot afford to give their children a little vacation in the country. A summer home with a big yard and lots of space to play is a treat for these little city dwellers.

"We do not like to place these children in summer camps because they are not as robust as the other children and really need individual home care," said Miss Hertha Miller, executive secretary of the Children's Aid Society. "We have placed a small 2½-year-old with a family for the summer. The parents wanted the child to be a playmate for their own little boy."

Persons whose homes are available as free summer homes for children for one or two months and who would like to care for a small youngster for the summer are urged to communicate with Miss Miller.

THEATER STRIKE FADES; COURT UPHOLDS THE EQUITY

Injunction Sought by Producers Is Denied by New York Supreme Court.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, May 29.—The separate peace pact signed by the Managers' Protective Association and the Actors' Equity Association was held to be legal by Supreme Court Justice McCook yesterday, when he denied the Producing Managers' Association's application for an injunction to prevent the insurgent managers and the actors from operating under the contract.

Justice McCook held that the contract, which provides that 80 per cent of each cast be made up of Equity members, was neither illegal nor unreasonable, and asserted that to grant the injunction "would seriously injure the defendant associations and their members and a host of individuals outside of either body, dependent upon the theater for their living."

As a result of this decision, possibility of an actors' strike, which seemed imminent if the Court sustained the injunction, dwindled almost to nothing. Only five theaters at the most are expected to be closed next Monday.

The amount of the donation this year, as for several years past, was $200, and it was made early, as it is hoped others will be, to allow the distribution of ice to poor children to proceed without financial delay when the season's warm days begin.

Six other cash contributions totaling $23 were received during the first three days of this week, and these, together with the $200 from the Post-Dispatch, make the total amount of $357.50 in the fund for the babies.

Several large benefit affairs and a number of small entertainments are being planned for the early part of June, among these being the annual baseball game between the Commission and Produce Merchants of Third and Fourth streets, and the presentation of a three-act comedy, "Three Live Ghosts," by members of the 138th Infantry Dramatic Club at a centrally-located theater.

Child workers desiring to conduct lemonade stands or ice cream sales can obtain printed placards, size 9"x14", upon application at the Post-Dispatch. RAIN HALTS MUNICIPAL OPERA FOR THIRD EVENING

Checks for Last Night Will Be Honored for Any Other Performance This Week.

For three evenings now patrons of Municipal Opera have been unable to learn what happens to "Princess Chic" of Normandy when the skies are clear. When it rains before 8:15, as it did Monday, the Princess does not appear at all; when it rains in the second act, as it did Tuesday, the Princess dashes for her dressing room, and when it rains at 8:45, as it did last night, her majesty merely appears and vanishes.

The drizzle last night began at 8:30, latecomers meeting timid patrons on their way out. Most of the audience sought to bluff it through with umbrellas and raincoats, but the shower became heavier and the management flashed on the lights, halting Miss Dorothy Francis, ("Princess Chic") in the middle of a song. Rain checks for last night will be honored for any performance the rest of the week. Tuesday night's performance went beyond the hour for exchange of rain checks.

Sheehan Estate $47,185.

CITY MAY ABANDON THE WIDENING OF FRANKLIN AV.

Board of Estimate Issues Statement on Extravagant Claims of Property Owners for Damages.

Warning that extravagant claims for damages, being made by some property owners who will be affected by the widening and paving of Franklin avenue from Fourth to Ninth streets under the bond issue, may result in abandonment of that and samilar improvement projects, was given today by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in a formal statement and resolution.

The board has been advised by the city law department that "certain attorneys" are soliciting property owners along Franklin avenue and that as a result "numerous extravagant claims" for damages have been presented recently, despite the fact that the time for filing such claims expired Feb. 24, last.

"Should it develop that there is a concerted effort to mulct the city by capitalizing the need for wider streets, the Board of Estimate and Apportionment will not favor such projects and will be forced as a matter of duty to vote for their abandonment," states the board.

The damages awarded to property owners on Franklin avenue totaled $504,203, of which $483,068.70 is to be paid by property owners in the district benefited and the balance by the city at large. The City Plan Commission, prior to passage of the bond issue, had estimated the damages would approximate $100,200.

The sum of $8,000,000 was provided in the bond issue for street improvements.

WATERWAYS CORPORATION BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Measure Goes to President for Signature; Provides for $5,000,000 Capital.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Without opposition, the Senate last night passed the Inland Waterways Corporation bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Ransdell of Louisiana, and in the House by Representative Denison of Illinois.

The bill, which passed the House last week, will now go to the President, who is expected to sign it without delay since it had the support of Secretary of War Weeks.

The Inland Waterways Corporation, as created by the bill, would be capitalized at $5,000,000 and would be directed by Col. T. Q. Ashburn, Chief of the Coastwise and Inland Waterways Service, who would be made a Brigadier General. Col. Ashburn has been ordered to service with troops at Fort Eustace, Va., but if the President signs the bill he will not be affected by this order. Senator McKellar of Tennessee, who had stated that he would oppose the bill unless his amendment providing a berth as secretary for an army friend of his was accepted, withdrew his opposition at the last moment.

HABIT OF TAKING THE SIDE ROADS PUTS THE JOY IN MOTOR CAMPING

Thousands of Motorists Are Discovering That in This Way They Can Slip Easily and Logically Into Real Enjoyment of Their Automobiles.

By WILLIAM ULLMAN.

For the motorist who is too new at the game to know whether he would like extensive touring off the beaten tracks and a bit of motor camping en route, there is a convenient way to find out. Many thousands of motorists are discovering that along the side roads within their own counties there is much to give glimpses of the sort of things seasoned motorists are going in for more extensively this year than ever before.

The first rule of touring and auto camping is to develop ability to get off the beaten tracks, say those who have fried bacon under nature's canopy and blazed new trails. It may seem like an obvious statement, but that is only because motordom scarcely appreciates what it means to have the average motorist so wedded to traffic that he glances at side roads with dread and fears to leave the concrete stretches.

Motorists who hesitate to get mud on tires and dust on hood cannot be expected to be led to the land of the open sky and the pitched tent, unless the process is gradual and logical. That is why many motorists who are traffic wizards are beginning to appreciate the fact that to make the break they first must learn to plan their Sunday drives with more consideration for nature and less for the artificialities of highway traffic.

In the Week-End Parade.

To the majority of motorists, the week-end spins are nothing more or less than parading of highly polished hoods, painted spares and dapper sedans. When occupants aren't breathing their own air over again in their unseasonably snug cars, they are breathing in carbon monoxide from the exhausts of cars in front of them. Scenery consists of bumpers and motorcycle cops with an occasional "No Parking" sign for good measure. It isn't what recreatioal motoring should be or what it needs to be.

Motorists who seek the crowded highways for recreation are not only doing themselves an injustice, but are a serious handicap to long-distance tourists who must use the main trunk lines.

If motorists who need not monopolize the main highways would seek the roads for recreation, they would be taking the first and most important step toward the greater motoring that lies beyond, and they would be considerably simplifying touring conditions.

A strange notion persists in most motor circles, to the effect that one can only get out of the range of city or suburban traffic by going a long distance away from home. A 15-mile drive is understood to mean 15 miles of traffic, but 50 miles often is considered sufficient to initiate one into the "real country."

The Mileage Not Important.

Unfortunately, the idea doesn't work out well. Many a motorist who goes 50 miles from home finds himself in worse traffic than he is normally accustomed to.

It isn't the mileage that counts

Missouri Touring Possibilities

Generally speaking, the tourist should try Missouri roads only in dry weather, although there are some places that can be reached from St. Louis in any weather conditions.

The map herewith should be saved, for it shows all the main highways of Missouri and the number of the various routes and their markers. With the aid of this map it is a simple matter to get up a number of short and long distance State tours.

St. Louis to Kansas City—The motorist has choice of three routes in dry weather, as follows:

Via Jefferson City—Clayton road, North and South road, right into Manchester road to Manchester Village then south to Valley Park, crossing the Meramec River and swinging right into Antire road to Eureka and Pacific. At Pacific swing west to Manchester road and then west again to Union on Route 12 through Leslie, Rosebud, Mount Sterling, Linn and Jefferson City (140 miles). Continue on No. 12 through California, Tipton, Sedalia, Warrensburg and Lone Jack to Kansas City (total mileage, 321.)

Via Fulton—St. Charles, then follow Route No. 2 through Wentzville (46 miles), Warrenton (68), Fulton (119), Columbia (146), Booneville (174), Marshall (213), and Higginsville (247), to Kansas City. (Total mileage, 312.)

Via Mexico—St. Charles, then Route No. 2 to High Hill (82 miles) where swing into Route No. 22, to Montgomery City (94), Mexico (127), Centralia (143), Moberly (174), where take No. 10 to Keytesville (204), Brunswick (219), Carrolton (242), and Excelsior Springs (295), to Kansas City. (Total Mileage, 342).

One also can take the St. Charles-Wentzville road to Fulton and then swing over to Jefferson City on Route No. 15 and go to Kansas City via California, Tipton, Sedalia and Warrensburg (320 miles).

St. Louis to Cape Girardeau—There are three practicable dry weather routes to "The Cape," as follows:

Via Belleville—Free bridge into 10th street East St. Louis, to State street, right two blocks, left on Park Drive to Edgmont, right on West Main street and through the Belleville public square, following Route No. 15 to Mascoutah, Okaw-

AGITATION FOR BETTER TOURIST CAMP IN ST. LOUIS

President of Auto Dealers' Association Says Present One is Disgrace to City—Favors Another Site.

Dissatisfaction with the automo-ile camp in Forest Park, and ith the reports of it which tour-sts are spreading throughout the ountry is resulting in a movement o establish in St. Louis a camp for otor campers that will be more orthy of the city.

"Our tourist camp is a dis-race to St. Louis," said F. C. cDonald, president of the St. ouis Automobile Dealers' Asso-iation. "It is inadequate, rongly located, insanitary and enerally undesirable.

"Would you like to camp in it ourself? No, not unless you ad to because there was nothing etter.

"Can you tell anybody how to ind it? No. Why, the only place n St. Louis I ever saw a sign irecting one to it is at the upper nd of the park. If you come into he city that way, you can find it ith considerable trouble. But if ou come in from the West via t. Charles, or the north or south f Illinois, you will have a fine ime getting to it.

"What is there when you do ind it? Little better than noth-ng. Certainly nowhere near the acilities there should be for even he relatively few who do use it.

Much Money Involved.

"Tourists come here and boast of he 'wonderful' camps in other ities. They tell about the one at enver that cost $200,000, and of-ers as many as 2000 to 3000 tour-sts a night every convenience. A an came in the other day from ayton, O. He had nothing but raise for Dayton. Why? Because e liked its auto camp, especially he electric washer—a quarter-in-he-slot affair. Everybody that sed the camp thought that washer as great, he said. Dayton is get-ing thousands of dollars worth of he best kind of goodwill advertis-ng out of that one item. A little hing? Admittedly. But it's the ittle things that count.

"It would pay St. Louis to put tself in a position not only to elcome the country's motor tour-sts, but also to care for them omfortably while they are spend-ng their money here.

"The flood of money-spending uto traffic, is increasing every ay. But St. Louis is benefitting ery little from it. Look at the eavy traffic that sweeps past us o the north—over the Lincoln ighway, the Pike's Peak ocean-to-cean highway, and the Yellow-tone trail. The new Victory high-way passes through St. Louis. The ocal automobile dealers are go-ng to support it actively. It is oing to spend thousands of dol-ars trying to direct traffic over its oute to and through St. Louis.

Nothing to Boast Of.

"But what are we going to do o care for the tourist when he omes? We have plenty to inter-st him—the municipal opera, our heaters, the colleges, our parks, he zoo. But what do we do oth-rwise to make his stay comforta-le and enjoyable? If he is a mo-or camper, we force him into that nadequate camp in Forest Park.

"St. Louis is away behind other ities in this one respect. It's not hospitable. It's not good business. It isn't common sense."

If he found such a camp in a town of 2000 population at the end of a day's run, one would shrug his shoulders and accept it as good enough. That is, he would if it was so located as to attract not more than 15 to 20 cars, and if he was only stopping over night. There would be no reason to praise it to other tourists. It is much inferior to camps in many small towns.

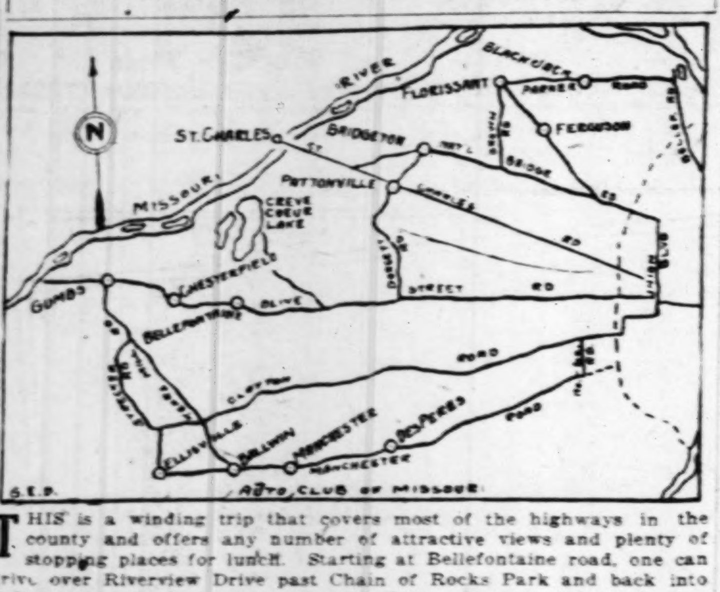
To a city of St. Louis' size such a camp is a liability instead of an asset. The average tourist can hardly speak well of it, and is more likely to speak disparagingly of it and the city. It is difficult to find. It is small, and cannot be materially enlarged without encroaching too much on the park. Its facilities consist of a small building, in which tourists register, a drinking fountain, three outdoor washstands, two cold shower baths, two double fireplaces and inadequate toilets. It should be noted, however, that the camp is kept clean and neat.

"There should be no difficulty in finding a more suitable site for a camp," McDonald said today. "It could be located on a main highway or on a paved road just off a highway. The city could well afford to spend a goodly amount in fitting it up. Advertise the Victory Highway and the city's advantages properly, and furnish a really fine auto camp, and St. Louis should attract a steadily growing flood of motor visitors. They would spend their money in St. Louis, and would advertise the city all over the country."

Ballast Helps Sometimes.

If the light car seems to ride decidedly better when there is a passenger in the rear, and if the extra passenger is rarely carried, sometimes it is practical to add some weight to the rear by packing some heavy material under the rear seat. This does not necessarily result in greater gas consumption as the wheels get better traction and waste less gas because they spin less.

An Enjoyable All-Day Run Over St. Louis County Roads



THIS is a winding trip that covers most of the highways in the county and offers any number of attractive views and plenty of stopping places for lunch. Starting at Bellefontaine road, one can drive over Riverview Drive past Chain of Rocks Park and back into Bellefontaine road and on to Spanish Lake. Turning left on Parker road, just south of the lake, one can go through Black Jack to Florissant. Swinging south on the Brown road, one passes the Country Day School, and picks up Natural Bridge road. Going west on this he will come to Bridgeton, just south of the aviation field, where the 1923 international air meet was held.

Then there is the option of going ahead on the St. Charles Rock road to St. Charles, or of swinging south through Pattonville to the Olive Street road and west to the Craig road and right to Creve Coeur Lake. To return to the Olive Street road, it is necessary to back track. Then, going west on the Olive Street road, one finally comes to the end of the road on the bank of the Missouri River. Returning to Gumbo, go south on the Kerr's Mill road to Ballwin on the Manchester road. (If there is time, one can go through Pleasant Valley on the Stecker road and on to Ellisville.) In either case, there is the option of returning to St. Louis over the Clayton or Manchester roads.

in recreational motoring, but the selection of ways to go. Main highways are a lure to the very things the motorist desires to get away from. That is why the seasoned tourist or camper studies his side roads and automatically takes the first step by getting off the beaten track.

For instance, when he tours, his time is his own. Accordingly, there is no good reason why he should set out at a time when the highways are jammed with cars. If his vacation commences at noon on that most wonderful Saturday of all the year, he may prefer to spend the afternoon going over the camping equipment and making sure that he has everything he needs, rather than spend a hectic afternoon amid a highwayful of motorists who imagine they are getting the most out of their cars by following the leader.

When to Make Time Easiest.

The tourist might try another plan. He might cut over into some of the back country and camp out for the night as a matter of practice. It would be one more night in the open, and if he found that his paraphernalia was not complete it would be a simple matter to return home for a few minutes before setting out early Sunday morning. In any event, he would be able to get a start at a time of the day when the roads would not be crowded. He would cut over into the side roads when traffic developed, camp out again and continue on his way Monday morning.

One can make the best time between the hours of 4 and 9 on a summer or fall morning. The main highways then are as many never conceive them as being. The air is fresh and invigorating. The engine has snap and vigor. The seasoned tourist who wants to have a change of scenery and atmosphere every day can make 75 miles or so over the main highways before the world goes to work and then spend the remainder of the morning or afternoon taking it easy over the secondary roads, or even through the back country.

The selection of an ideal spot thus is greatly simplified, and, with the bulk of the mileage behind him he can stop whenever he feels that he has had enough.

The Side Road Habit.

Seeking the side roads for recreation is a habit, formed as a result of carefully thought out plans. A driver must know his country sufficiently to avoid jumping out of the frying pan of traffic into the fire of spring-wrecking roads, but he does not have to be familiar wtih every inch of the ground. He should know that the road is passible and have some idea of where it terminates. Maps help him with this, but with a little practice it is interesting to see how simple a matter it is to make wise selections of side roads.

The best feature of acquiring the habit of getting off the beaten track is that even if one finally decides not to go all the way to motor camping in its truest sense, there is much satisfaction in every inch of the way one does go. It is one of those cases where the attempt carries it own reward.

The side roads frequently start surprisingly close to the center of congestion, and in that respect are typical of the idea of motor camping itself. You get into the swing of it, not by making some sudden decision to get back to nature with a vengeans, but by filling up the thermos bottle, throwing back the one-man top and saying:

"Here's an interesting looking road. Let's go! It may be good. It may be a blind alley. Let's enjoy what there is of it."

(Copyright, 1924.)

Removing Mud Splashes.

A rag thoroughly satured with auto polish is effective for removing mud splashes if they are not too numerous. An ordinary rag will only loosen the mud, whereas the polish-soaked rag will restore the shine on the body.

WHAT CLOTHING TO TAKE ON CAMPING TRIP

Standard Outfit Recommended as Suitable for Long Jaunts.

Clothing for a motor camping trip should be chosen with due regard to the fact that the jaunt may not be a continual joy ride of balmy days and moonlit nights. Also if one wanders off the concrete highways, there will be dust, to say nothing of mud and splashing water, and most motorists will want to do considerable fussing around their cars. Still again, it is not necessary to look unkempt and frowsy on a long trip.

The following clothing is recommended by the United States touring information bureau as suitable for a plain camping trip:

Snugly fitting knickerbockers (preferably of khaki or other smooth cloth); extra pair of trousers; puttees, wrap leggings or canvas leggings; two pairs medium weight shoes; three pairs light weight wool socks; two suits light wool underwear; one cap (for driving); one felt hat; two light flannel or white polo shirts; one coat; one light sweater; one raincoat or light ulster; one pair driving gloves; waterproof outing clothing.

This will provide for the average man, unless he wishes extra clothing for hunting or fishing. If he can spare the space for another suitcase, he probably will not regret taking along clothing more suitable for an occasional informal social affair.

When Valve Stem Is Too Long.

It sometimes happens that in attaching the hose from the air pump at the filling station the air simply gushes out around the valve stem of the tire and will not enter the tube. Usually this indicates a defective nozzle on the hose, but sometimes the trouble is due to the fact that the stem of the valve protrudes too far. Try screwing the valve further into the stem of the tube.

Your Car Taken as Down Payment on a New Paige or Jewett

You May Have a Year to Pay the Balance

Every day we have turned away customers at our Used Car Department. Our advertising of dependable used cars has brought prospects in and we have had to let them leave because, in our stock of good-running cars, we did not have sufficient selection. Our business principles are the same as Woolworth's, Kresge's, Piggly Wiggly's, Thompson's Restaurants—bigger turnover, larger volume, fair prices. Therefore we must have more used cars to get volume, greater selection to satisfy customers.

WE WANT AUTOMOBILES, good used automobiles, as part payment on new Jewetts and Paiges. We want to be prepared for the Used Car business our advertising is bringing. We will give liberal allowances for Used Cars on our new ones. And our new ones are the very best values on the market today. More than 1200 St. Louis owners of Paiges and Jewetts will gladly tell you how good they are.

We Allow Liberally on Used Cars Because We Must Have More of Them

Just drive the Jewett Six and it will sell itself to you. The Jewett is leader in its class. It has—More Power for Weight—a cubic inch of piston displacement for every 11¾ pounds. Other cars have much more weight for each horse-power to pull.

Jewett is husky—weighs 2805 pounds. It has Paige-Timken axles and many other mechanical superiorities and advantages over other cars around its price.

Come and drive as many miles as you want in a Jewett. Also let us tell you how we'll treat you in a trade.

Performance certainly sells the New Paige. Ten wonderful models, each powered with the smooth, silent, big 70 H. P. Paige Motor—its long-lived performance assured by high-pressure oiling. It drives from two miles an hour in high as fast as you'll ever want to go—smoothly and silently.

The Paige Phaeton formerly sold for $2450; now the New Paige sells for only $1795. Other models have had similar price reductions. A 300% increase in plant capacity is the reason.

Call us for a demonstration in the new Paige and ask how liberally we'll treat you in trade.

NEW WYOMING ROAD IN FAMOUS CANYON

It Opens the Big Horn Basin and Attractive Scenery to the Motorist.

The tourist planning on visiting the Northwest this season will find access to the Yellowstone National Park through central Wyoming is much improved by construction of the new highway through the Wind River canyon, doing away with the old trail known as Bird's Eye pass, across the Owl Creek range.

This new deviation which is on the Yellowstone highway, between Casper and Thermopolis, is but 13 miles in length, yet it is hewn almost entirely through solid granite, and three tunnels are required, with an aggregate length of over 800 feet.

The cut-off is a Federal aid project, and cost over $750,000 to construct, and although the official opening is not until July 1, it is now accessible and will be in good condition before the opening date of the park, which is on June 15.

The Wind River canyon is very picturesque, with its huge rugged granite walls towering almost perpendicularly for 2000 feet, and the story runs that no one has ever yet been able to pilot a boat through the turbulent waters of the Wind River canyon.

Tourists who plan to enter the park by this route can make a side trip from Casper to the famous Teapot Dome and Salt Creek oil fields, which are but 40 miles distant and on good highway.

Modern camp grounds have been constructed at Casper and Thermopolis, and the Casper camp is well equipped with plenty of natural gas, the city also has three modern hotels with accommodations for over 200 guests each. Thermopolis, at the north end of the canyon, is famed as the location of the largest mineral hot springs in the world.

Although the average person is under the impression that the State of Wyoming is a desolate sage brush tract, there are many beauty spots in the western and northwestern part of the State.

A great deal of damage was done in the Northwest last fall by floods, but State departments have been active in repairing the highways, and reports from a number of points indicate that the tourist will find good road conditions generally.

The Great Falls (Mont.) Commercial Club reports that the route from Great Falls to Glacier, over the Montana link of the National Park-to-Park Highway, is in very good condition, with the exception of the Blackfoot reservation, where new construction is now in progress, although there is a good detour. The Custer Battlefield Highway is also in good condition, while the trails in the western part of the State are being put in condition is fast as the snow melts on the divide.

Use of Insurer's Service Card.

Not all motorists who carry insurance in the largest companies know that by carrying the insurer's service card with them and presenting it to the nearest local agent or representative in event of accident, fire or theft of car, much of the detail is lifted off their shoulders. The insurer has his interests at stake, relatively small as they may be, and for that reason his representatives are instructed to render every possible and reasonable service to the insured. Think of your insurance service card when you have had some trouble, but don't make the mistake of thinking of it before. Always drive your car as though you didn't carry a cent of insurance.

SLEEPING COMFORT FULLY HALF OF A CAMPING TRIP

By JIM LANCE.

Roughing it unnecessarily is not a test of manhood; instead, it is proof of a wrong viewpoint on out of doors living. There is nothing effeminate about being comfortable afoot, on horseback or motor camping.

Sleeping comfort is essential if one is to enjoy traveling. More camping trips are spoiled by inadequate sleeping arrangements than by balky cars or rough roads. For if one sleeps well, he can stand anything.

So the most important piece of camping equipment is the bed and bedding. If something must be sacrificed to cut down weight, and one's purse does not permit buying the expensive light sleeping equipment, better cut down on something else.

Forms of Car Beds.

The motorist who has a coach or a sedan can solve his traveling bedroom problem easily. There are a number of good models of beds for use in closed cars, as also for touring cars. Some rest on the seats, some have legs. Some fasten to the car. These, as a rule, permit a saving of weight. It is important to make sure that such beds are made strongly enough to obviate sagging or that they have means whereby sagging can be taken up.

Another form of sleeping outfit is a combination bed and tent, which generally is used on a roadster. The writer used one of these every night on a 12,500-mile trip in 1916 that ranged in altitude from sea level to 11,500 feet up in the Rockies. It was satisfactory, except that the model used was difficult to make impregnable to mosquitos. Also, of course, as the bed rolled out from the running board and the tent was suspended from the top of the car, it was necessary to break camp whenever one wanted to use the car. But some of the newer models offer a mosquito defense and have mosquito-proof windows for ventilation. Some of these outfits weigh as little as 20 pounds.

There also is a combination tent bed which can be put up apart from the car. It consists of a bed, generally with a patented leg arrangement which permits it to be set up on somewhat uneven ground yet maintains the bed at a level. This is easy to make mosquito-proof, and it does not tie the car down to camp. Here again it is vital to see that the bed does not sag.

Cots and Folding Beds.

Where one is using a tent, cots offer a solution of the bed problem. They are cheap, and can be bought in various styles from the ordinary army variety to a more elaborate folding affair that has special tension mechanism. The weight of a single cot, 6 feet long and 27 inches wide, will be about 17 to 18 pounds, and it will fold into a package about 38 inches long. A heavier cot weighs 22 pounds. One also can buy double cots, 52 inches wide and with a bar lengthwise through the middle to prevent sagging. One advantage of a cot is that there is space beneath it for storing things in the tent.

There are good folding beds, with special devices for keeping them from sagging. These cost a bit more than double cots, but are more substantial and comfortable. Such a bed is 48 or 52 inches wide, weighs about 32 pounds, and folds into a package 4 feet long and about 6 inches in diameter.

Sleeping on the Ground.

For the camper who wishes to sleep solidly on the ground there first is expensive, but soft and comfortable. One can throw it on a bed of stones and sleep comfortably. A saving in cost and weight can be made by buying an air bed that is just long enough to keep the hips off the ground, leaving the legs to take care of themselves. This short air bed can be purchased for most sleeping bags. The sleeping bag, of course, can be used without a tent, and some of them have little semi-tent arrangements to protect the sleeper's head from rain.

For a short trip—one not lasting more than a couple of weeks—an army cot mattress will do. Used too long on the ground it packs hard. The ordinary mattress is too bulky. This is true also of the kopoc mattress, which rolls up into a bundle about 20 inches in diameter. A ten-pound kopoc mattress, however, is not expensive, and is mighty comfortable.

Do Not Spare the Bedding.

No matter how comfortable the bed, the camper will suffer if he tries to get along with too little bedding. And plenty of bedding is choice of the air bed, the sleeping bag and the mattress. The underneath one is vital. A chill rises from the ground. A canvas cot becomes like ice as the night wears on. It is better, all around, to use a mattress of some sort on a cot. Paper blankets, lined with muslin, can be purchased, and one of these under one is a great help toward warmth. Army blankets are excellent for covering.

The person who tries to roll up in a blanket and sleep on the ground or on a cot is merely making certain that he and comfort will be strangers.

QUEBEC TO PLANT 200,000 TREES ALONG ITS HIGHWAYS

Contract for 10,000 of Them on Montreal-Quebec Road Has Been Awarded.

A contract for planting 100,000 trees on the Montreal-Quebec highway has been awarded. Half of these trees must be planted this spring and the other half next fall.

These are in addition to 2000 trees to be planted by the Lands and Forest Department.

A total of 200,000 plans will be necessary along the principal highways in the western part of the province.

Warning of Loose Spring Bolts.

The deep rattling noise from the rear of the car when it is being driven through ruts on a dirt road is a warning of loose spring bolts. These should be tightened up as soon as possible, and new bushings inserted if they have worn badly.

FAMOUS BOSTON POST ROAD WIDENING SOON IS PLANNED

Highway Will Be Made 36 Feet Broad From New York State Line to New Haven, Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., May 29.—Widening of the Boston post road from the New York State line to New Haven from its present width of about 18 feet to 36 feet is contemplated in plans now being carried out by the State Highway Department. This is the outstanding development of a roadbuilding program prepared by Commissioner John A. MacDonald of Connecticut that will require about five years to execute.

Complete hard surfacing of all the through main line routes in the State is a part of the proposal, and completion of the scheme will see Connecticut covered by a network of hard surfaced highways from all transportation centers to the State lines of New York, Massachusetts and Rhode Island.

This plan involves four distinct routes that carry the main burden of motor transportation through Connecticut from New York to Massachusetts and Rhode Island, and vice versa. The most important of these are the Boston post road from New York to New London, and the branch of this route from New Haven through Hartford to Springfield.

The others are the Housatonic Valley highway from the southwestern corner of the State northward to Massachusetts, which is fast nearing completion, and th route from New London, throug Norwich and Putnam to the Sta line at Massachusetts.

Added to these, is the prese military concrete highway fro Hartford to New London.

To Avoid Scratching Car.

Always throw away rags used cleaning spark plugs. Should the rags carry a bit of carbon and used for polishing, the body wou be badly scratched.

POINTS TO CONSIDER IN SELECTING TENT

Factors That Should Count—Popular Styles for Motor Touring.

Selection of a tent for motor amping is a matter of several facors—ease of erection and taking own; compactness, weight and rice limit; whether one wants to e free to use the car after pitchng camp or is willing to have car ied down to tent, and whether he trip is to be one of overnight tops or with stays of several days' uration.

The best and lightest tent mateial is the so-called "balloon silk," vhich is not silk, but a cloth made f closely woven, long-fibered coton. Properly water-proofed, so hat the pores of the material are ot filled up, it is ideal tent mateial. The second choice is doubleilled army duck, which also should e water-proofed. A tent made of ither of these materials should ast for years. If one cannot aford such material, it would be etter to rent a tent for short trips, hough ingenuity and water-proofng will work miniature miracles.

Today's popular tent styles are he umbrella and the Baker or Amazon. The wall tent, while best or long stops in one place, is too ifficult to erect properly and too umbrous for the average camping rip. The writer's pet for years as been the 7x5 "A," or wedge ent, for use with a roadster. But ack of head room has caused this ent so to decline in popularity hat few are to be seen. It is not o be recommended for most perons' use.

The Umbrella Tent.

The umbrella tent, which is rathr expensive, is growing rapidly in avor. It affords plenty of head oom, has sewed-in floor and bobinet front that closes with a patnt fastener, and is insect and osquito proof. All of them that he writer has seen have had bobinet windows for ventilation.

An umbrella tent of standard ize, 8x8 feet, stands 8 to 8½ eet high in the center and six feet t the sides. Of course, the center ole sometimes is in the way, but his is a minor defect. Such an x8 tent will house four persons leeping on mattresses on the floor r will provide room for two cots. An umbrella tent without center pole has just been placed on the market.

The umbrella tent generally has a front fly which can be attached to a car top so that in wet weather there is a dry passage way from tent to car, or can be staked out to give a front porch effect. Such a tent weighs around 40 pounds, can be erected by one man in five minutes, and is easily and quickly taken down and packed away. It can be bought with various flap and curtain arrangements, one of which provides a cooking and eating place under shelter while the tent is reserved for sleeping.

Another Popular Tent Style.

The so-called Baker tent, with high front and sloping roof, is fine for two persons in the 7 by 7 or 7 by 9 sizes, and comes in variations so that it can be materially enlarged or adapted. Two of these tents, erected facing each other, with cooking fire and table between them, making an ideal camp for four persons, especially if a fly is hung from tent to tent. An advantage of the Baker or Amazon tent is that one does not need to carry poles, which can be cut in the woods. Where there are trees, this tent can be hung from a rope ridgepole. The same, of course, is true of the "A" tent.

There are a number of tents which are hung from the auto top. These are convenient where there is level space for both car and tent, but have the same disadvantage as the tent bed which unfolds from the running board—they must be taken down whenever the car is moved.

Whatever style of tent is used, one should make sure that it can be closed against mosquitoes and that it has mosquito proof ventilating windows. With the less expensive tents, a little cheesecloth or mosquito bar and a bit of ingenuity will solve this problem.

As has been noted, the umbrella tents have sewed-in floors. The same effect can be obtained in other types of tent by use of sod cloth and ground cloth. The sod cloth is a strip six to 10 inches wide that is sewed all around the bottom of the tent and turned inward so as to lie flat on the ground. The ground cloth, which is the size of the tent floor, is laid down so as to lap over the sod cloth. This arrangement is better than the sewed in floor in some respects, and is much easier to keep clean.

Many persons, of course, are using their cars for tents with the aid of home-made or patented beds which lie on the seats or have legs or are attached to parts of the car.

The trailer, which unfolds into a miniature combination of tent and bungalow, has its devotees, but is not for the man of limited means.

Much ingenuity has been expended on transforming chassis and truck into traveling homes, some of the auto bungalows ranging in cost as high as $25,000.

Then there are several types of tent bed which can be erected apart from a car.

But, attractive as most of these more elaborate substitutes for tents are, most men and an increasing number of women are coming to feel that really to go camping means having a real tent.

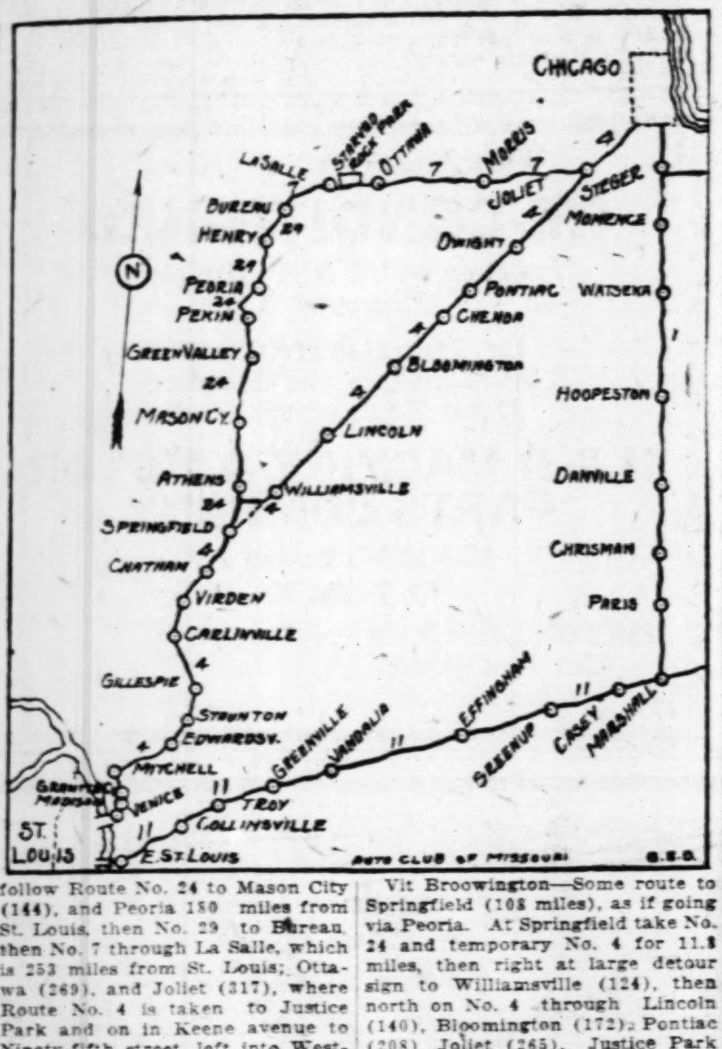
Three Good Routes to Chicago Offer Interesting Combination Trips

Hard-Surfaced Highways to and from Windy City Enable Motorist to Make Sustained Speed.

St. Louis to Chicago—There are three good routes which permit sustained speed and considerable variation in going and returning from Chicago, as follows:

Via Marshall, Ill.—At Seventh street and Chouteau avenue roll onto the Free Bridge, then into Tenth street, East St. Louis to end of street, jog 100 feet left and turn to right into Ninth street and follow it into the Collinsville road. This Route No. 11, as with all others in Illinois, is elaborately marked, not only on the highway, but through towns and cities, so that a motorist can hardly go astray. Follow the No. 11 signs on through Highland (35 miles); Greenville (54); Vandalia (75), and Effingham (107); to Marshall, 156 miles from St. Louis. At the east end of Marshall, swing left into Route No. 1 and go through Paris (173), Danville (209), Watseka (258), Momence (290), and Steger into and through Chicago Heights to One Hundred and Forty-seventh street, swinging left and following No. 11 and the Dixie highway signs into Western avenue, then right into Garfield, which is Fifty-fifth street, left into Michigan avenue and on downtown. (342 miles from St. Louis.)

Via Peoria—At Ninth street and Salisbury, St. Louis, cross McKinley Bridge onto Broadway in Venice, to Madison avenue, following No. 4 markers through Granite City to Mitchell (13 miles). Turn right on concrete to Edwardsville (23 miles), Staunton (40) and Carlinville (62) to Springfield, which is 108 miles from St. Louis, then follow Route No. 24 to Mason City (144), and Peoria 180 miles from St. Louis, then No. 29 to Bureau, then No. 7 through La Salle, which is 253 miles from St. Louis; Ottawa (269), and Joliet (317), where Route No. 4 is taken to Justice Park and on in Keene avenue to Ninety-fifth street, left into Western avenue, left to Garfield avenue, right to Michigan avenue—366 miles from St. Louis.



Vit Broowington—Some route to Springfield (108 miles), as if going via Peoria. At Springfield take No. 24 and temporary No. 4 for 11.8 miles, then right at large detour sign to Williamsville (124), then north on No. 4 through Lincoln (140), Bloomington (172), Pontiac (208), Joliet (265), Justice Park (287), and into downtown Chicago over the same route as via Peoria. (305 miles, including detours).

Illinois Beauty Spot Offers Objective for Three-Day Round Trip

A week-end trip for the Memorial Day holiday that traverses good roads and offers some very pretty scenery is that to Starved Rock Park. Take the regular Peoria route for Chicago and go 253 miles to La Salle, then six and a half miles east on Route No. 7 to the park.

There is a hotel at La Salle, and camping is entirely feasible.

32-Mile Concrete "White Way."

What, it is said, will be the longest "white way" in the South is to be made by electrically lighting the 32-mile concrete highway between the cities of Dallas and Fort Worth, Tex.

Arizona Camping Outlook.

Northern Arizona this year, will make special efforts to attract visitors and campers from the warmer sections of the State to the southward. The abundant rains of the spring assure ample water in the creeks and verdure such as not known for many years past.

Cooking by Auto Exhaust.

Auto tourists now can use the heat of their engines to cook their meals by means of an oven attachment. The oven fits over the exhaust manifold, which supplies the heat. Food may be cooked while the car is in motion, since the pots and pans used are supplied with lids that lock securely somewhat similar to those used in fireless cookers.

"One afternoon, some years ago, I was admiring my neighbor's car. I thought it was new until he told me it was more than two years old; and that he kept it looking new by cleaning it occasionally with Common Sense. So when I bought my car, a little later, I also got a bottle of Common Sense, and used it on the car about once every five or six weeks. My car is now three years old, and the finish is perfect; with a lustre that is richer, and if anything, more beautiful than the day I first saw it in the salesroom."

If your car looks dull, and perhaps a bit commonplace, go over it with Common Sense. It is so easy to use. You will be amazed with the quick, brilliant, lasting results. And remember, it is not a "finish" nor the false lustre of a layer of wax, but your car's own original, permanent finish, sparkling again. Repainting saved and a better job done, at a cost of only $1.00.

Your favorite Accessory dealer or Druggist can get it for you readily if you insist. Or direct from the Laboratory, postpaid, $1.00.

MOST CAMPERS TAKE TOO MUCH EQUIPMENT

Rejection as Important as Selection in Preparing for Trips.

In a way, getting together the ideal motor camping equipment is more a matter of rejection than of selection. Few are the campers who do not find that a number of "essentials" are discarded on the road.

Possibly, the first thing to get is luggage carriers for the running boards. These may be the collapsible affairs purchasable anywhere or stout steel bars or cleats with strips of webbing or straps with which bedding, tents and other articles can be firmly lashed.

Good clothes can be packed in suit cases. Work and touring clothes and soiled clothing can be carried in duffl ebags, which should be waterproof.

Some kind of a box should be provided to serve as a sort of kitchenette. It can take the plae of the rear trunk, be set in the tonneau or go on a running board. Except when traversing regions where stores are few and far between, the average camper will be better off if he does not try to carry much food. A day's supply ahead shoud lbe sufficient.

If he is fussy about his eating, he can buy a running board refrigerator, either one to use ice or one that utilizes the evaporation of water for cooling. Or he can improvise one out of a box.

Water Bags and Canteens.

A good-sized canteen is always a convenience. When going into desert regions or on some of the long dry stretches of Western states, one should carry one or two self-cooling linen water bags. These should be hung so that they do not rub against any part of the car and fray through.

A canvas bucket is a real comfort. It should be soaked for a day or two before it is to be used. The canvas water basin works fairly well, though difficult to keep clean and neat. But each motorist should have his own. On the whole, an ordinary basis is preferable and takes up little more room.

Water proof covers for all bedding and other baggage should be carried and used.

Rejection as Important as Selection in Preparing for Trips.

In a way, getting together the ideal motor camping equipment is more a matter of rejection than of selection. Few are the campers who do not find that a number of "essentials" are discarded on the road.

Possibly, the first thing to get is luggage carriers for the running boards. These may be the collapsible affairs purchasable anywhere or stout steel bars or cleats with strips of webbing or straps with which bedding, tents and other articles can be firmly lashed.

Good clothes can be packed in suit cases. Work and touring clothes and soiled clothing can be carried in duffl ebags, which should be waterproof.

Some kind of a box should be provided to serve as a sort of kitchenette. It can take the plae of the rear trunk, be set in the tonneau or go on a running board. Except when traversing regions where stores are few and far between, the average camper will be better off if he does not try to carry much food. A day's supply ahead shoud lbe sufficient.

If he is fussy about his eating, he can buy a running board refrigerator, either one to use ice or one that utilizes the evaporation of water for cooling. Or he can improvise one out of a box.

Water Bags and Canteens.

A good-sized canteen is always a convenience. When going into desert regions or on some of the long dry stretches of Western states, one should carry one or two self-cooling linen water bags. These should be hung so that they do not rub against any part of the car and fray through.

A canvas bucket is a real comfort. It should be soaked for a day or two before it is to be used. The canvas water basin works fairly well, though difficult to keep clean and neat. But each motorist should have his own. On the whole, an ordinary basis is preferable and takes up little more room.

Water proof covers for all bedding and other baggage should be carried and used.

The Lighting Problem.

Headlamps can be used for short periods at night. A trouble lamp also will serve when one is not trying to read or sew after dark. Small, galvanized iron candle lanterns are worth carrying. One of the best lighting devices is the gasoline lantern which gives a 300-candle power light for 30 to 40 hours on a gallon of "gas." There also are good acetylene lanterns. Some of the electric lanterns give a bright light for many hours on a couple of cheap dry cells. One or more hand flashlights are almost an essentital.

One should be sure to carry an adequate first aid outfit. There are a number of good toilet kits for soap, toothbrush, tooth powder and other necessities. Take plenty of towels; they are easily washed and dried. Ventilated goggles are a great protection to the eyes.

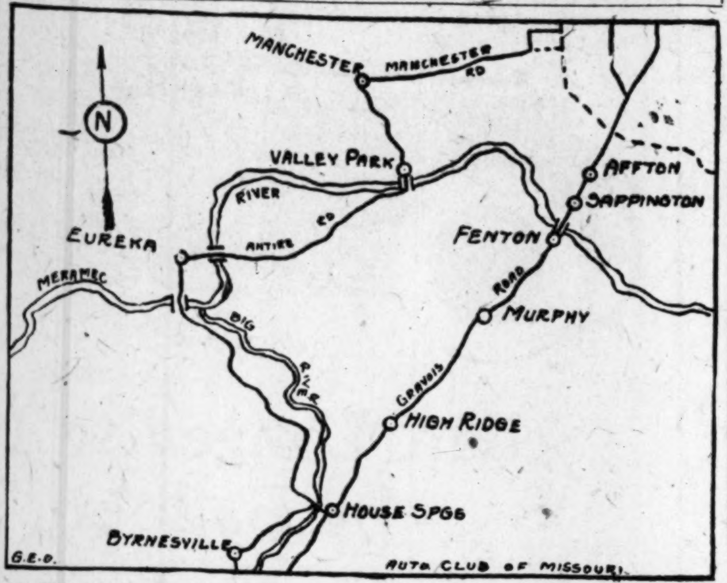
An ax with a short handle; a collapsible shovel; a good knife for everybody; a supply of matches in a waterproof box, are necessities. Other articdes needed include: Dish towels, cleanser for pots and pans scrubbing brushes, corkscrews, whetstones, shoe brushes, whiskbroom, hammer and saw, cake turner and the usual complement of forks and spoons.

Don't forget the tow rope and some kind of "puller-out" might come in handy in a mud hole.

A portable phonograph and radio set are almost necessaries to most of us, and one always regrets leaving the camera at home.

Then, after all this is gathered together, one can add the other things he "just knows" he "must take along," and weed vigorousdly. He will drop a lot of it along the road, anyway.

This Trip Is Too Pretty And Enjoyable to Hurry On



ONE of the prettiest tours in the vicinity of St. Louis is via Gravois road and the House Springs road to Eureka and Valley Park. The Gravois road always is attractive, especially after passing Afton and Sappington. and from Fenton to House Springs is still more interesting. At House Springs, swing right and continue on a delightful winding road to Eureka, then over the Antire road to Valley Park and to Manchester, the Ridge road affording some beautiful sweeping views, and returning to St. Louis over the Manchester road. A variation can be made by continuing on the Gravois road past House Springs and turning right at the big red brick house and spring to Byrnesville and then on to Eureka.

There are so many lovely stretches and loafing and lunching spots on this trip that it can easily be made to occupy a full day, with a visit to Rankin Cave on the Antire road and a swim at Valley Park for diversion. In fact, this is a Sunday trip that can be taken several times in a season without becoming monotonous.

MISSOURI TOURING POSSIBILITIES DEPEND UPON DRY WEATHER

ville and Ashley where swing south on Route No. 2 through Duquoin and Carbondale to Anna, then west and south through Vineland to East Cape Girardeau, where a ferry leaves hourly, making the last trip from the Illinois side at 5:30 p. m. (140 miles.)

Via Hecker—Same route to Belleville, then follow red and yellow markers south through Smithton, Hecker, Redbud, Ruma, Evansville and Chester to another ferry, crossing the river to Perryville, then south on Routh No. 25 to Jackson and Cape Girardeau. This route is good when dry. (126 miles.)

Via De Soto—South on Grand boulevard, to Bates, to Michigan, to Ivory and Alabama avenue into Lemay Ferry road. At fork at west edge to Maxvillle, swing left on Lemay Ferry road to De Soto. (Working of road makes route through Festus impracticable) Follow Route No. 9 through Flat River to Farmington, then take dirt road to Ste. Genevieve, Perryville and Jackson to Cape Girardeau. (158 miles.)

With these routes any combination round trip can be worked out.

St. Louis to Arcadia—Lemay Ferry road to Flat River and on through Bismark and Iron Mountain to Arcadia (95 miles.)

This is a pretty all-weather tour, that can be made a one-day trip or stretched into a leisurely two or three-day trip, either camping or stopping at Arcadia.

St. Louis to Springfield, Mo.—Clayton road, North and South road Manchester road to Manchester, then to Valley Park, crossing Meramec River and taking Antire road to Eureka and Pacific. West to Manchester road and over Route No. 12 to Union (57 miles). South on No. 14 to St. Clair (64) then southwest on same route to Sullivan (79), Cuba (100), and Rolla (124). Then south on No. 7 to Edgar Springs (176), Houston, and Cabool (194). Then west on No. 16 to Mountain Grove, Seymour and Springfield (total mileage, 272).

This can be made a good two-day trip by ending the first day's run at Rolla. There is plenty of good camping beyond St. Clair. This route is not for wet weather. The motorist will find considerable rough going, but if he is not in too much of a hurry, he will get through all right and will see a lot of pretty country.

St. Louis to Hannibal—St. Charles rock road to St. Charles, swinging left at end of bridge into Second street, then right into Clay and on route No. 2 to St. Peter's. Take marked detour back to the concrete to O'Fallon and then marked detour to Flint Hill, then Route No. 9 through Troy, Auburn, Bowling Green, Frankford and New London to Hannibal, with its many memories of Mark Twain. This is an attractive run of 132 miles in good weather, but not to be attempted unless it is dry. There are many beautiful views of the river and countryside.

Crossing the river and running north on the Mississippi Scenic highway through Quincy, one can travel 74 miles farther to recross the river at Keokuk, Ia., where the tremendous dam and power project are well worth inspection.

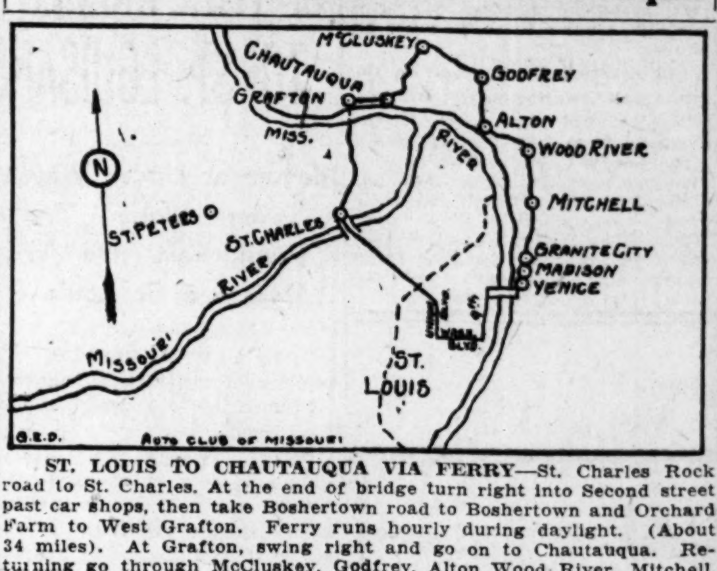
St. Louis to Jefferson City via Union and return via Fulton—Clayton, North and South and Manchester roads to Manchester, to Valley Park, crossing river and turning right into Antire road to Pacific, then west to Manchester road and follow Route No. 12 through Leslie, Rosebud, Mt. Sterling and Linn to Jefferson City (140 miles). This route is much improved as compared with last season, and while rough in spots is passable in any weather and runs through a pretty country, with frequent opportunities for camping. There is some dirt road for about six miles west of Mt. Sterling, but, at the worst, chains will bring one through.

Returning in dry weather, cross the bridge at the west end of Jefferson City and take Route No. 15 to Bloomfield and Fulton, then east on No. 2 to Mineola, High Hill and Warrenton to Wentzville. Then follow marked detour to O'Fallon and St. Peter's, and then No. 2 to St. Charles and St. Louis (138 miles).

ST. LOUIS TO HA-HA-TONKA—Clayton, North and South road to Manchester road, to Valley Park, over Antire road to Pacific and Jefferson City. Then south on Route No. 15 to Gartside and Eldon to Linn Creek. Then Route No. 5 to Ha-Ha-Tonka. (Mileage from Jefferson City, about 75 miles, and from St. Louis, 215 miles.

This is another especially attractive trip, with plenty of fine camping between Union and Ha-Ha-Tonka which offers some of the prettiest scenery in the entire Middle West. It is not a wet weather tour beyond Jefferson City.

Both Sides of the River Trip To Resort at Chautauqua



ST. LOUIS TO CHAUTAUQUA VIA FERRY—St. Charles Rock road to St. Charles. At the end of bridge turn right into Second street past car shops, then take Boshertown road to Boshertown and Orchard Farm to West Grafton. Ferry runs hourly during daylight. (About 34 miles). At Grafton, swing right and go on to Chautauqua. Returning go through McCluskey, Godfrey, Alton Wood River, Mitchell, Granite City and Venice and over the McKinley Bridge. This is not a wet weather trip, because of dirt road beyond Orchard Farm on the Missouri side of the river, and dirt roads o nthe Illinois side to Colfrey.

They Didn't Believe Any Car Could Make it in "High" This One Did

ST-DISPATCH The Daily POST

ALED IN HIGH" CLEVELAND MAKES IT

Imagine a hill fifty-five hundredths of a mile long, with five turns in it, three of which are practically hairpins, loose stone at the bottom, very little good road and with a grade that's unusually steep. Then imagine a new car, that has traveled but 210 miles, gears sealed in high, attempting to make the climb. That's the feat the Cleveland Six did at Dupo, Ill., on the famous Sugar Loaf Hill, last Wednesday afternoon.

The Cleveland Touring De Luxe model demonstrator driven by J. L. Early, salesman for the Cleveland Motor Sales Co., had the honor of comquering the incline, a feat which those living in the neighborhood state had never before been accomplished by a six-cylinder car.

Newspapermen, several sales prospects for Cleveland, and the following connected with the Cleveland sales organization witnessed the feat; Harry E. Morgan, sales manager for the Cleveland Motor Sales Co.; S. R. Jones, special representative of the Cleveland factory; D. L. Willingham, and R. A. De Harnett, salesmen for the Cleveland Motor Sales Co., and Harry H. Dirden and W. V. Lackey, representatives for the Cleveland in East St. Louis.

Cleveland Six Conquers Famed Sugar Loaf Hill at Dupo, I

Over half a mile of steep hill; five turns, three of them hairpins; no chance to get a running start of any real value; a climb harder than any other in this part of the country. And the Cleveland Six made it in "High." They didn't believe any car could make it in "High," but the Cleveland Six showed them. Newspapermen and prospects saw Sugar Loaf Hill conquered; saw this sturdy, powerful Cleveland Six go over it with gears "sealed in high." Cleveland Six is conquering other hills, everywhere, every day. What does this mean to you? It proves Cleveland Six power, Cleveland Six sturdiness, Cleveland Six endurance, Cleveland Six roadability. It means that Cleveland Six is a good car to drive, because it has the reserve to do things. Will you let us convince you? Will you let us show you how Cleveland Six performs on the hills and on the road?

EASTERN TOURIST WARNED TO BE CAREFUL WITH MATCHES

California Forests Dry From May Until October Because of Lack of Rain.

LOS ANGELES, May 29.—"One tree will make a million matches—one match will destroy a million trees."

This is the lesson that the Automobile Club of Southern California is seeking to impress on the hundreds of thousands of Eastern motorists that will invade the "Golden State" during the present year.

While the native Californian is well aware that there are no rains in the southern part of the State from May until October, the visitor is not. This situation entails constant thoughtfulness to prevent fires in the great national forest reserves.

There are nearly 20,000,000 acres in the 19 national forests of California, the scenic beauties of which are open to the public. The only provision that Uncle Sam makes as host is that the visitors be extremely careful with their camp fires and matches, and that they refrain from polluting streams and scattering rubbish.

TWO GOOD TOURING TIPS

When the gas tank is starting to go dry and the tourist knows he has got to go five miles or so before finding a gas station, he generally attempts to solve his problem by driving fast. "The tank is dangerously low. We must hurry," he says. And then he steps on the gas. What he does is to use more gas and run a greater risk of being stranded than if he would run the distance to the next pump at a slower speed. There is an economical speed for all cars, and it is usually around 15 to 20 miles an hour.

In covering the luggage on the running board during wet weather, many tourists forget to protect the luggage from splashes of water from the road. Grips usually overhang to a certain extent, and unless they are protected on their under side as well as their upper there is no reason to believe that the covering is satisfactory. Often more water is splashed up from the road than drops from the sky.

VICTORY HIGHWAY OF VITAL MOMENT TO ST. LOUISANS

Movement Under Way to Swing Motor Traffic From East and West Over It to St. Louis.

By F. W. A. VESPER,
Director of the Victory Highway.

In an article discussing automobile touring, Courtney Ryley Cooper says: "In the little Rocky Mountain town in which I live, 35 miles above Denver on the Victory Highway, the count of the combined constable and 24-hour traffic officer shows that often as many as 2500 automobiles pass through in a day."

The Victory Highway referred to by Mr. Cooper is that cross-country line which stretches from New York to San Francisco, passing through St. Louis, the only such line, it may be said, which does pass through St. Louis. Since the organization of the Victory Highway Association I have been a director, representing St. Louis and doing what I could to attract to this city that rapidly increasing volume of cross-country automobile travel which means so much in dollars and cents to any city.

The main flow of this travel, until recently, has passed St. Louis by, crossing the Mississippi River at Clinton, Ia., on the Lincoln Highway, and at Hannibal, Mo., on the Pikes Peak-Ocean to Ocean Highway, this latter organization by dint of newspaper advertising having diverted much travel from St. Louis to this city's detriment and, I may say, at its expense.

Real and Profitable Business.

That we are not getting the volume of travel we should have is due possible to the fact that St. Louis has been indifferent to the Victory Highway until recently, when the St. Louis Dealers' Association resolved to co-operate with our organization to make the Victory Highway the Main Street of America and to build up for St. Louis a national reputation as the Front Door to the West.

The condition of the Victory Highway across Missouri probably had something to do with our lack of interest. But now that work on that route, the St. Louis-Kansas City air line, officially known as Route 2, is progressing rapidly, we may well begin to reach out to develop a new and profitable business for St. Louis. For the travel business undoubtedly is a business, whether by train or automobile. Upon it that amazing city, Los Angeles, has built its million population. To obtain it, San Francisco, long indifferent, is now spending in a splendid advertising campaign almost half a million dollars a year.

Had Mr. Cooper gone back a couple of years he would have found that the 2500 automobiles which he mentions, representing about 7500 passengers, constituted a great increase in the volume of travel through his town. The records of the Victory Highway Association, which has made, and is making, continued traffic counts, shows a travel increase west of Kansas City in some sections of more than 400 per cent due to the highway development which our organization has advocated and the widespread map distribution and publicity work it has carried on.

Route Is Being "Signed."

From Idaho Springs, Mr. Cooper's residence, the metal enameled signs of the Victory Highway, set on two-inch angle iron posts, reach more than 1200 miles to California on the west and nearly a thousand miles to Kansas City on the east. With the co-operation now being given by the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association, our organization plans to extend this signing across Missouri and into the east, hoping in another two years to have the same type of signs on the streets of Indianapolis, Columbus, Baltimore and Philadelphia as today they are on the streets of Kansas City, Topeka, Denver and Salt Lake.

That the Victory Highway is destined to become the Main Street of America I feel quite sure. I drove east over it last summer and found it paved virtually 100 per cent from St. Louis to New York. In fact, it has more pavement than any other line between these points. West of the Mississippi River, it is entirely a Federal Aid line, the only New York-San Francisco line which is, the Lincoln Highway, for a distance of about 200 miles to the west from Salt Lake City, having been abandoned by the United States Government so far as Federal Aid is concerned.

Is Scenic Route.

Our highway is generally admitted to be the best cross country route by highway engineers, and is shorter by more than 100 miles than any other New York-San Francisco line. It is the most scenic, also, crossing the Rockies west of Denver in their most attractive aspect. It has practically no oppressive summer desert conditions by reason of the fact that it follows the valley of the Humboldt river across Nevada. It is safe, also, paralleling the railroads from Salt Lake to Reno, and is always close to water and in reach of help in case of accident.

What It Means to St. Louis.

That we shall all profit in a material way is certain, for the tourist dollar is a new dollar, as new as if dug from the ground. It is practically all profit, is brought to us with the production expense charged of elsewhere. No matter where spent or how, it becomes part of our business wealth, increases the volume of our bank clearings, flows back and forth beneficially through every avenue and channel of trade.

By natural location, St. Louis is the front door to the West. It always has been so from the days of the pioneers.

Upon us also rests a responsibility to our State, for almost at our city limits lie the Ozarks, a great outdoor playground, close to more large centers of population than any similar area in the United States.

How to Insure Good Time and Gain Health on That Camping Trip

LET the other fellow run until sundown and camp irritably in the darkness.

Let him do the hard driving—and the fretful quarreling that pounding along day after day causes.

Make a habit of seizing upon that good camping place as the afternoon wanes. Stop religiously at 4:30 p. m. if you are avoiding the regular tourist camps, and start hunting the right place on some pretty side road. Then you'll have plenty of time to pitch camp, cook supper and loaf through the twilight.

Get an early start. If you are on your way by 5 a. m. you'll find few cars on the road. You'll have the back of your day's run broken by 10 o'clock, and can loaf along comfortably until camping time.

Leads in Concrete Roads.

California leads the states of the Union in concrete highways built. It has constructed 3286 miles of this kind of pavement.

Here's "Get-Away" by the Gallon

On the open road when the god of Up-and-at-'Em says "Step On It," does your car respond reluctantly by saying "In a minute I'll be with you" . . . ?

Or at a busy crossing, does it sometimes seem that your car is anchored to the street . . . ? You know—that sluggish feeling which makes you want to get out and push.

You've never used Lubrite Gasoline, that's all.

Get-away is half the joy of driving. And Lubrite gives it to you—liquid get-away, pick-up by the gallon.

And no wonder . . . Lubrite Gasoline is a high-test, straight-run motor fuel with a combustion range free from marked irregularities.

The result is bound to be steady, even power—and lots of it—and prompt, unhesitating acceleration either in the waits of heavy traffic or out where broad highways and far hills beckon.

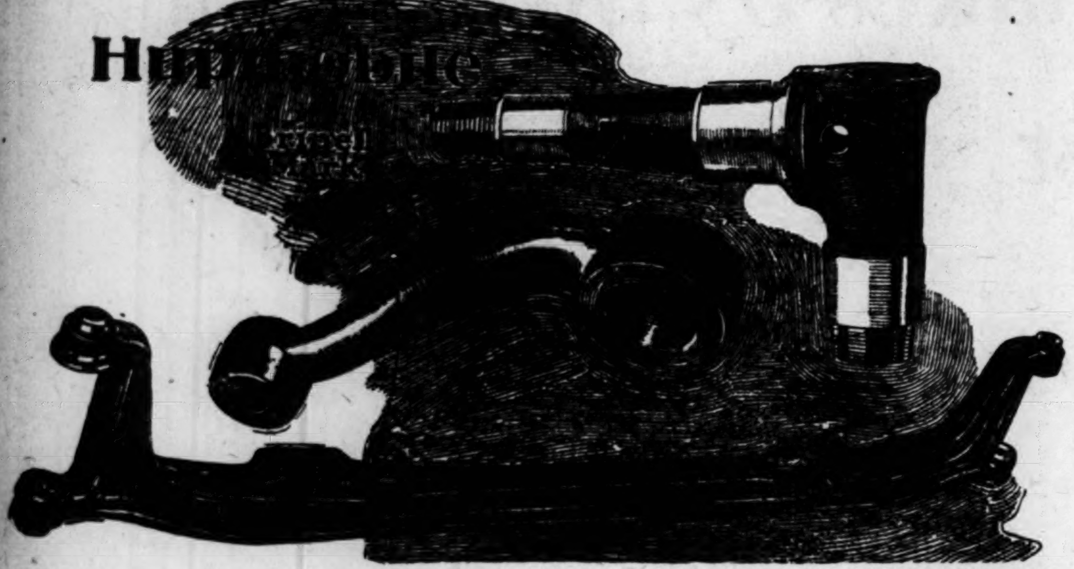
Parking Against Curb.

There are many reasons why the car should not be parked with wheels flush against the curb, but one of these is likely to be overlooked. If the car is in this position when struck by a passing vehicle, the fact that it cannot move will likely cause a serious break in some vital part. Something has to yield to the irresistible force. It may be the frame.

When to Polish the Car.

The weather and temperature have a lot to do with success in polishing the car. A clear dry day, not too cold, is usually best for good results. Do not attempt to polish the car when it is brought in from the cold—or even cool—outdoors to the warm garage. Moisture will collect on the surface and make polishing doubly difficult.



Safety: Hupmobile, by means of fine materials and determinative tests, provides safety throughout the chassis. The parts shown here—steering knuckle, steering arm, and front axle—are of the finest material that can be used. All are drop-forged steel, double heat-treated, and are unusually heavy. In this group, each individual part for each individual car must pass the Brinell test, within close limits, for proper hardness of material, and bears the Brinell hardness mark.

Invisible Values

Now You Can SEE What Makes The Hupmobile So Much Better

Those "invisible costs" that have so much to do with the proverbially solid and substantial qualities of every Hupmobile, are now made visible for you.

Step into our salesroom and ask to see the Parts Display.

There are tickets on these parts that tell you in black type what they are for, how they are made and what they are made of.

The same ticket, in red type, tells you a similar story about similar parts in other cars not so carefully and thoroughly made.

If these other cars could match the Hupmobile in excellence and reliability of performance, in durability and economy of upkeep—well, you might then be justified in laying your money down on the "red."

But wisdom says black is the safe and sane color when it comes to investing hard-earned money in an automobile.

of road building is being accomplished without the nuisance of detours. More than 650 new and well-equipped motor camps will be added before the season is under way, bringing the total to 1850. Gas is cheaper than during several previous touring seasons. Automobile club service has been improved and developed through the addition of thousands of new members as well as by the recent consolidation of the old A. A. A. with the N. M. A.

"While much has been done to facilitate more extensive touring so that more motorists can avail themselves of the various vacation centers, a journey from the Atlantic to the Pacific by motor car is still something of a sporting proposition. Those who want luxury and ease on a transcontinental trip should take a de luxe train, for it differs from a tour of the Adirondacks or any of the many drives over the paved roads of the northeastern part of the United States.

Best Cross-Continent Routes.

"It is safe to say that the National Old Trails road, which goes through Wheeling, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Santa Fe, Flaggstaff and the Needles, or the Lincoln highway through Pittsburg, Chicago Heights, Omaha, Cheyenne, Salt Lake City and Reno, for most part, are the best central routes to follow during June or for returning East later in the fall. The Yellowstone trail, which passes through Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fallon, Mont., Missoula, Idaho and Spokane, and the National Parks highway via La Crosse, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Fargo, N. D., Fallon and then over about the same course as the Yellowstone trail, are the two best northern routes and are most desirable in July and August when extreme heat in the arid country further south would be disagreeable.

"For tourists who are out for real pleasure, especially those starting from the Central West, there is planned a National Park to Park circuit highway, starting from Cheyenne and making a complete circuit of all the National Parks through Colorado, Montana, Washington, Oregon, California and Arizona. The mileage for this trip is 4403, exclusive of the local runs to the specific parks, any one of which can be eliminated from the tour. With the exception of Zion National Park and Yosemite, each local run is under 100 miles one way and under 175 for the round trip.

"The one extended detour on the transcontinental routes is that found on the Lincoln Highway between Salt Lake City and Ely. Motorists are advised to turn south through Springville, Nephi, Fillmore, Frisco, Burbank and Taylor to Ely. The main route is now under construction.

The Hard-Surfaced Region.

With the trunk lines open and in better condition than ever, the tourist has a wider selection of trips and is assured that he can reach any particular locality that much sooner. The number of cross-country tourists, of course, is smaller in comparison to the procession that soon will move to the great touring district in the northeastern part of the country east from Iowa and Minnesota and north from Kentucky and Tennessee.

"It is important to note that the greater part of the paved road system is included in this particular district. Motorists who long for the long ribbon of road and the varied type of scenic interest can break into a circuit formed by the cities of Washington, Wheeling, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, Buffalo, Montreal, Boston, New York and back to the capital city without leaving hard surfaced roads.

"This circuit covers 2400 miles of some of the most interesting of our national scenic and historic wonders. Lake shore resorts, Niagara Falls, Thousand Islands, the Adirondacks, Finger Lakes, Berkshire Hills, White Mountains, Atlantic Coast resorts and historical points of New England are but a few of them.

Easy to Go to Canada.

"Motor tourists who aim due north for their vacationing will be interested to know that easy access to Canada is now afforded through a reciprocal agreement with customs authorities. Practically all American license plates are now recognized on Canadian roads for a period of 30 days. If the motorists desire to remain longer, he may secure bond at the port of entry.

"The summer trip is frequently improved by adding a few miles on the waterways. Steamers on all the Great Lakes, Lake Champlain, Lake George and the Hudson River carry automobiles as well as passengers. This frequently relieves the monotony of the long drive.

Analysis of the hotel directory shows that hotel rates have not been advanced and that frequently garage accommodations in connection with such hotels are improved. This, combined with the great increase in the number of public auto camps, is assurance that the motor tourist will have a maximum selection of overnight accommodations at a minimum expense.

The Public Camp Situation.

"It is important to note that the largest and most advanced public camps are still to be found in the central west and west, despite an increase in the number of well equipped camps in the east. The situation is one of conditions. The touring center bounded by the Washington, D. C., St. Louis, Detroit, Montreal, Maine and New York circuit is generously supplied with hotels of all classes, including the recently developed lodging house, or small overnight inn. The man who prefers camping in this section is usually disposed to get off by himself, so the public camp has not as yet become a necessity in the east.

"In the West, particularly on routes leading to national parks, the public camp has become a necessity and has been greatly developed as a consequence. So, the tourist who is heading eastward or westward should make allowances accordingly and select his equipment to match his camping conditions.

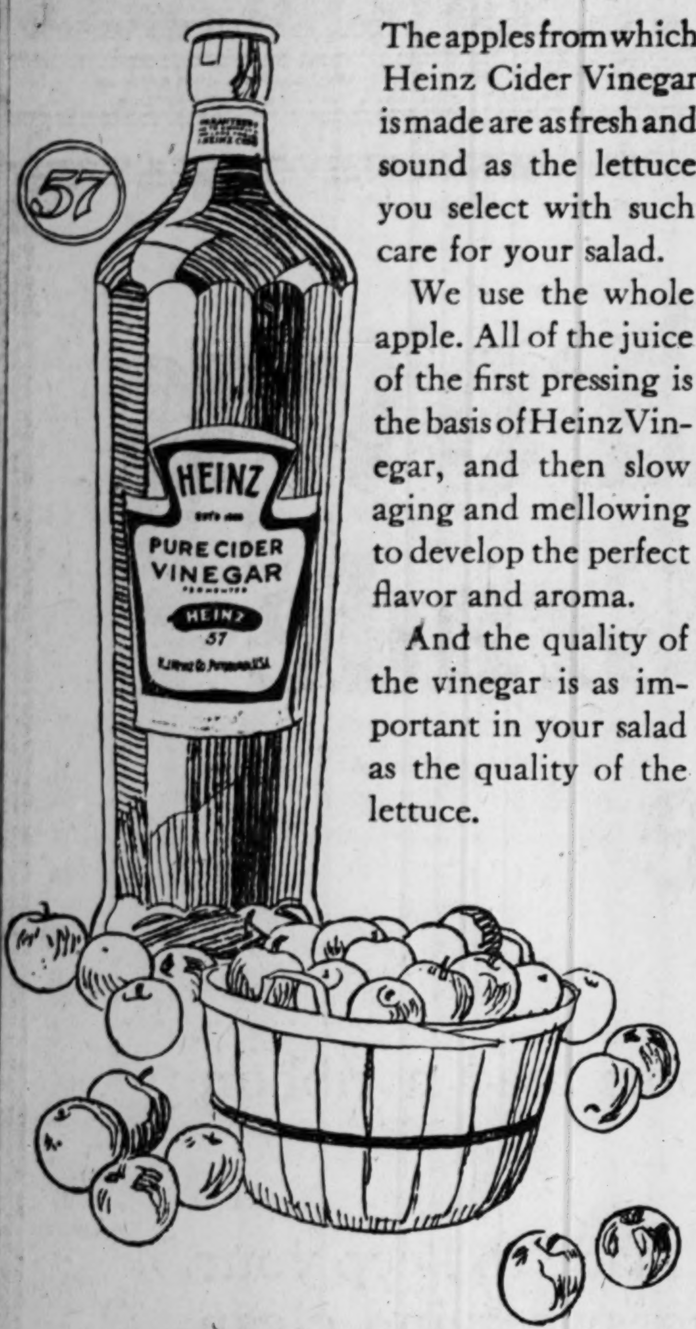
Appropriation Bill Signed.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—President Coolidge yesterday signed the naval and state, commerce, justice and labor departments' appropriation bills. The naval bill carries a section expressing the belief of Congress that further limitation of armaments might be brought about through the calling of another conference.



The apples from which Heinz Cider Vinegar is made are as fresh and sound as the lettuce you select with such care for your salad.

We use the whole apple. All of the juice of the first pressing is the basis of Heinz Vinegar, and then slow aging and mellowing to develop the perfect flavor and aroma.

And the quality of the vinegar is as important in your salad as the quality of the lettuce.

New Scientific Treatment Guaranteed to Banish Every Symptom in 24 Hours. Test FREE.

In a series of 2000 tests, made in the well-known Clinical Laboratories at Cleveland, Ohio, in 2000 severe and chronic rose fever and hay fever cases, 95% of the sufferers were relieved from every symptom—not in weeks or days, but actually in 24 hours—through a remarkable new scientific treatment.

All their inflamed eyes and distressfully "runny" noses—all their agonizing sneezing—all their depressing headaches, fever, asthmatic breathing and general misery—disappeared in one day's time as though by magic. And so confident is the Clinic that the same amazing results will follow in practically every case that they guarantee complete relief in 24 hours, or the treatment is free.

This new treatment is known as RINEX. It is the result of 8 years' intensive scientific study of rose fever and hay fever by M. G. Platt, M. D., and is entirely different from any other treatment. No mere surface spray, ointment or inhalation. No mere headache or fever remedy. No narcotics or habit-forming drugs—no bad after-effects. This new scientific treatment goes direct to the underlying cause of rose fever and hay fever—the overloading of the system caused by the absorption of raw protein from pollens floating in the air. RINEX, taken into the blood through the digestive tract, immediately neutralizes this protein. The result is heavenly relief in 24 hours.

It doesn't matter how long you have had rose fever, or how severely you have suffered—RINEX will banish every symptom in 24 hours in 95% of all cases—this is positively guaranteed.

The regular size package is obtainable at any of the drug stores named below for only $1. But if after using the prescription for just one day, your rose fever tortures have not been fully relieved, take it back and your money will be instantly refunded.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

Just now, through a special introductory arrangement, you can obtain a trial treatment entirely FREE. Simply go to any of the drug stores named below and ask for a trial package of RINEX. No obligation at all on your part. But be sure to ask for your free treatment within the next three days—this offer is limited. It may be obtained in this city at:

NEW CITY CLUB IS FORMALLY DEDICATED

Gov. Hyde and Mayor Kiel Principal Speakers—Goddard New President.

Sam P. Goddard.

Civic advice, mixed with political joking, offered to the City Club by Gov. Hyde and Mayor Kiel at the dedication of the club's new 15-story building at Eleventh and Locust streets yesterday, was followed by one timely object lesson in an incidental announcement.

The two public officials had advised the club to stand for full exercise of the franchise by voters, as a means toward good government, in living up to its motto of being "a social club with a civic purpose." Mayor Kiel, looking at the retiring negro luncheon waiters, said he supposed they were all registered voters, but guessed only about 50 per cent of the club members were registered.

Vote on Officers Announced.

The club has about 3800 members. After the chief speeches the result of the vote on club officers for the ensuing year was announced. There were 1736 votes cast, but taking off those not countable, 1698 were counted. This was less than 50 per cent of he membership.

The club election was conducted by mail. Members had only to make a dozen scratches on printed ballots, sign their names on printed envelopes, affix stamps and mail.

Those elected were: Sam P. Goddard, president; B. W. Moser, vice president; J. Homer Brown, secretary, and Henry Duncker, treasurer. George B. Logan, retiring president, was presented with a sedan and silver water service in recognition of his work as a club builder.

The Mayor impressed his fellow members of the club with their duty in voting on public questions like the United Railways reorganization, which he thinks will go before the people by initiative, and the projected exchange of uses of river bridges.

"We're all for Gov. Hyde for Vice President," the Mayor asserted, with a chuckle, "and we'd like to see him at the head of the Senate in Washington."

Tells How He Started Running.

Gov. Hyde told how he had started running for Governor with the undivided support of himself and "one other fellow," and hoped to wind up with half of that support left. Turning to serious discussion, he said that if he must choose between the radical and the citizen who is too good or too busy to vote, he preferred the radical, who at least knew what he was doing. "As between red and 'yaller,' give me red," said the Governor.

A telegram of congratulation to the club from President Coolidge was read, in which the President said: "The cause of good government is a matter of daily concern and not a question to be decided at long intervals through the ballot box."

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED BY STORM IN OKLAHOMA OIL TOWN

Thirty Homes at Wetumka Razed—Two Fatalities Near Okmulgee.

By the Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Ok., May 29.—Nine known deaths, more than a score injured and property damage estimated at around $100,000, was the toll paid by three communities in Eastern Oklahoma that were swept by a tornado late yesterday, the second in 24 hours.

Wetumka, an oil town of 2500 inhabitants, had the greatest toll, seven persons losing their lives there when 30 homes were razed. At Warner, a small farming center near Okmulgee, two persons were killed and most of the town's business section was destroyed. Checotah, in McIntosh County, suffered considerable damage from wind and torrential rainfall.

Three persons were unaccounted for early today at Wetumka. Relief workers searched the ruins of homes throughout the night for other bodies. The injured are in a hospital at Henryetta today, where they were taken last night in an improvised hospital train of two box cars.

The dead at Wetumka included: J. L. Ramsey, assistant cashier American National Bank; William Armstrong, Mrs. William Armstrong, 5-year-old Armstrong boy, Mrs. H. A. Woodruff, H. A. Woodruff and infant son of Ed Cole..

William Winkelpleck, 35 years old, a farmer, and Madge Ward, 14, stepdaughter of Winkelpleck, were killed at Warner.

Fails in Attempt to End Life.

Edward Sanders, 41 years old, of 3913 Blair avenue, failed in an attempt to end his life yesterday, when Patrick Golden, who lives upstairs, detected the odor of gas and carried Sanders into the yard after finding him in a gas-filled room. Sanders is at the city hospital. Physicians said he was suffering from alcoholism and gas poisoning. He had turned on every gas jet in the flat. Police reported that Sanders was separated from his wife and had been despondent.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SEVEN

JEANNETTE did not move. Devlin picked up his hat and gloves.

"My God!" he exclaimed fervently, "you're hard as nails!"

As he went out she suddenly felt sorry for him.

But that was not the last of him. His card appeared the next afternoon. Mr. Corey was again away from the office.

"I'm not in to this person," she said to Jimmy, "and if he bribes you to show him in here, I'll go straight to Mr. Kipps and have you fired."

The next day he telephoned. She hung up the receiver, and told the girl at the switchboard to find out who wanted her before she put through any more calls. The day following brought a letter from him, but as soon as she discovered his signature, she tore it up and threw it in the waste-paper basket. Two minutes later, she carefully recovered its ragged squares and pieced them together.

"My dear Miss Sturgis," it read, "you must overlook my boorish methods. I'll not bother you again, but I beg you will not hold it against me, if I try to make your acquaintance in some more acceptable manner. Yours with good wishes, Martin Devlin."

He wrote a vigorous hand—strong, distinct, individual.

Jeannette considered the letter a moment, then uttered a contemptuous "Puh!" scooped the fragments into her palm, and returned them to the receptacle for trash.

Toward the end of the week, she had a telephone call from Beatrice Alexander. She had not seen the girl for nearly four years but remembered how exceptionally kind she had been to her that first day she went to work, and thought it would be pleasant to meet her again, and talk over old times. They arranged to have luncheon together.

They met at the Hotel St. James. Jeannette always went there whenever there was sufficient excuse; she loved the atmosphere of the old place. Her luncheon was invariably the same: hot chocolate with whipped cream, and a club sandwich. It cost just 50 cents.

Beatrice Alexander had changed but little during the years Jeannette had not seen her, except that now she wore glasses. A little gold chain dangled from the tip of one lens, and hooked itself by means of a gold loop, over an ear. It made her look schoolmarmy, but she had the same sweet face, the same soft dovelike eyes, and the whispering voice.

"And you never married Mr. Beardsley," she commented. "I heard you were engaged and he certainly was awfully in love with you."

Jeannette explained about her sister, and how happy the two were in their little Bronx flat. Her companion exclaimed about the baby.

She had had two or three places since the old publishing house suspended its selling campaign of the History. She had been in the business office of the Fifth Avenue Hotel Co. until it closed its doors. Now The Gibbs Engraving Co. employed her; she'd been there about a year, and liked it all right, but the constant smell of the strong acids made her a little sick sometimes. She and Jeannette fell presently to discussing Martin Devlin.

"Oh, he's all right," Beatrice Alexander said. "He came there about the same time I did. He's an awful flirt, I guess, and he gets round a good deal. I don't know much about him, except that he's always pleasant and agreeable, never anything but terribly nice to me. Everybody likes him. He's one of our best solicitors. I heard from one of the men in your composing room, who's a kind of a cousin of mine, that you were with the Corey company and were Mr. Corey's private secretary, and one day I happened to hear Mr. Devlin talking to Mr. Gibbs—Mr. Gibbs and his brother own The Gibbs Engraving Co.—and he said something about how he wished he could land your account but he didn't know a soul he could approach. And then I mentioned I knew you. That was all there was to it, only he said you treated him something awful."

Jeannette rehearsed the interview.

"He struck me as a very fresh young man," she concluded.

"Oh, Mr. Devlin's all right," Beatrice Alexander said again. "He doesn't mean any harm. He's Irish, you know—he was born here and all that—and he just wants to be friendly with everyone. I suppose he was kind of hurt because you were so short with him."

"I most certainly was," Jeannette said, grimly.

"Well, he's been begging and begging me to call you up. He wanted to take us both out to lunch, but I wouldn't agree to that. I told him I'd see you about it first."

"I wouldn't consider it," Jeannette said, indignantly. "The idea! What's the matter with him?"

"I imagine," Beatrice Alexander said shyly, "he likes your style."

"Well, I don't like his! . . . The impertinence!"

They finished their lunch and wandered into Broadway. It was Easter week, and the chimes of Grace Church were ringing out a hymn.

"Let's not lose touch with each other again," said Beatrice Alexander at parting. "I'll phone you soon, and next time you'll have to have luncheon with me. I always go to Wanamaker's; they have such lovely music up there, and the food's splendid."

Jeannette had forgotten Mr. Devlin's existence until one day as she was typing busily at her desk she suddenly recognized his loud, infectious and unmistakable laugh in the adjoining office. Mr. Corey had come in from lunch some 10 minutes before, and had brought a man with him. She had heard their feet, their voices, and the clap of the closing door as they entered. Now the laugh startled her. She paused, her fingers suspended above the keys of her typewriter, and listened. It was Mr. Devlin; there was no mistaking him. She twisted her lips in a wry smile. He and Mr. Corey were evidently getting on.

She knew she would be called. When the buzzer summoned her, she picked up her note-book and pencils, straightened her shoulders in characteristic fashion, and went in.

Devlin rose to his feet as she entered, but she did not glance at him. Her attention was Mr. Corey's.

"How do you do? How's Miss Sturgis?" Devlin was all good-natured friendliness, showing his big teeth as he grinned at her.

She turned her eyes toward him gravely, gazed at him with calm deliberation, and briefly inclined her head.

"Oh, you two know each other? Friends, hey?" asked Mr. Corey, looking up.

"Well, we're trying to be," laughed Devlin.

"The Gibbs Engraving Co." said Mr. Corey in his brusque businesslike voice, "wants to do our engraving. I'm going to give them a three months' trial. I'd like to have you take a memorandum of what they've quoted us. Mr. Gibbs is to confirm this by letter. Now you said five cents per square inch on line cuts with a minimum of 50 cents . . ."

Jeannette scribbled down the figures.

"Three-color work a dollar a square inch," supplied Devlin.

"Oh, I thought you said you'd give us a flat rate on our color work."

"On the magazine covers, yes, but I can't do that on general color work."

"Well, that's all right." The discussion continued. Presently the girl had all the details.

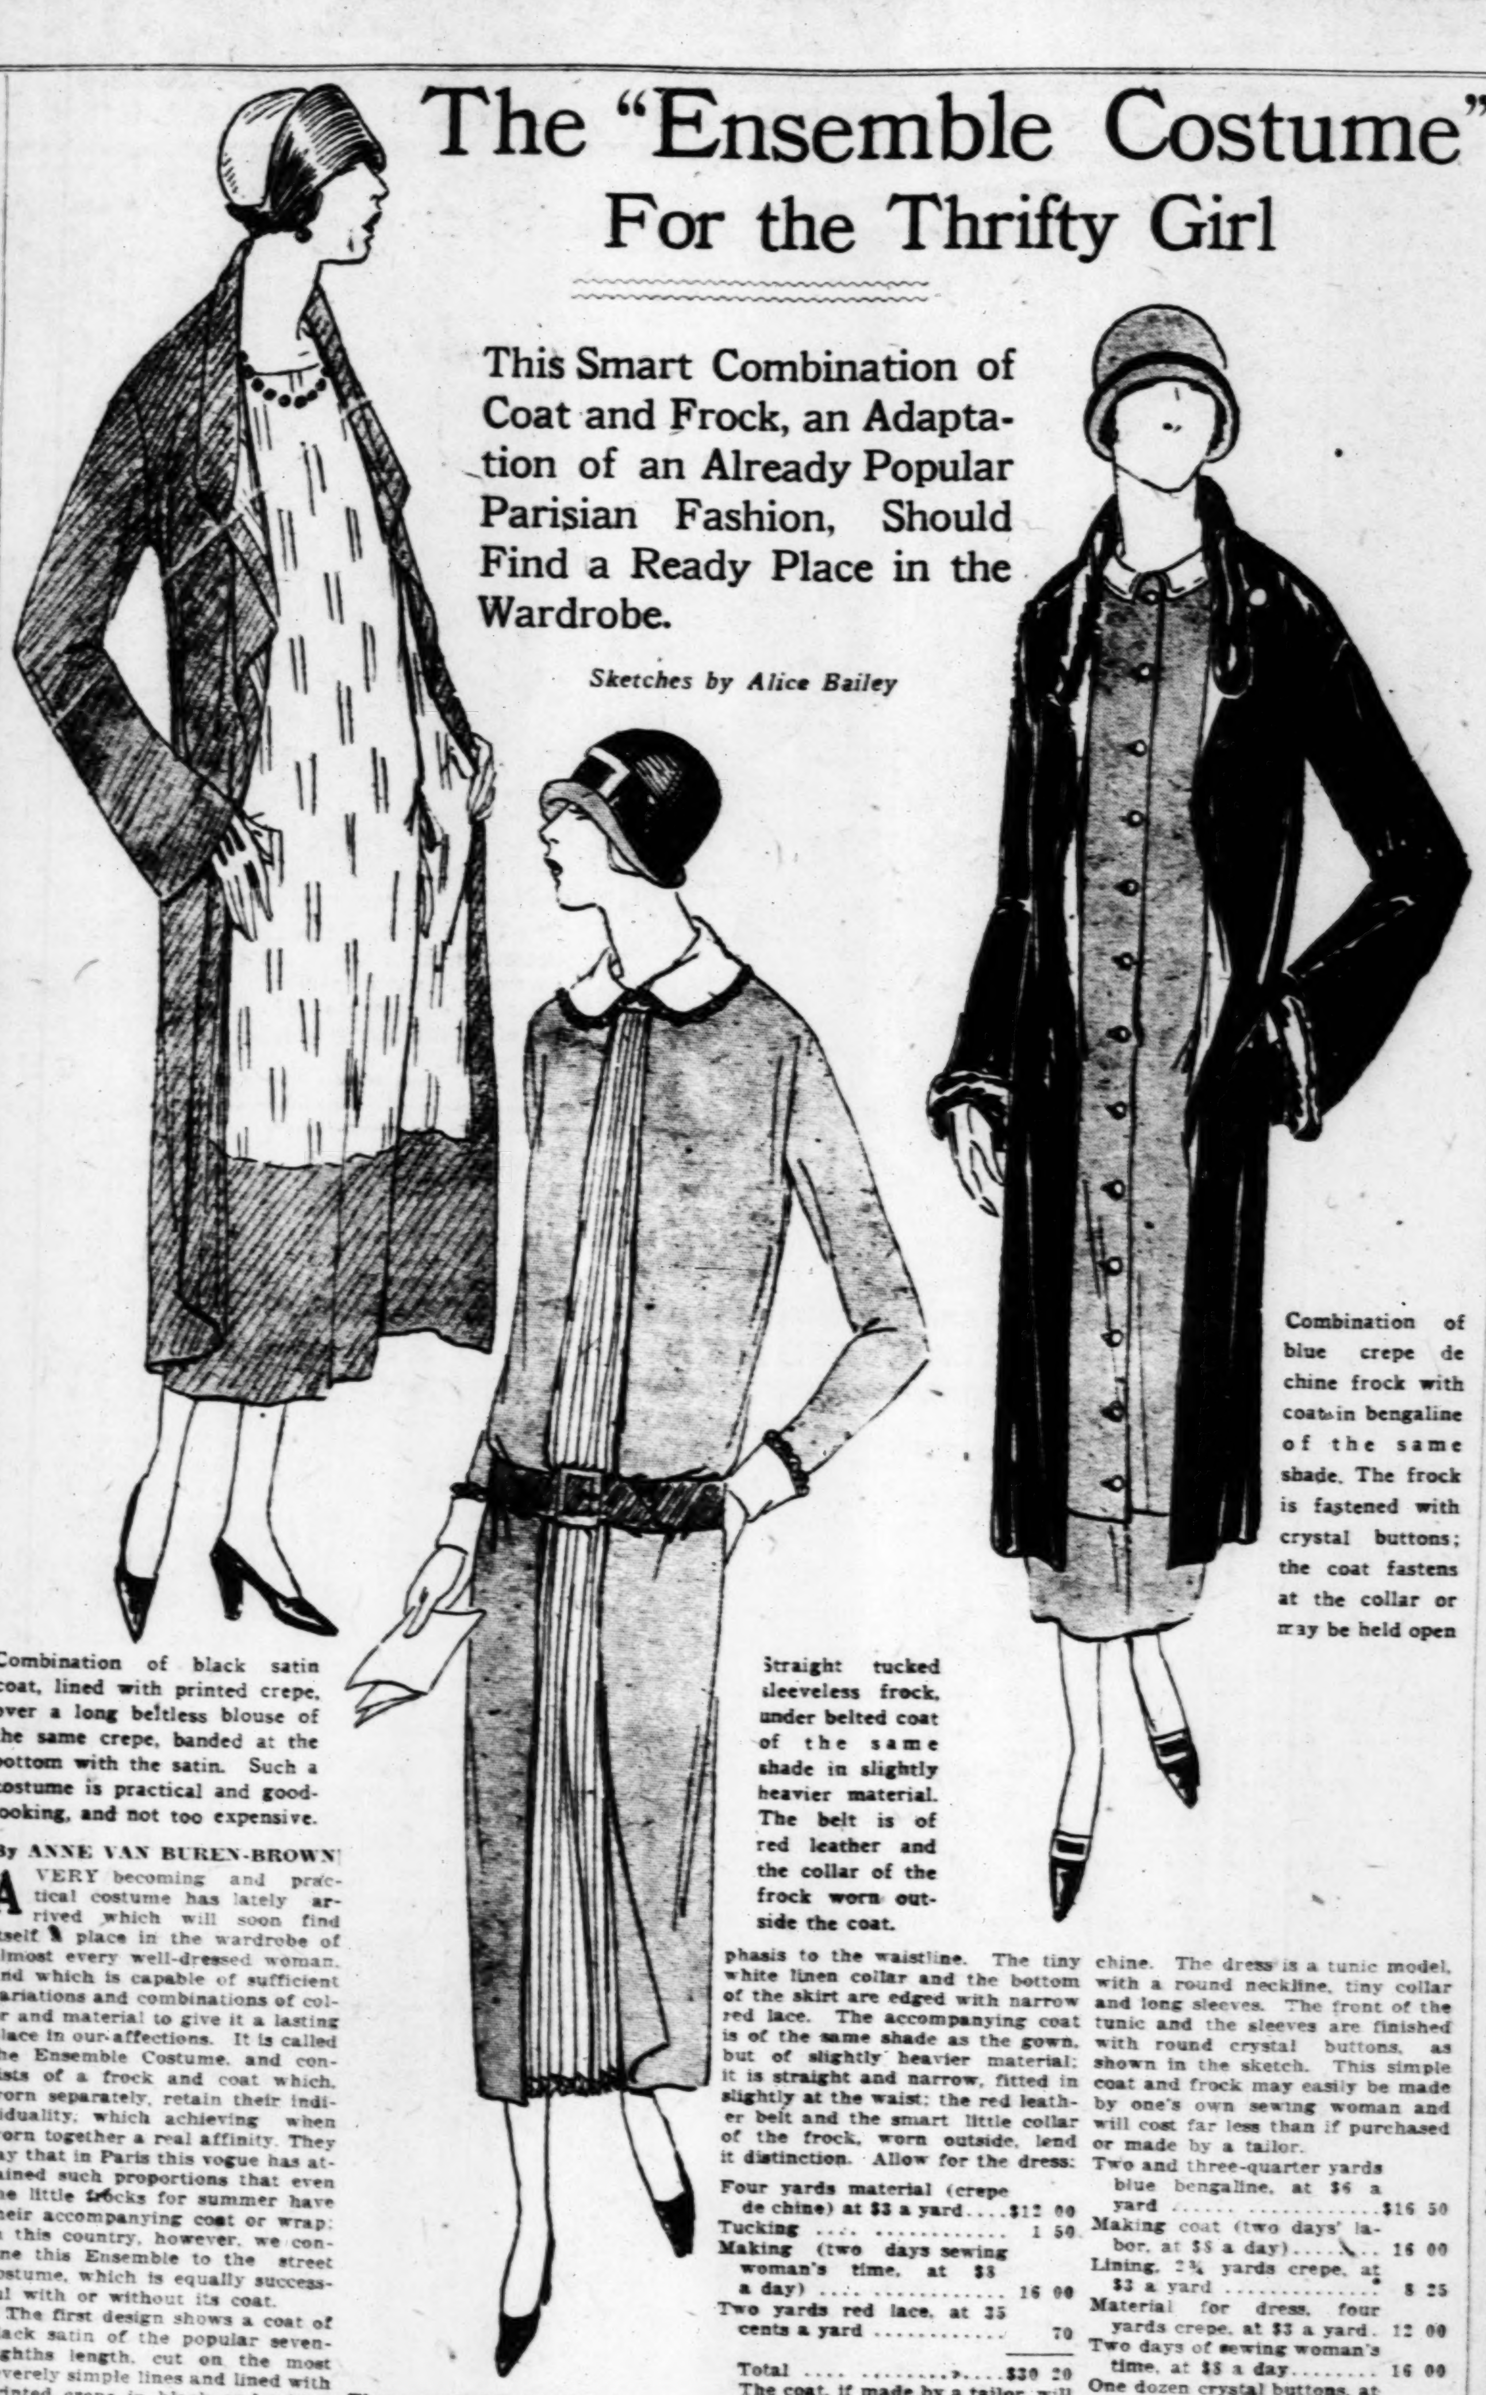
The "Ensemble Costume"

For the Thrifty Girl

This Smart Combination of Coat and Frock, an Adaptation of an Already Popular Parisian Fashion, Should Find a Ready Place in the Wardrobe.



Sketches by Alice Bailey

Combination of black satin coat, lined with printed crepe, over a long beltless blouse of the same crepe, banded at the bottom with the satin. Such a costume is practical and good-looking, and not too expensive.

Straight tucked sleeveless frock, under belted coat of the same shade in slightly heavier material. The belt is of red leather and the collar of the frock worn outside the coat.

Combination of blue crepe de chine frock with coat in bengaline of the same shade. The frock is fastened with crystal buttons; the coat fastens at the collar or may be held open

By ANNE VAN BUREN-BROWN

A VERY becoming and practical costume has lately arrived which will soon find itself a place in the wardrobe of almost every well-dressed woman, and which is capable of sufficient variations and combinations of color and material to give it a lasting place in our affections. It is called the Ensemble Costume, and consists of a frock and coat which, worn separately, retain their individuality; which achieving when worn together a real affinity. They say that in Paris this vogue has attained such proportions that even the little frocks for summer have their accompanying coat or wrap; in this country, however, we confine this Ensemble to the street costume, which is equally successful with or without its coat.

The first design shows a coat of black satin of the popular seven-eighths length, cut on the most severely simple lines and lined with printed crepe in black and white. The bottom of the coat has a deep band of the black satin; the frock combines these two materials just as successfully. A long beltless blouse of the printed crepe is banded at the bottom with the satin; this must be carefully measured so that the banding on coat and dress meet at the correct place. The sleeves of this frock should be long and well-fitted, the neckline may be V or bateau shaped, and narrow ties of crepe may tie at each side of the waistline if you desire to soften a bit the altogether beltless effect. We suggest having the coat of this costume made by an obscure but reliable tailoring establishment in order to achieve the correct lines at the smallest cost. The dress is simple enough to be copied at home by a sewing woman who charges by the day. The cost of such a costume will be far less if managed in this fashion than if purchased ready-made.

Allow:

Tailoring charges	$20 00
Three yards black satin for coat at $4 a yard	12 00
Three yards printed crepe de chine at $4 a yard	12 00
Two yards and a half printed crepe at $4 a yard	10 00
One yard black satin for dress at $4 a yard	4 00
Dressmaker's charge, $8 a day (two days' labor)	16 00
Total	$74 00

About half the cost of such a costume if purchased at any reliable shop.

The second design consists of a straight sleeveless frock of crepe, which is tucked from shoulder to hem; it has a narrow belt across the back, which gives slight emphasis to the waistline. The tiny white linen collar and the bottom of the skirt are edged with narrow red lace. The accompanying coat is of the same shade as the gown, but of slightly heavier material; it is straight and narrow, fitted in slightly at the waist; the red leather belt and the smart little collar of the frock, worn outside, lend it distinction. Allow for the dress:

Four yards material (crepe de chine) at $3 a yard	$12 00
Tucking	1 50
Making (two days sewing woman's time, at $8 a day)	16 00
Total	$30 20

The coat, if made by a tailor, will cost:

Tailor's charge	$20 00
Three yards blue Kasha cloth at $5.50 a yard	16 50
Three yards crepe at $3 a yard, for lining	9 00
Red leather belt	2 00
Total	$47 50

The third costume would be especially smart of blue bengaline combined with blue crepe de chine of the same shade. The coat, of three-quarter length, fastens at the collar and hangs straight or may be held in place. The cuffs and collar are finished with narrow stuffed rolls of the material, the whole lined with white crepe de chine. The dress is a tunic model, with a round neckline, tiny collar and long sleeves. The front of the tunic and the sleeves are finished with round crystal buttons, as shown in the sketch. This simple coat and frock may easily be made by one's own sewing woman and will cost far less than if purchased or made by a tailor.

Two and three-quarter yards blue bengaline, at $6 a yard	$16 50
Making coat (two days' labor, at $8 a day)	16 00
Lining, 2¾ yards crepe, at $3 a yard	8 25
Material for dress, four yards crepe, at $3 a yard	12 00
Two days of sewing woman's time, at $8 a day	16 00
One dozen crystal buttons, at 50 cents a dozen	50
Total	$69 25

A costume of this sort will solve the problem of what to wear all summer at almost any occasion or combination of occasions you may find yourself involved in.

The expectations of life depend upon diligence; and the mechanic that would perfect his work must first sharpen his tools.

Solving Some Problems of the Cozy Breakfast Alcove

LOOKING backward seems to be the keynote of fashionable fancy—back to the farm, back to nature, and now back to the kitchen for breakfast. The idea is good, and we may well be heart and soul for it. The cozy alcove off the kitchen has many advantages over the formal dining room. It is secluded, yet near enough to the kitchen for hot food and quick service.

Best of all, the alcove calls for our much-liked painted furniture, for woven rugs and adorable pottery, with table linens in suitable breakfast styles, not to mention fascinating trays of straw that may be painted to match the furniture.

One pretty alcove off a yellow and white kitchen is a feast to the eye and affords suggestions that may work out well in other colors. The painted wall, like that of the kitchen, is corn yellow. The woodwork is white or cream color. The furniture consists of a long, narrow table a little lower than the usual table, painted yellow with a two-inch creamy border around the edge. The chairs to match have rounding spindle backs that are made doubly comfortable by the addition of yellow cushions with white tassels.

The curtains are white lawn with fluted ruffles that peep out from under straight curtains of unbleached muslin. Yellow butterflies are stenciled in an irregular border across the bottoms of the muslin curtains and on the valance at their tops. These curtains are most attractive.

The table mats are of white oilcloth stenciled in yellow butterfly motifs and are square and rectangular instead of the usual round ones. The yellow straw trays have a pattern of white irises and white butterflies, which reminds one of an old-fashioned garden. Most charming of all is the yellow pottery in quaint squatty shapes. The pitchers look so comfortable and the cups, wide and inviting.

Yellow-and-white striped, hand-woven rugs complete the furnishings of the kitchen alcove. On the wall between the two windows, which open onto a pretty garden, are three boxed shelves with lace-edged linen covers and on them rests the little breakfast silver used, a little well-chosen pottery and the painted trays. The shelves are an English idea and their counterpart may be seen in many an English country home.

For the woman who does her own work and has a small family, the breakfast alcove solves many problems of service. Breakfast and luncheon are always served there, and many times on busy days dinner may also be served in this alcove.

Some interior decorators favor table benches for the table rather than chairs, but most of us do like to lean back and enjoy our meals at leisure. If chairs are chosen in the right shape they push under the table when not in use thus saving space.

In warm weather curtains of theatrical gauze will prove more practical than more elaborate ones. They may be dyed to match the decorations though the material comes in a number of neutral colors and shades.

HOW TO SERVE WATER ICE

By HANNAH WING

Authority on Matters Pertaining to Household Management.

FOR those who find ice cream too troublesome or too expensive or even too rich and fattening a dessert, the water ice solves the problem of warm weather desserts or refreshments.

There is nothing more cooling, refreshing and genuinely pleasurable than these simple mixtures of fruit juices and sugar frozen to a delicate, easy-eating, mushy consistency.

Water ices, or fruit ices, as they really should be called, are very simply made. A syrup is first made from sugar and water in the proportion of one quart of water to two cups of sugar boiled for five minutes. This syrup may be made in quantities and kept on hand ready for use either in ices or summer beverages. The fruit juice is added to the syrup, the mixture stirred and placed in a freezer and frozen to a pulpy mass.

To popularize the ices and sherbets in the family get a small quart-size freezer, which requires little ice and is easily handled. The freezing is improved by carrying it on intermittently so that in making an ice one may give it a few turns now and then while going about other duties in the kitchen.

For a lemon ice use three-fourths of a cup of lemon juice with syrup. A few gratings of lemon rind may be cooked with the syrup for flavor.

Other fruit ices may be made by using half as much water in making the syrup and adding an equal amount of currant, raspberry, grape or other fruit juices. A tablespoon of lemon juice improves the flavor of the other fruit juices.

For strawberry ice or peach ice two cups of fruit pulp may be added to the original syrup and the juice of a lemon or orange added.

The flavor of these simple fruit ices is improved if they are allowed to stand and ripen or mellow for several hours packed in a freezer in ice and salt.

To Remove Shine.

THOSE shiny spots in the suit are the result of the wearing down of the nap by rubbing, or they may be caused by grease. However, they can be removed.

Add one tablespoonful of ammonia to a quart of lukewarm water. Dampen a sponge or a clean, lintless cloth in this and sponge the suit with light, even strokes, being careful to go in the direction of the weave of the fabric, and do not apply too much of the water at a time.

Iron on the wrong side with a warm, not hot, iron. Heavy garments may be pressed on the right side by placing a damp cloth over the fabric.

If the nap is too closely pressed down, brush it up with a stiff brush.

LAUGHTER

By Sophie Irene Loeb

SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

WHEN the great Alchemist mixed the metals of which men are made, He put in the babe the grain of a smile.
And it grew into laughter.
And nothing is sweeter than the laughter of a little child.
For all who hear become young once more.
And when old age has found the erstwhile child
Who in his youth and manhood
Cultivated the trait of laughter,
Even then he greets the Angel of the End with a smile.
Because He realizes that existence may be full of joy,
Or a serious, sordid thing that grinds and blads
And leaves man poor indeed.
But there are those who choose more to weep
And see naught else.
Oh, would there were some power
To give knowledge to each and every one
To laugh at life; for all sorrow, all misery, all aches and pains
Are but short-lived if you know how to laugh them away.
It matters not whether it be in the hovel of the pauper
Or in the house of the rich,
If you look through the large lens
You will see a point from which radiates
Some semblance of the humor of it.
And in that belief any man can be free.
For, after all, shackles are man-made.
Ah, yes, the gift of the gods is his
Who can laugh at life when it deals him a blow.
And though he hides tears behind that mirth,
He has stopped them for the moment—
The moment of misery.
For any life in the universal scheme
Is but an instant of time.

Your Hot Bath and Your Beauty

By LUCREZIA BORI, the Famous Spanish Prima Donna

THE beauty benefits of the hot bath, taken at the right time, cannot be overestimated.

Of course there is everything in taking such a bath at the proper time. For instance, if you make the mistake of taking a hot bath and rushing out into the cold air, with your pores still open as a result of the bath, and catch cold, there will be no beauty results. Instead, the cold will give you a red nose and watery eyes, which combine to make you anything but beautiful.

So when I speak of the beauty results of the hot bath, I mean the bath taken preferably just before you go to bed at night.

The warm bath may be taken during the daytime, with less risk of catching cold, especially if you give yourself a cool rinse afterward and do not go out-of-doors too soon and are careful to avoid drafts.

A great actress I know boasts that she owes part of her success and much of her beauty to the soothing effect of the bath.

She says that she has found nothing so restful and soothing to tired nerves as the right bath, taken at the right time. If she wants to rest up in the afternoon she takes a warm bath, and then naps for a bit afterward. The soothing effect of the warm bath enables her to relax thoroughly, and she awakens from her nap feeling relaxed and rested and looking years younger.

The hot bath, taken before going to bed at night, is an excellent method to induce restful sleep and renew vitality. Do not make the mistake of having your bath too hot. Have it only pleasantly so, and while you may find it very helpful to rest in such a bath for a few minutes, do not stay in too long. A prolonged soak in a bath that is too hot is likely to sap your vitality.

Use a pure, good soap, such as castile or a soap made with olive oil. It never pays to economize on soap.

Any bath can be made more pleasant by using fragrant bath salts or a bath liquid. There are any number of delightful bath salts on the market. You can find one, delicately perfumed with your favorite fragrance, or you may choose to make the following bath liquid for yourself:

Bitter almonds, 8 grams.
Rose water, 180 grams.
Benzoic acid, 1 gram.

Crush the almonds until you reduce them to a paste. Strain them and add the other two ingredients.

Add two tablespoonfuls of the liquid to the average bath. You will find that it adds to your pleasure in the bath and that you feel wonderfully refreshed from your contact with the fragrant water.

Every period of life has its peculiar prejudices: who ever saw old age that did not applaud the past and condemn the present time?

The greatest truths are the simplest; so are the greatest men.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

A Leftover Tip.

Leftover string beans are delicious served in a cream sauce, flavored with a little lemon juice and paprika.

A Different Preparation.

Try dipping hamburger cakes in egg and bread crumbs and fry in deep fat. Drain on brown paper to remove grease and serve with tomato sauce.

The Neglected Coffee Pot.

Boil the discolored coffee pot for a short time in a strong solution of borax and then wash in the usual manner. It will come from its bath beautifully white.

Beware of Soggy Food.

Be sure the fat for frying is very hot before immersing the food. Otherwise the food will take up the grease and be heavy and indigestible. Wait until a thin brown smoke appears above the pan before putting in the food.

Fruit Juices for Infants.

Unless the infant has loose bowels, strained fruit juice may be given it by the third month. From one teaspoonful to three tablespoonfuls, diluted, may be given once a day between feedings. The juice of oranges or prunes cooked without sugar is advised.

How Chatterer Got Even

Retribution soon or late
Will be the evildoer's fate.
—Old Mother Nature.

"What is it, my dear?" he cried anxiously.

SAMMY JAY, the dishonest watchman, thought himself very smart as he made his way back home to the Green Forest by a roundabout way. He had stolen the eggs of Welcome and Mrs. Robin, and no one had suspected him. Chatterer the Red Squirrel had been blamed for it. So Sammy Jay chuckled wickedly and thought himself very smart.

But as Sammy drew near the hemlock tree near the edge of the Green Forest, where his nest had been carefully hidden, there was a shriek from Mrs. Jay which startled Sammy and sent him flying as fast as his wings could go.

"I wonder what has happened?" thought Sammy. "What can be the matter with Mrs. Jay? I wonder if she has been hurt?"

Mrs. Jay continued to scream, and Sammy flew so fast that he was almost out of breath when he arrived in the hemlock tree. "What is it, my dear?" he cried anxiously. "What are you screaming for? What is the matter?"

For answer Mrs. Jay merely nodded towards their nest. One look in it was enough. There were no eggs there! There were some broken shells, but that was all. Sammy Jay knew then just how Welcome Robin felt. Never in his life had he been more upset. But if he felt badly it was nothing to the way Mrs. Jay felt. Sammy tried to comfort her, but she wouldn't be comforted.

"Do you know who the thief is?" Sammy asked.

"No," replied Mrs. Jay, shaking her head. "I was gone only a few minutes, but when I returned those eggs had been stolen and no one was to be seen about."

"It must have been that good-for-nothing cousin of mine, Blacky the Crow," muttered Sammy. "Yes, sir, it must have been Blacky. Tell me, my dear, why did you leave the nest?"

Mrs. Jay hung her head. "There was a great racket going on over in the Old Orchard," said she "and I just couldn't sit still and not know what it was all about. I stood it as long as I could and then flew over there to see what was going on. Our feathered neighbors over there were driving Chatterer the Red Squirrel out of the Old Orchard. After Chatterer had disappeared I stopped to get something to eat. When I go back here I found things just as you see them now. I guess Blacky the Crow must have been watching to see me leave the nest."

Just then from a short distance away in the Green Forest there was a sharp, loud "chir-r-r-r-r." It was the voice of Chatterer the Red Squirrel. It fairly rang with joy and triumph. No one hearing it would for an instant doubt that Chatterer was feeling very well satisfied and pleased.

Sammy Jay cocked his head to one side and listened. He turned to look at Mrs. Jay and he s in her eyes the same look of s picion which she saw in his e

Try This Recipe for Stuffed Potatoes

—1/3 cup hot milk
—1 teaspoon salt
—1/8 teaspoon pepper
—3 tablespoons Sugar Creek Butter

Bake the potatoes about forty-five minutes. Then cut a thin slice from the side of each, carefully scrape out the potato and mash, mix with the other ingredients and beat until very light. Put the mixture back into the potato shells, and brown in a hot oven. Sprinkle with paprika, add a lump of Sugar Creek Butter, and serve.

To get the full, rich flavor in this and scores of other appetizing dishes, it is highly essential to use nothing but real butter. That's why thousands of housewives who are noted for their cooking warmly praise Sugar Creek Butter. You'll enjoy this pure, rich, dependable butter, too. Look for the blue carton with the yellow maple leaf.

It Will Surprise And Delight You—

AFTER your first starching and ironing with Linit, the remarkable starch discovery, you will be surprised and delighted with the wonderful French finish all your personal wash garments and household fabrics will have.

Linit is the scientific starch which makes cotton goods look and feel like linen.

Linit is something new, very economical and very easy to use.

After Linit is thoroughly dissolved, according to directions and is ready to use, you will notice it is thin and free-running like water—with a "milky" appearance.

Use Linit according to directions and, unlike other starches, you will not find Linit stiff or jelly-like. This is one reason why Linit goes much farther than the old-fashioned kinds of starch and is easier to iron with.

LINIT costs 10c at all Grocers. Get a package and begin the modern way of starching your fabrics. You will never go back to the old-fashioned starching.
